

WILSON IS STEADILY REGAINING STRENGTH IN NEW CONDITIONS

Former President Now Able to Receive Callers and Talk Over Events of the Day; Sun Baths and Daily Drives Are Giving Good Results.

By ELIZABETH KING STOKES, Special Correspondent of The Tribune. Copyright, 1921, by The Tribune.

Washington, May 8.—Woodrow Wilson today has gained so much in health that although he is far from strong he is seeing a few callers, talking over the events of the day and watching with an interest, second to none, the progress of national affairs, according to friends closest to him. But what does he, suddenly relieved of the engrossing responsibility of state affairs, do to occupy his time?

Will the country find him restored and active again and how soon? Woodrow Wilson is so much better in health that he is able to walk unaided around his home, in his library and on the homelike sunporch overlooking the garden. This is a distinct gain. At the time of the inauguration it was difficult for him to get around without considerable assistance and the strain of that week told on his condition.

Change is Beneficial.

He has been benefited by the change to his permanent home, but has passed through a period of readjustment which was somewhat hard for him, for he had to fit into the new environment mentally, with the added difficulty of little physical endurance and the slight setback due to the inauguration exertion and moving.

But he has settled down to the new routine, and the substantial house shows contentment and quiet with its harmonious rose draperies and sheltering cream colored net curtains in every window. The back yard has a screen of tall evergreens on the Massachusetts avenue side, and the rear of the house to the edge of the precipice overlooking the next street is a garden facing the sun with a garden gate and steps leading down to the roadway at the side.

Takes Daily Sun Bath.

The sun porch faces the garden and here Mr. Wilson sits in seclusion, taking a sun bath and relaxing and filling his lungs with the clear air of the heights, one of the choice spots of the capitol, where President Harding had his private home and John Hays Hammond and others have built their residences. Every day Mr. Wilson takes a drive—the route is near the entrance to Rock Creek park with its miles of wooded roads. He has been out even in rough weather this week. Joe Tumulty comes once a week. He is now at work on his book.

Furnishing Peace Data.

Ray Stannard Baker is another of the former president's confidants who is frequently at his home consulting him regarding the book he is writing based upon Mr. Wilson's personal knowledge of peace conference documents and memorabilia. The numerous official functions to which he is invited are now at their prime height here with the President and Mrs. Harding as the guests of honor, and with the diplomats receiving, are not for him as yet and it is said it will be several months before Washington sees the Wilsons taking any part in the social rounds. So far as any public comment on the present political drama is concerned Mr. Wilson is determinedly silent.

MUST NEGOTIATE PEACE WITH ULSTER LEADERS

Belfast, May 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—Sir James Craig, premier designate of Ulster, who recently conferred with Eamon DeValera said at Lisburne Saturday that he had made it plain to the south and west of Ireland that it was not with American peace-makers and meddlers in Irish affairs they had to deal, but with the leaders of the people of Ulster, if there were to be peace negotiations. The good effort of his meeting, he continued, was that the ice was broken.

TWO SISTERS GET HELP

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it did for Them

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was weak, overworked, and my periods stopped. My body was swollen and often had pains so I had to lie down. I was treated by a physician, but he did not seem to help me at all. My sister had taken your medicine with great results so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am able to work and feel like working. I have been recommending your medicine to my friends, and you are welcome to be my testimony for I can never praise your medicine enough for what it has done for me."—RHODA E. CARBAUGH, R. 1, Hagerstown, Md.

Women will tax their powers of endurance to the limit before giving up, and it is then some womanly ailment develops and they have to give up entirely. When a woman suffers from such symptoms as irregularities, headaches, backache, bearing-down pains, inflammation, nervousness and "the blues," it is well for her to profit by Mrs. Carbaugh's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In Legal Fight for Possession of Steel Freighter

Shipping Board and Transport Company at Loggerheads Over the Steamer Livingstone.

Seattle, May 8.—What was described as the first move in a legal battle between the United States shipping board and the United States Transport Co. for possession of ten 9,400 ton steel freight steamers occurred Saturday when it was announced that R. M. Semmes, head of the board's division of operations here, had seized the company's steamer Colin H. Livingstone, which arrived here Sunday from New York.

Mr. Semmes said this action was taken at the direction of Admiral Benson, chairman of the board. Both the shipping board and the United States Transport Co. claim ownership of the Livingstone. Early this year the company obtained an injunction in federal court at Richmond, Va., restraining the emergency fleet corporation from interfering with the company's operation of the vessels. Shipping board officials allege that the injunction does not affect the shipping board, which they contend is a government organization while courts have held the fleet corporation to be a private corporation.

