8th Episode — "PURPLE RIDERS"

UNDERPAID PLAYERS GOATS IN BASEBALL SCANDAL, IS CLAIM

Real Instigators of Scheme to Throw Series Go Free, Defense Asserts.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Defense counsel in the baseball trial Monday placed the major part of its closing arguments before the jury in a series of pleas brought to a climax in a dramatic address by A. Morgan Frumberg, of St. Louis, attorney for Carl Zerk, in which he charged that the state, having let the instigators of the baseball scandal go free, was "trying to make goats of underpaid ball players and penny ante gamblers."

Mr. Frumberg repeatedly asked the jury in reaching its verdict to consider why Arnold Rothstein, of New York, had never even been indicted when the state's witnesses in the trial named him as the financier of the alleged conspiracy and why J. J. Sullivan, of Boston, Rachel Brown, of New York, Hal Chase and Abe Attell, others who have been termed master minds in the case, were never brought to trial.

Charged to Johnson.

"Why was Rothstein never indicted?" asked Mr. Frumberg. "Why were Brown, Sullivan, Attell and Chase allowed to escape? Why were these underpaid ball players, these penny ante gamblers, from Des Moines, and St. Louis, who bet a few nickels, perhaps, on the world series, brought here to be the goats in this case?"

Previous to Mr. Frumberg's address, Henry Berger had told the jury that Ben Johnson, American league president, had furthered this case in an effort to injure his enemy, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league club, and presented a series of court rulings which he held proved there was no violation of law even if the players did throw the 1919 world series games.

Emphasis on Alibi.

Michael Ahern also delved into the conspiracy laws and Max Luster emphasized the alibi presented for his client, David Zeller, of Des Moines, claiming that this alibi proved false the testimony of Bill Burns that Zeller was Bennett, a lieutenant of Rothstein.

Burns was attacked by all of the attorneys. Mr. Berger termed him and Billy Maharg, the state's ace of clubs and ace of spades.

A three hour night session was held with Thomas Nash, representing Happy Felsch, Buck Weaver and Swede Risberg, taking up most of the time. The case is expected to go to the jury before Tuesday night.

25,000,000 Bushel Wheat Crop in State Predicted; Near Top

Helena, Aug. 1.—A wheat crop of 25,000,000 bushels this year in Montana is the estimate of the Banking Corporation of Montana, announced here Monday. The estimate is based upon reports received from the bank's correspondents throughout the state.

With this estimate materialized in harvest returns, the crop would be the second largest in the history of the state. The record crop was 33,800,000 bushels in 1916. The yield in 1920 was 18,000,000 bushels.

TOWN IS CHARMED BY 'MARY ROSE'

It has been a long time since a Great Falls audience has been gripped as was the one that witnessed "Mary Rose," J. M. Barrie's powerful drama, as superbly presented at the Grand Monday night by delightful Ruth Chatterton and her able support. This latest drama from the pen of the great Scotch dramatist, with its three absorbing acts, affords Miss Chatterton great opportunities for rich display of all her charm and ability and to all those opportunities she responded admirably last night. Her interpretation of the title role was above adverse criticism and her acting was that of the master player.

Tom Nesbit, who appeared in the principal male role in the original London production of "Mary Rose" at the Haymarket theater, enacted the same part in Great Falls and O. B. Clarence, who was identified with some of the earlier Barrie successes, appeared to perfection as "Mr. Moreland." Winifred Fraser, Ada King, A. S. Homewood and Guy Buckley are the other members of this truly all-star cast.

The story of "Mary Rose" has to do with a young girl who mysteriously disappears and returns many years later, unchanged herself, but to find all about her strange and different. The skillful handling of this situation displays Barrie's great dramatic ability at its best.

CITY PREPARES ENTERTAINMENT FOR BEE LINERS

White Sulphur Springs Will Have Stage Set for Road Convention.

Preparations for entertaining delegates to the convention of the Y-G Bee Line association August 20 on an elaborate scale are being made at White Sulphur Springs, the convention city, according to word received Monday by Great Falls officials of the association. The convention is one of the more important good roads meetings to be held in Montana this year and White Sulphur Springs will have a program of entertainment that will be consistent with the scope of business under consideration.

