ENGLISH WOMAN CHAMPION WINS CANADIAN GOLF TITLE

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 24.—Miss Cecil Leitch, British woman's golf champion, Saturday annexed the Canadian woman's title by an unprecedented easy victory for a championship match.

In the final round of the tournament she defeated Miss Mollie McBride by 17 up and 15 to play.

HARVARD WINS TWO GAMES TO START FOOTBALL SEASON

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 24.—Harvard started its football season with a double victory today. In the first game they defeated Boston University 10 to 0, and in the second won from Middlebury college, 16 to 0. Harvard sent approximately 50 players into the two games.

BENNY LEONARD OUT OF OPPONENTS, RING MAY LOSE CHAMPION

Grouch Against Tendler Keeps Them Apart; Other Fighters Don't Count.

By SPARROW M'GANN, Special Correspondent of The Tribune.

(Copyright 1921 by The Tribune.)

New York, Sept. 24.—Benny Leonard is thinking of retiring from the ring. This is the chief matter of interest in the boxing season in the metropolis changes from club title to flow. Pausing long enough to remark that in the course of the fall and winter months New York will clinch firmly its new prestige as the national seat of pugilism, occupying that position which San Francisco occupied two decades ago, we may turn to the Benny Leonard situation. First of all, then, he is pretty well tired of the fighting game, especially so as there is no opponent in sight who seems qualified to take his title from him.

Some may mention Lew Tendler's name. Well, the Philadelphia southpaw is about the most promising contender for the championship in the public eye; but if his recent fights do not indicate a lad who is slipping, they suggest a fine brand of stalling. Which is it? Answer it for yourself. While the writer would not say it in Philadelphia unless he was shielded behind a cordon of state constables, the belief may be expressed that Tendler reached his peak last year and will never get any higher.

Leonard Sore at Law.

Yet the chances are that Leonard would not consider the left-hander as opponent anyway, despite public opinion. He is sore at Lew for the way in which the Philadelphia copped that $5,000 forfeit money for Leonard busted his knuckles training for the projected bout in August. Gee! he is sore; and his adversaries have figured out for him that the best way to get revenge is to refuse ever to meet Tendler.

With Tendler eliminated who is there left? Willie Jackson? No sane man would consider him as a possibility to beat Benny. Johnny Dundee is not up to the champion. Neither is Charley White, good as the Chicagoan is. Another Chicagoan, Joe Welling, is beginning to show down hill. Ritchie Mitchell is through and Rocky Kansas is a good second rate and will never be anything else. In order to get big purses, fighter has to have opponents that promise fights worth the money. Benny Leonard's horizon shows no contenders for his title who would pull big money out of any promoter. This goes for Tendler as well as the rest.

Again, as time goes on, Benny's weight impulse is toward the welterweight division. Yet, even here, there are no great honors to be won. Say he beat Jack Britton, the present title holder in that class, he wouldn't be regarded as having done much.

May Go Into Business.

But weightier still is the fact Leonard's family, particularly his mother, wants him to get out of the fight game. Aside from his family there are certain business acquaintances who would like nothing better than to put Benny into business. This idea appeals a lot to the champion. What he would like to do would be to retire undefeated and thereafter live a safe, sane and sober life as a potential champion of industry. That he would succeed in business, no one doubts. He has an engaging personality, a quick brain, a pleasing manner. He has been a credit to boxing; he has adorned the trade and given a speaking demonstration that a fighter need be either a dub or a plug-ugly.

It is likely that Leonard will make a decision as to his future career after the snow flies. But right now it may be said that he sees more reasons for quitting the game than for staying in it.

HUB GOLFER WINS NATIONAL AMATEUR TITLE AT ST. LOUIS

Jesse Guilford, Boston, Defeats Robert Gardner, Chicago, in Final Match.

St. Louis, Sept. 24.—Jesse Guilford, Boston, won the national amateur golf championship by defeating Robert Gardner, Chicago, seven and six in the 36 hole final at the St. Louis country club Saturday.

Guilford after obtaining a generous lead of six up in the morning round, while Gardner failed with his putter, was held even during the first five holes in the afternoon round but by scoring a string of unbeatable birdies on the next four holes he became dormie seven after halving the 36th.

Such an enormous gallery, estimated at upwards of 7,000 persons followed the match this afternoon. 56 players and referees were all but trampled under foot and the gallery swarmed on to the 29th green before Guilford could get a chance to hole his easy putt for an easy victory, 8 up and 6, and they halted it in four, making it 7 up and six.

Gallatin Boy Signed by Cleveland Team

FOOTBALL EXPERTS INTERPRET RULES FOR 1921 SEASON

Kick Allowed After Fair Catch Even Though Period Elapses After Catch.

By WALTER CAMP, Special Correspondent of The Tribune.

(Copyright, 1921, by The Tribune.)

