MOTORBOAT RECORD
 OF 43.1 MI. AN HOUR
 SCORED AT DETROIT

First Heat of Gold Cup Event
 Won by Miss America 1; Rival Drivers Brothers.

DETROIT, Aug. 27.—Miss America I., of the Detroit Yacht club, piloted by "Gar" Wood, captured the first heat of the gold cup race here Saturday afternoon, defeating Miss Chicago, of the Chicago Yacht club, piloted by George Wood, the victor's brother. The winner's time for the 30 miles was 31 minutes 51.94 seconds, an average speed of 56.5 miles per hour. Miss Chicago's time was 35 minutes 15.02 seconds.

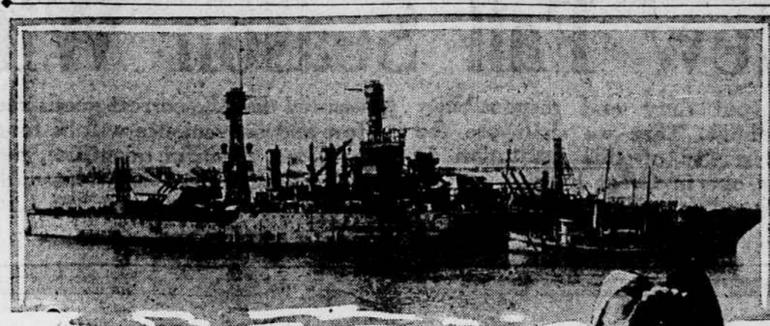

Only two boats started out of the original entry list of 14. The gold cup event was the feature of the opening here Saturday of a five-day regatta that will end September 6, with the running of the Harnsworth trophy race. In addition to the gold cup race, three other events were run on Saturday.

The Detroit trophy race was won by Baby Sure Cure, of Detroit. The Wood-Fisher event went to Baby Gar, driven by "Gar" Wood, who established a new world's record for displacement boats by driving the craft at a speed of 43.1 miles an hour.

The Ohio 111, of the Columbia Yacht club, finished second; Nick Neck of the Buffalo Launch club, third, and Aye Aye Sir of the Miami Beach Yacht club, fourth.

The old record of 39.8 miles an hour was made by Orlo III, at Buffalo in the Alton-Fisher race, Aug. 11. The Sallan trophy race for cabin cruisers was won by White Capie, of the Toledo Yacht club in a field of 21 starters.

MISS CALIFORNIA, PRIDE OF UNITED STATES NAVY

Here she is, folks, the flagship California of the mighty Pacific fleet. She can lick her weight in wildcats, to say nothing of any other ships afloat, except the Tennessee and Maryland, and they wouldn't fight, being sisters. The California is 675 feet long, weighs 33,000 tons and draws 31 feet of water. She is run by electricity. Below is shown Captain Henry J. Ziegeimer, of Canton, Ohio, who has the honor of commanding the U. S. S. California. Captain Ziegeimer was appointed to the Naval academy in 1888 by former President McKinley, who was then a representative from Ohio.

Business Conditions Must Improve, Bennet Finds on Mission to Washington.

Senator Henry L. Myers' opinion that it would not be possible to expect any financial aid from the reclamation service for the further development of the Sun River project until conditions became better, was found to correspond with the views of all interested persons in Washington, D. C., by County Attorney Howard G. Bennet, who has returned from a visit to the national capital and other eastern cities.

While in Washington, Mr. Bennet discussed his mission with Representative Washington J. McCormick, the only Montana representative in the city at the time. Mr. McCormick told Mr. Bennet that the reclamation service was in such sorry financial circumstances that it was having a difficult time meeting current expenses.

Mr. Bennet spent considerable time in New York City and it was there that he became impressed with the industrial depression now existing in the east. Mr. Bennet said the unemployment problem has assumed a grave proportion, one of the New York Papers estimating that 5,000,000 men were idle in that city alone.

HOME FINDING

New $100,000 Building Near Helena Planned for Work of Organization.

