

Society Events of Week in Great Falls

Vacation Season Causes Slump in Social Functions

GREAT FALLS social festivities have slumped recently. During the early summer local society folks were busy entertaining brides-to-be, brides or summer guests. Those who were brides-to-be are now brides and on their honeymoons. Those who were brides when entertained have returned from the honeymoons and are in the throes of home making, and the summer guests are departing one by one. Consequently the big outdoors of mountain and lake and links is attracting the society people and there are fewer teas and parties and other formal entertainments in town.

The crack of the club against the festive golf ball is sweet music to the ears of both men and women who have not sought succor from the city's heat in some mountain resort, and the links at the Meadow Lark Country club have become an exceedingly popular place following the demise of the mosquito tribe which made headquarters in Great Falls and vicinity to such an extent for several weeks this summer.

The vacation season has drawn many to summer homes in the Little Belts and the Highwoods, to Glacier park and Lake McDonald, to Flathead and Swan lakes and to ranches nestled in valleys where time drifts lazily and cool comfort may be enjoyed regardless of the high temperatures which prevail in less favored spots.

With the exception of a few informal affairs such as steak fries and the steady coming and going to park tourists, the social affairs of the city during August promise to be very quiet. The dull season will last until the schools open, that time marking the home coming of the vacationists.

Mrs. Stanton Honored Before Leaving

Mrs. Lee Ford of 401 Fourth avenue north entertained Wednesday afternoon at a pretty afternoon party given in honor of Mrs. George Stanton, who expects to leave early in September with her family for Pass Christian, Miss. The first part of the afternoon was spent informally with sewing, followed by several lectures by Mrs. Harry Call and Mrs. Ford. Refreshments were served in the dining room, where the guests were seated at one large table. The center of the table was marked by a handsome basket filled with pink, white and purple asters.

Four tall shaded pink candle sticks and pink nut baskets completed the table appointments. Each guest was presented with a dainty gift. Twelve guests present are all close friends of Mrs. Stanton. They were Mrs. Thomas Couch, Mrs. Harry Call, Mrs. Otto Gerth, Mrs. Donald K. Woods, Mrs. W.