New York, Sept. 24.—The chief subject of discussion in football circles in the last few days has been the interpretation placed on the rules by the meeting here of some 200 of the men who will have to enforce these rules this season and who will have to train their teams under them. A number of important points were agreed upon by the coaches and officials assembled.

One point which was discussed arose in connection with a fair catch when the time for the period elapsed after the ball is caught. The rule permits the team making the fair catch the privilege of their kick, although they may not put the ball in play by scrimmage. The question arose whether if the kick was made and the goal not scored, the ball became automatically dead immediately after it was kicked.

Ball is Alive.

It was ruled that the ball remains alive after the kick and the opponents may catch it and run it back. Or, in the case of a fumble, the sole kickers may recover it and may actually make a touchdown. In other words, the time of the period continues until the ball again becomes dead and the referee blows his whistle. This, of course, does not apply in the case of try at goal from touch-down.

The rule regarding a forward pass which becomes incomplete behind the goal line of the passer, was ruled to apply whether the pass was made from the field or by a player from behind the goal line, so long as the pass touched the ground, and thus became incomplete, behind the goal line. Officials were requested to observe a strict interpretation of the rule forbidding the offensive side on a forward pass from interfering with the defensive side.

On the Kick Off.

It was decided that on the kick off, if a player of the kicking side touches the ball, even without catching it, before it is advanced 10 yards, the ball is not in play and must be kicked off again. The officials at the meeting determined to interpret "clipping" or cutting down from behind by throwing the ball laterally across the legs of a player or not carrying the ball, as unnecessary roughness.

After much discussion of "man in motion" clause of the rule governing shift plays, the meeting voted to approve and suggest a wording for the principle expressed in the following: "In all shift plays an interval of time shall be allowed to elapse sufficient to permit the officials to see, first, whether the play is legal, and second to determine whether the ball was snapped while the men were in motion.

It is hoped this will lead to additional clarity regarding the phrases, "man in motion" and "both feet stationary," in the rules governing shift plays or men in motion before the ball is put in play.

All Are Important.

All of these are most important matters for it is upon the rules and their interpretation that the game will rise to further heights standing or retrograde to a less satisfactory position.

The question of whether an attack and defense is a vital one and the game in this regard will be studied closely this year by many experts. There have been those who believe the forward pass had made such advances as to overshadow the running game and who believed football was changing into basketball. So far these contentions have not been proved, but the game of 1921 will be closely watched on account of them. And it is on the basis of the rules and their interpretation that the coaches must advise their plays and train their men.

PLAY IS STARTED IN GOLF HANDICAP TOURNAMENT AT CLUB

Open Championship and Women's Tournament to Get Under Way Today.

The golf season at the Meadow Lark country club will be closed with the completion of three tournaments which have been arranged to decide the various championships of the club for the 1921 season. The first of these will be the open championship tournament comprising those members of the club who have a handicap of five or better. The second will be the club championship competition, strictly handicap and open to all members of the club. The third will be a tournament to decide the woman champion of the club.

The play in the open championship tournament will be started today.

The names of the 16 qualifying players have been published.

Five Matches Saturday.

The first matches in the handicap club championship competition were played Saturday afternoon. Thirty-two players qualified for this event.

In the matches Saturday afternoon Bob Williams (scratch) defeated A. B. C. 2 and 1; Dave Betsworth (5) defeated Harry Call (15) 1 up; Mark Skinner (scratch) defeated Henry Hamilton (7) 3 and 2; W. F. Hicks (scratch) defeated Hiram Johnson (5) 3 and 1; F. L. Rogers (1) won 8 up on H. P. Raban (5) in nine holes, the match to be finished today (Sunday). The remaining matches in the handicap championship will be started today.

Pairings For Women.

The drawings from the women have been made and 32 players have been entered. The participants are expected to make their own appointments for the playing of their matches and it is expected that play will be well under way by the middle of this week.

The players and drawings for the women's championship are the following: Miss Charlotte Berger and Mrs. H. P. Raban; Mrs. Gowan Ferguson and Mrs. Harold Hoover; Mrs. E. Adams and Miss Alice Lohan; Mrs. Edna Keith and Mrs. Joe Kaufman; Mrs. Walter Jenkins and Miss Josephine Dunn; Miss Elizabeth Frary and Mrs. C. F. Pierson; Miss Katherine Longway and Mrs. I. Parker Venable; Mrs. J. Rogers and Mrs. Willard Dodge; Mrs. Julius Peters and Mrs. M. Johnson; Mrs. Christopher Keller and Mrs. R. J. White; Miss Emma Gaylor and Miss Natalie Townsend; Mrs. J. R. Robbins and Mrs. Mark Skinner.

Copper Cups Trophies.

The trophies awarded in the three events will be three copper cups. The final matches in the Labor day handicap tournament have not been completed, and W. K. Flowerree will play the winner of the O. T. Goodwin-H. M. Wood match which is expected to be played early this week.

Indians Beat Yankees in Second Contest of "Little World" Series

Uhle Turns Yankees Back From Plate Inning After Inning, Allowing Them Only Four Safeties, and Shutting Them Out 9 to 0.