To tell of the needs, the plans and the accomplishments of the Montana Home Finding Society, the Rev. J. V. Hawk of Helena, vice president of the society, will speak in the First Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock this (Sunday) morning.

A. L. Burton of Helena, superintendent of the Butte district of the society, has been in Great Falls several days in the interests of the work. The society now has a building in Helena capable of caring for 30 children, but it has a 54-acre farm four miles from Helena for which plans have already been drawn for a $100,000 building, according to Mr. Burton.

"The necessity for a large institution is created by a side of our work which the public hears little about," said Mr. Burton. "Finding homes for orphaned children was, perhaps, the primary purpose of the organization, but we find now many cases where, if we can care for the children for a few months or a year or two, the parents or one of them can take them back again."

"It is to enable us thus to keep families intact that we desire more room, which will be provided by the building we plan on the farm. The 54 acres are paid for and perhaps $10,000 or $12,000 have been raised toward the building."

Charland was released soon after arrest on the furnishing of $250 bail. It is alleged that Charland defrauded the Power-Wilson company of Conrad out of $136, and it was on instructions from Pondera county authorities that he was taken into custody. Charland is said to have made an effort to make the check good, but the Power-Wilson company has rejected his offer of settlement.

Charland was returned from California at the request of W. A. Wellman, who charges him with taking a Ford car, held under a lease, out of Cascade county, when the lease stipulated that the machine should remain in the county. Charland fought extradition for a time and then consented to return.

Notice has been received from national headquarters of the American Red Cross that the organization will hold this year between November 11 and 24.

"Roll Call" is the term applied to the period during which old members are asked to renew affiliations with the Red Cross, and those who have not joined are asked to become members.

Special publicity measures will be adopted while the roll call is in progress, according to information furnished by J. Scheitlin, director of public information.

School boys seek work during year. Several inquiries for work during the school term have been made by boys of the high and grade schools that they might work their way through this year, at the Y. M. C. A. Many of these have been in vain and many have such work for the boys have been asked to report such to Ford J. Bailor, boys' secretary of the association. School opens September 6 in Great Falls and some will not be able to attend if they cannot find employment.

TO GO TO CALIFORNIA. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Williams and son Grover, of 1423 Second avenue north, will leave for the coming week for California where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Williams has been for some time in charge of the basement salesroom of Strain Brothers store.

DRY LAND MEN
 JOIN IRRIGATORS
 FILING PROTEST

Land Classification in Cascade County Is Attacked by Rural Land Owners.

Dry land farmers joined the owners of irrigated lands Saturday in a protest to the board of county commissioners against the land classification results as determined by the North-West Land Appraisers Association of Billings. Most of the protests were filed by landowners living in the vicinity of Simms, Fort Shaw and Vaughn.

The dry land farmers assert that the appraisers have received them with more agricultural land than they possess. In a number of the protests, it was said that rocky soil and land that is unsuitable for farming is being classified as agricultural. The commissioners were undecided Saturday just what action would follow the protests but it is likely that adjustments will not be made until all possible protests have been filed.

George Sanford, manager of the Sun River project and R. K. West, attorney for the Fort Shaw irrigation district, conferred with the commissioners Saturday relative to the objections of Friday by the owners of irrigated lands. The Fort Shaw landowners have contended that they are paying for water on less acreage according to reclamation service figures than is actually irrigated.

Mr. Sanford told the commissioners that the Fort Shaw district was the only district in the state where the landowners were taxed on land contained in ditch right-of-ways held by the county. He pointed out that the land appraisers must have considered all lands under the ditch as irrigated regardless of whether the areas could be profitably watered.

Prisoner Returned From California Faces New Charges. George E. Charland, recently returned to Great Falls from Los Angeles to respond to a charge of grand larceny as bailer, became further entangled in the meshes of the law Saturday when he was arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Guy Palani.

