MRS. MALLORY WINS TENNIS CROWN AGAIN IN MATCH OF CAREER

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 20.—For the fifth time in a period of seven years, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, a native of Norway, now a resident of New York City, won the national women's single tennis championship Friday when she defeated Miss Mary E. Browne, of Santa Monica, Calif., 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Mallory played one of the best matches of her career. In the former titleholder who is now 38 years old, Mrs. Mallory faced an opponent too dangerous to be trifled with at any stage of the game. Miss Browne, as a court strategist, tactician and master of a large repertoire of strokes, is unequalled. Yet, the Norse woman, after losing the first set, 4-6, responded to the cheering and by unequalled display of almost manish driving and steadiness, carried on to victory in the next two sets.

Miss Browne, however, gained some satisfaction and honors, when paired with Mrs. Louise Williams, of Los Angeles, they won the doubles championship 6-3, 6-2. From Mrs. Gouveneur Morris and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau, Miss Browne and Mrs. Williams enjoyed the distinction of having held the doubles title three times.

The victory of Mrs. Mallory, giving her the title for the fifth time, is a new record in American women's tennis. She first reached the peak in 1915, the year after Miss Browne, then champion, retired from tournament competition. The Norse woman repeated her national triumphs in 1916, 1918 and 1920 and in 1917 won the national patriotic matches.

PANHANDLERS' RUN THREATENS TO WILT DEMPSEY FIGHT WAD

Having Experienced Stress of Brake Snub Life, Jack Can't Snub Old Brethren.

BY SPARROW MCGANN Special Correspondent of The Tribune (Copyright 1921 by The Tribune.)

New York, Aug. 20.—Jack Dempsey will soon face the necessity of signing for another $300,000 battle, if he does not stop giving away money. Jack isn't spending it. The hoboos are getting most of it. He is just giving it to "Kansas City Red." "Bill, the Sawbuck" and other knights of the brickbeam and the hay rick and the 15-cent lodging house, who have come to hail the champion heavyweight battler of the world as brother. Jack's hands in and out of his pocket almost all the time.

He isn't a spender. That is to say, he is not a spender of the type of the old time champions, who would line friends and flatterers up against a bar and buy real wine until the bartender's arm got tired ringing the cash register. Jack is a simple liver and his wants are modest. You couldn't give him a great big diamond, that is if you stipulated that he wear it.

Jack a Simple-Life Fellow. There is no flare about him. Unobtrusive clothes, plain fare and a diffident manner—that's Jack. In this connection there is a little story. Some time ago Jack was introduced at an exclusive golf club. He liked the links and played several times but one day in the clubhouse it came to his ears that some super-sensitive member had objected to his presence on the course. This objection had not met Jack. The mere idea of a fighter playing at his club had excited his puritanical ire. Well, Jack never went there again. He couldn't be dragged there.

"I don't like to go where I'm not wanted," he said, quietly. "You know there are lots of people who object to fight."

How They Play on Sympathy. But to get back to the hoboos. Jack will be walking down the street. A man with all the earmarks of a knight of the road will slide up, "Hello, Jack, remember me? I'm Whenever Jack Miller tries to retire and take up the thread of life at Kearney, Neb., he gets a fresh call from Philadelphia to come over and play somewhere on the infield. It doesn't matter much to him where he plays, because he has rambled all over it.

It looks as if the choice for premier second baseman in the American league will lie between Eddie Collins and Harris of Washington, and it is very probable that there will be more of the contents of the ink keg emptied on Collins than on Harris. Still Harris is younger and more promising.

The best fielding second baseman in the National league is young Ford of Boston—front name storage, manner peaceful and hopes high of getting a fair contract for the next season.

Both major leagues are laid under the base insinuation of running according to dope. How else could they have run than they have? They didn't need dope. They needed a stimulant.

More chapters are to be added to the novelty in managers "who fail." It's getting to be a life story with some of them.