Polo Grounds, Sept. 24.—The Cleveland Indians crushed the Yankees by a score of 9 to 0 Saturday in the "little world's series," and the series is all even again, each club having won one game. Forty thousand spectators saw Uhle turn the home folks back from the plate inning after inning, giving them but four safe blows during the game.

As a result the Yankee lead in the American league race again has been cut to less than two points.

Five New York players reached base on Uhle in the first two innings, but the Yankees could not hit so the pitcher. Uhle pitched brilliant ball after the second inning and New York helplessly before his sharp breaking curves. New York was shut out for the third time this season.

Uhle had a freak batting average as he was not charged with a time at bat. drawing three bases on balls and hitting a sacrifice in four times up. He scored after each of his bases on balls.

Harper pitched two good innings for New York and then went to pieces, walking six men in the third and fourth innings.

After a base on balls to Uhle, forcing in a run in the fourth, Evans crashed out a double which sent in Burns, O'Neill and Uhle. Shawkey pitched better, but Cleveland scored three more runs in the sixth after Burns, the first man up, reached first on a muff by Ruth. Speaker played centerfield for Cleveland for the first time since his injury in Louisville two weeks ago. He was handicapped with his bad leg but fielded with his usual skill.

Score: Cleveland, 9; New York, 0. Cleveland, 001 403 001—9 9 1. New York, 000 000 000—0 4 3. Uhle and O'Neill; Harper, Shawkey, and Devorner and Schang.

The batting order: Cleveland, Evans; Wambagans, 2b; Speaker, cf; Wood, rf; Garliner, 3b; Sewell, ss; Burns, lb; O'Neill, c; Uhle, p.

New York—Miller, cf; Peckinpaugh, ss; Ruth, rf; Muehl, lf; Pipp, 1b; Ward, 2b; McNairy, 3b; Schang, c; Harper, p.

The famous Marmon 34 now offered to wise motorists, with a service equal to its great position.

To bring the Marmon 34 to Great Falls has not been an easy task. This famous car has won such great popularity that the Nordyke and Marmon Company is hesitant about adding new outlets.

But amongst several competing cities Great Falls and Helena were awarded Marmon distribution, and we are happy to announce that we were successful in obtaining the unusual opportunity to serve the people of this community.

The fame of the Marmon 34 is nationwide. For years it has held an enviable position. Advanced Engineering and Stabilized Design have given its prestige. It stands today as America's foremost quality car.

Up to May 1st it had been priced at $5,000. Then came the reduction to $3,985. The identical model. Not a single cheapening. Not a single accessory removed.

The reduction was due to the anticipated lowering of production costs for the rest of the year and into 1922.

It was a sensational announcement. The Marmon 34 was the first fine car to make a reduction this year. It precipitated a general reduction throughout the industry.

With the car already occupying a coveted position, the price reduction gave it a momentum that made it the foremost selling car of its class.

Wise motorists everywhere hastened to become owners of the Marmon 34.

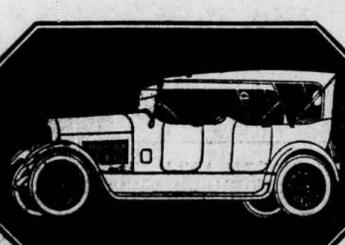

We want you to know this remarkable car. We want to explain its unique engineering, its betterments, its innumerable superiorities.

We want to take you on a demonstration trip. We'd like to have you drive the Marmon 34. It is an indescribable experience. Never before have you felt such control, such easy handling, such comfortable riding.

We'd like to have you go through the 12 vital tests of a motor car such as listed on a Score-Card, then you'll be able to judge cars as they are judged by automotive engineers.

You'll be able to make comparisons of performances as well as price. Come in today and see a Marmon 34, whether or not you are in the market. Then you'll appreciate why there will soon be so many Marmons owned by Great Falls' wisest motorists.

Ingot Players in American Line Up for Today's Game

The Great Falls Ingots will be represented in the last Sunday game of the season in Great Falls when the Americans line up against the Stanford Ravens. Anderson, former Ingot twirler, will be on the mound for the Ravens and if he lives up to the form he twirled while with the Ingots the Americans will have difficulty in being behind the bat for the Ravens.

The Stanford aggregation has strengthened their line-up since their previous game with the Americans and are confident they will win in a row from Fred Weten's players. The previous game was won by Stanford by a score of 3 to 2. The Americans held the lead until the final inning when the Ravens scored two runs on two walks.

The Americans have likewise strengthened their line-up for the game. Calmer Moe and Chick Scutizer of the Independents will be at first and third respectively for the Americans. Walt Strizich of the Ingots will work behind the bat and either George Scanda or Ray Richards will pitch on the mound. Chick Knight will resume his old position at short and Chuck Scanda will be on second. Pete Bross of the Independents will play one of the outfield positions. Carl Dil and Obo Roe will hold down the other gardens.