Between 125 and 150 delegates will attend the convention and the letter to local officials of the association stated that a considerable portion of these are expected from Great Falls. About 10 cars of delegates will probably go from here. Great Falls has in a large measure sponsored the Bee Line, which connects the Yellowstone and Glacier parks and has come to be one of the important links in the National park to park highway.

Round Table Discussions.

The convention will have no set program of speaking, but after the report of President Scott Leavitt and other officials have been read, business will be transacted at round table discussions. One of the more essential programs to be met in conducting Montana highways next year will be the building of the "missing link" between Glacier park station and Belton. The convention is expected to make vital recommendations concerning this work.

The entertaining offered by the city of White Sulphur Springs, will include a banquet in the auditorium after the second of the two business sessions. The banquet will be followed by a dance in the same building and the entire evening will be devoted to amusement prepared by the city's arrangements committee.

A. J. Breitenstein, secretary of the association, is receiving lists of delegates named by different cities to attend and all officials of the association are giving time to the preparation of the business program.

Arranging Program.

A special committee has been charged with the work of completing the program, which now includes publicity for the Bee Line, discussion of any proposed changes in the route and the proposed affiliation with the National park to park highway.

Officers of the association are Scott Leavitt of Great Falls, president; A. V. Gibson of Kalspell, first vice president; D. J. Wheeler, second vice president; A. J. Breitenstein of Great Falls, secretary treasurer. The board of directors is composed of E. M. Niles of Livingston, Frank P. Edwards of White Sulphur Springs, W. H. George of Great Falls, Roy Pilling of Chouteau, E. A. Savory of Dupuyer, F. C. Campbell of Browning, W. H. Griffin of Kalspell, J. A. Harader of Bozeman, L. E. Jones, secretary of the Great Falls Commercial club, is secretary of the association.

Holstein Breeder Visiting Kin Here

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Offstie, 1920 avenue north, have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Offstie and daughters, Ruth and Jeanette, of Spring Valley, Wis. The visitors are on a motor tour and their destination is Canada. On the trip they have passed through Minnesota, North and South Dakota and spent some time in Yellowstone park. They expect to leave Canada in October and continue their trip south into Texas to spend the winter.

Mr. Offstie is a Holstein breeder and has a large herd of purebred stock on his ranch near Spring Valley, known as the Hillside stock farm.

The visitors and their hosts motored to Merino Friday and returned Sunday. They visited the ranch of Emil Tanberg at Merino.

A BLOOMING CHICKEN.
Little Mary was visiting her grandmother in the country. Walking in the garden, she chanced to see a peacock. The bird she had never seen before. After gazing in silent admiration, she ran quickly into the house and cried out: "Oh, granny, come and see! one of your chickens is in bloom."—The Christian Register.

West Side Pirates Beat Americans, 6-3

The West Side Pirates defeated the North Side Americans in a twilight ball game on the latter team's diamond Monday evening by a score of 6 to 3. This was the Pirates' first game. They will meet the North Side Cubs on the Cubs' diamond Wednesday evening.

Nicholson, catcher for the winners, did not let a man steal second on him and nipped the American players time and again when they sought to pilfer the second sack. Pickles, shortstop for the winners, was the batting star of the game and got three hits, scoring three runs himself and being responsible for two more.

B. Higgins, pitcher for the losers, got the longest hit of the game, when he put one over the center fielder's head in the fourth inning.

Score— R. H. E.
Pirates 0021 021 1-4 8 2
Americans 001 100 1-3 7 1
Batteries: Plath and Nicholson; B. Higgins and Bennett.

Courthouse Team Elated at Success, Seeks More Scalps

The courthouse aggregation of ball players, considerably elated because of victories in the only two games played, are in search of more scalps. The county nine will be available for contests this (Tuesday) evening and also Wednesday evening, according to members of the team. Games won by the courthouse team were with the Black Eagle Innings and the Ancient Order of United Workmen nine.