Mr. Semmes notified Capt. E. H. Laurent, master of the Livingstone, that the vessel was the property of the shipping board, and ordered him to tie up.

WASTE OF CASH HAS NO BEARING UPON WAGE CASE

Railroads Say Statements Are Made to Conceal the Real Issue.

Over-Capitalization Is Without Effect Upon Railroad Rates.

Chicago, May 8.—The statements presented to the railroad labor board by W. Jett Lauck, economist for the railway men's unions, charging that large amounts of money are being wasted in the financial and operating management of the railroads have no relationship to the wage question before the board, it was contended in a statement filed before the board Saturday on behalf of the western railroads.

To Divert Public Attention. "The sole purpose of these statements is to divert public attention from matters actually pending before the board. They are half propaganda intended to discredit private management and promote the Plumb plan," said the statement. "We respectfully protest against the board continuing to allow hearings before it to be made a means of spreading this propaganda."

Rates Based on Valuation. "It is charged that in various ways the capitalization of the railroads has been made excessive and that in this way a burden has been imposed upon the public. We deny that the capitalization of the railroads as a whole is excessive. Even if it were this would have no effect upon passenger and freight rates since the interstate commerce commission specifically bases the rates upon a valuation made by the commission itself.

Do Not Pay Excessive Prices. "Even if they were under the same control this would not prove that the railroads pay excessive prices and indisputable facts regarding almost innumerable transactions of the purchasing departments of the railroads could be presented to show that they do not and have not paid higher prices than other purchasers of the same things. "Everything the railroads buy, except labor, has been reduced."

Steamship Named for Wheatland County Carrying Its Wheat

Harlowton, May 8.—Wheatland wheat, made into flour by the Harlowton branch of the Montana Flour Mills, was carried to the Orient by the steamship Wheatland which sailed last Thursday from Seattle. The Wheatland was one of the steamships which won its name by virtue of Wheatland county leading in a Liberty loan drive. The flour will go to the starving people of China and the news was received by W. N. Smith, vice president of the Montana Flour Milling Co. that shipment was being made via the Wheatland.

Russian Lad of 9 Hangs Himself in Professional Style

Omaha, May 8.—Sammy Getnick, aged 9, escaped the ravages of war and revolution in Russia, but hanged himself in his bedroom here Sunday night. His parents, being without a clue to any motive for suicide, believed he was accidentally strangled when his head slipped through a noose in a heavy cord with which they think he was making a swing in the doorway. The police say he made a regular hangman's noose, knotted the cord many times to make it short enough, kicked a table from under his feet and then drew up his legs to make death certain.

WHISKY EVERYWHERE IN POLICE STATIONS OF NEW YORK CITY

Bottles, Flasks, Kegs and Barrels of Booze Brought in by 11,000 Bluecoats Present Problem for Department.

New York, May 8.—Whisky, whisky everywhere, but not a drop to drink, paints a paraphrase picture of every police station in New York city. It has been thus since the recent day when the police department set out to help the federal government make the wet spots in the metropolis evaporate. Each of the 11,000 bluecoats is a prohibition enforcement officer instructed to gather evidence against Volstead act violators.

They go forth daily to gather it—in bottles, in flasks, in cases, in kegs and even in barrels. But there is no warehouse in which to store the liquor until the day when it is brought into court. So the lieutenant at each police station is guardian over the stock accumulating in his precinct.

Stations Look Like Saloons. Many of the stations were looking like ill-kept saloons a few days after the police began mopping up the spots where spirits were spilt. Bottles were hid in desk drawers, behind radiators and under cover of blankets in unused corners. Each day the lieutenant checked up the stock on his arrival and again on departure from duty. Soon the city hopes to arrange for a storehouse.

The city chemist was even harder hit than the police by the new duties imposed by legislators at Albany. Into his test tubes a sample of every bottle, every case and every keg must go for inspection. If he finds in the specimens the stuff that pink elephants are made of, it is labeled "evidence" and awaits court action. Moreover, the chemist must go to court with the liquor and give his official testimony as to its potency.

This kind of activity required most of his hours even months ago when he had to analyze only narcotics and other suspected poisons seized by city employes. But as soon as the state prohibition law became effective, this official was deluged with new jobs.

bootleggers his office became one of the busiest places in the city. Detectives and uniformed police followed one another through the door with samples of the seizure. Bottles piled up everywhere. The employes who labels and numbers all containers brought into the office telephoned his wife that he would not be home for dinner. A statistician estimated that the chemist could not finish the job before him until 1930, unless given more assistants. The chemist then called up his family and told them not to look for his appearance at home before fall.