Charland was released soon after arrest on the furnishing of $250 bail. It is alleged that Charland defrauded the Power-Wilson company of Conrad out of $136, and it was on instructions from Pondera county authorities that he was taken into custody. Charland is said to have made an effort to make the check good, but the Power-Wilson company has rejected his offer of settlement.

Charland was returned from California at the request of W. A. Wellman, who charges him with taking a Ford car, held under a lease, out of Cascade county, when the lease stipulated that the machine should remain in the county. Charland fought extradition for a time and then consented to return.

Brothers Ask Papers for Estate of Sister. Petition for letters of administration of the estate of Rebecca Harper was filed Saturday in district court by William B. Harper and G. F. Harper, both of Great Falls, and Robert S. Harper of Dutton, brothers. The petition charges that the estate valued at $3,500 which includes a six-room house at 905 Sixth avenue south, was left by the sister. She left no will, according to the petition. The court asked to name Robert S. Harper as administrator of the estate.

Clothing Is Asked for Needy Family. Clothing and other essential household equipment is needed for a destitute family living in the country and may be turned over to Mrs. Harriett Carrier, secretary of the Cascade county some service chapter of the American Red Cross. There are five girls in the family whose ages range from 5 months to 7 years. The husband has recently returned from the tuberculosis sanitarium at Galen and four years of crop failure have left the family in extreme need. The husband is unable to work because of his weakness. The case was reported by neighbors. Mrs. Carrier and Miss Mary Hansen, deputy county auditor, visited the farm Friday and found immediate help necessary.

CAPERS NULLIFY
 BALL SPEED RULE
 GAMES LAST LONGER

Reform of Putting New Pill in Play When Foul Is Batted Has Reverse Effect.

By I. E. SANBORN.

Only a short time ago, with much clutter of typewriters, baseball promoters put into effect a regulation about not waiting for foul balls to be returned when hit inside the grounds but ordering the umpire to put a new ball into play at once.

This was designed to speed up the action of the game by cutting out an unnecessary wait. It worked well for a while, but today the players are nullifying this regulation by throwing the new ball around the infield before the pitcher gets it. Frequently the ball that was knocked foul is back and in the umpire's pocket before the slabman receives the new pill. In consequence there is more delay at times than if they waited for the foul ball to be returned to play.

Games Lasting Longer. Possibly the players and umpires have forgotten the reason for the rule. At any rate they are letting it fall to the discard with the result that games are lasting longer than previously, allowing for the additional time consumed by larger scores.

Lots of fans can remember when the catcher was ordered to stay close behind the plate all through the game. Twenty years ago the backstop saved his hands and arms by remaining close to the grand stand, if the bases were empty, until two strikes or three balls were called on the batsman. At that distance from the plate he did not wear mask or protector, and in those days shin guards never been heard of.

Old System Time Waster. It was claimed the catcher could go after foul flies better and faster without too much paraphernalia on, besides reducing the chance of injury. And it gave the pitcher a chance to use his own judgment in coming up fast, or slow ones, as no signs were required from the catcher, whose job it was to throw the ball back to the pitcher. As soon as two strikes or three balls were called the game stopped while the catcher put on his protector and his mask, then strolled up behind the plate. Of course if there were men on bases he had to stay there to guard against stealing.

That process of putting on and taking off of mask and protector many times during a game consumed a lot of time of course. It was the reason for keeping the catcher back of the plate all the time. Speed always has been the aim of baseball promoters, so as to make the action of the game as continuous as possible.

Rooters Want Action. Lovers of harness horses and running races do not mind waiting half an hour between events, because it gives them time to get the dope and make their bets, but in baseball it is different. Only the gamblers bet on innings or runs. The rooter wants to see something doing on the field all the time.

The object of the rule about chasing foul balls has been frustrated by the practice of throwing the new one around, so it may be just as well to let the old ball stay in play, if the rule is not to be enforced. By waiting for the fouls to come back when inside the grounds the game might be faster than now, and it would mean fewer new balls in play to be scrubbed by the pitcher to remove the gloss.

