Graduation Suits for Boys Who Passed by the Skin of Their Teeth!

The writer of this advertisement never spoke a valedictory—but he knows from experience that a boy can fall down in arithmetic (by falling in the ole swimmin' hole too often), and still cut quite a figure at Graduation exercises. I guess that's why they call it "commencement"!

A young fellow is just commencing to get ready to commence to get by when he commences to get out of High School. So that being the regular yearly occurrence, last March, when we placed our order for Graduation Suits, we "looked out for the fellows who pass by a neck."

They're $30 $35 $45 —Graduation Suits —Graduation Neckwear —Graduation Hats —Graduation Collars

Morale is Top Notch in Heavyweight Camp; Big Fellows Confident

Sparrow McGann Scoffs at Report That Carpenter Here to Take Short End of Purse as Quickly as Possible.

BY SPARROW M'GANN, Special Correspondent of The Tribune. Copyright, 1921, by The Tribune. New York, June 4.—The morale of Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier at the present time is splendid. Both are confident enough to defy odds, and generally speaking the two heavyweights are in the finest mood. The writer has spent some time in each camp this week, paying particular attention to the men. In the way of physical preparation neither fighter has got seriously down to work.

Of particular interest, was the rumor that has been filtering among fight fans—Frank Erne gave the public notice the other day—that way down deep Carpentier and Descamps, his manager, did not really expect to win, but were over here to take the losers end of the purse as quickly and painlessly as possible. Now there are many reasons for believing that such is not at all the state of mind of the two Frenchmen, but there is one big reason to continue any follower of boxing that Carpentier fully expects to beat Dempsey. The Frenchman rented as his training camp a farm which can be reached after you leave the train only by taxiab or motor car. The public is excluded at all times and newspaper writers are admitted only three days a week.

Over Here to Win. Does any man whose brains work sufficiently well to enable him to put two and two together and make four, believe that if Carpentier did not think he had a fine chance to beat Dempsey he would shut himself out in the country and back the gate receipts as he expects to do? It would not be surprising if Carpentier turns out not to be, then, no harm will be done—except to the Frenchman.

Camp Thinks They Will Fare Better Than Did American Amateurs. By WALTER CAMP, Special Correspondent of The Tribune. Copyright, 1921, by The Tribune.

New York, June 4.—The shock troops of the American golf invasion of Britain will begin to prepare for action within the next few days. In spite of the defeat of our amateurs, both men and women, there are many golfers who hope that our professionals can be depended on for a splendid showing at the British championships at St. Andrews. Should our best men have such upsets in form as seemed to overtake our amateurs, there will be great disappointment on this side of the water. With all our hopes for success for Evans, Ouimet and Jones, Miss Stirling, Miss Hollins and Miss Cummings, we still, back of it all, regard their chances as those of brilliancy.

With our professionals, however, we may count more largely on steadiness. We were beaten in the amateur championship by half drives. Our professionals will not make this mistake and while we have not really expected that any of them would come through with the final low scores, we still have hopes that some of them will be well up in the money.

Even the Britisher can shatter traditions. The international match of English and Scottish players, which has been called the "championship" for years, has been abandoned this year in favor of an international match between Great Britain and America with 12 players on a side. This is to be played at Glen Eagles, Perthshire.

CONSPIRACY STAND FOR SQUARE DEAL COSTLY FOR TEAM

Owner of White Sox Could Have Traded Players Implicated in Scandal.

By I. E. SANBORN, Special Correspondent of The Tribune. Chicago, June 4.—Possibly it does not occur to White Sox rooters in these days of gloom that if Owner Comiskey had been a different kind of a magnate he would have saved something from the wreck of his team by trading some or all of the eight players under suspension before confession brought their banishment from organized baseball.

There was plenty of time between the rotten world's series of 1919 and the exposure of its rottenness—almost a year later—for the White Sox owner to exchange his tainted goods for clean ones. He had the equivalent in talent that was untainted, leaving the other club owners to "hold the bag" when exposure came.

Precedent for Trading. The Cincinnati club traded Hal Chase to the Giants when the latter was under grave suspicion, and that trade helped the Reds win a pennant.

Could be an Easy Street. Cicotte and Gandil were so near the end of their major league careers they would not have brought much on the market, but Rogers and McMinn were highly negotiable goods.

Commy Not That Style. Time and time again when trades were rumored he denied them with the reiterated remark: "If there is a black one I want to be the one to put him out of baseball forever."

Washington Wins Northwest Conference Meet, Oregon Aggies 2nd, Idaho 3rd. Pullman, Wn., June 4.—Two northwest conference meets were broken and two others tied in the annual northwest collegiate track conference meet on Rogers field here Saturday afternoon.

Pitchers Are Equaling Major League Records In Work of This Year

George Chadwick by Comparison With 1920 Shows That Much of Wailing Going on Is Not Justified.

By GEORGE CHADWICK, Special Correspondent of The Tribune. Copyright, 1921, by The Tribune. New York, June 4.—Why all of this wailing about pitchers, about ball about bat and about pretty much of everything else which does not appear to meet the fancy for the moment of any manager whose team is not doing as well as he expected?

For the benefit of the fans I have made a comparison up to June 2 of this year, estimating the probable strength of the pitchers for this season as against three years ago. I don't see that the American league has much about which to complain.

Mails Doing Better. Mails of Cleveland has not reached the phenomenal showing he made in 1920, but it could not be expected that he would be doing better every day.