Either enforce the rule or discard it. The receiver of a telephone set for the deaf that has been invented in Germany is small enough to be hidden in a person's ear, while the transmitter can be carried in a hand bag or fastened to clothing.

Golfers to Compete on Links Today for Lowest Gross Score

Two tournaments will be run off today (Sunday) at the Meadow Lark Country club. Two thirds of the entry money will be spent for balls which will be given as prize for the winner of a blind bogey contest similar to that played last week, and one-third will go to the player turning in the lowest gross score.

The same entry list will be used for both tournaments. The "blind bogey" will be between 90 and 100.

As the result of scores turned in for the tournaments, L. L. Folsom, club professional, expects to work out a handicap list for the players of the club and make possible a straight handicap medal play on Labor Day. Plans are under discussion for inviting players from the Helena and Lewistown clubs to come to Great Falls to participate in the tournament then.

Those who signed up to Saturday night are Harvey Blomquist, John McKennie, Leon Rowland, Harry Call, Mark Skinner, T. G. Jones, Robert Ferguson, G. Sutherland, Harry Wallenstein, William Wallenstein, J. F. Patters, H. B. Lake, Clarence Lake, O. K. McFarlin, Tom Mackey, E. Pierson, John McDonald, J. Buehler, I. P. Borde, W. J. Sarell and William Eckford.

AN APPEAL TO REASON

A big oil company's activities in the field naturally divide themselves into three parts: First, by the aid of widely experienced geologists, a promising oil structure must be located; second, expensive and elaborate machinery must be installed to get at the oil; and third, the big job of handling the oil when found must be undertaken. Could a blacksmith or a plow boy or an ordinary business man do just as well? He might locate a ridge or a dome shaped field that looked like it might have been intended by nature for an oil structure; he might interest some people with money and get a derrick erected and a drill started; but what would be his chances of finding oil even if he could drill to the required depth? Compare the chances of finding oil by companies organized by men totally inexperienced in the oil game and who must drill today on the money received from yesterday's stock sales, with the chances of the Two Hundred Million Dollar Transcontinental Oil Company, with its world-wide experience on three continents, with its world-famed geologists, its widely experienced drillers, with its own refineries, pipe lines and tank cars, and with its wonderful marketing organization that extends to the four corners of the world! What do you think about it? Honestly, now—what do you think about it? Earlier in the season, oil companies organized by the dozens. Newspapers were filled with their advertising and great things were promised. It was difficult then for people to distinguish between the companies that had a good chance for oil and those that had only the remotest chance for oil. But now most of the weaker ones have been sifted out and the big boys stand forth in their true light. Time tells the tale! The Transcontinental is drilling away night and day on the Fort Benton structure. The cavey formation that made drilling infinitely slow and difficult for a time, has been left behind and now drilling is much easier.

PUT YOUR FAITH IN A WINNER

Don't bet on a plow horse to win a race when you can get the same odds on an experienced thoroughbred that has set new records on tracks the world over. Put your faith in a winner. Don't entrust the treatment of a serious bodily ailment to one who has had no experience or training in the cure of diseases. Consult a specialist whose past record is your guarantee of expert treatment. Put your faith in a winner. Don't expect a great proportion of oil strikes in wells located and drilled by people who have had little or no experience in the oil business. Put your faith in a winner. Follow the Two Hundred Million Dollar Transcontinental Oil Company on the Fort Benton structure.

HOW IT MAY BE DONE

There is but one company that owns royalty rights in the Transcontinental well near Fort Benton, and that is the Fort Benton Oil Royalty Company. It owns 5% royalty in 507.82 acres, carefully selected and all under lease to the Transcontinental. Have a share in the thrill of excitement which will follow the finding of oil in this well. Our share units are $100 each, half share units $50 each. A profit of 1000% can easily be realized on your investment. The drill is down about 1900 feet. Buy a share unit or more now and be proud of your good judgment all the rest of your days.
