KIWANIS CLUB WILL SPONSOR ARMY BUDGET

MORE SMALLPOX THAN ANY OTHER ILL, LAST MONTH

Funds Will Be Received First Week in November; Club Demands Road Maintenance.

The Great Falls Kiwanis club will this month organize a campaign for the replenishing of the treasury of the Salvation Army. During the first week of November the work will be begun with an idea of raising sufficient funds for the army's annual budget and preliminary estimates indicate that probably more money will be needed this year than in 1920.

Action was taken at the club's weekly luncheon at Hotel Rainbow Monday, following a report by Leo Singer, of the advisory board of the Salvation Army. Mr. Singer stated that about $7,500 will be required to cover the Army's necessary activities, but the mark fixed as the objective of the campaign will be somewhat below that figure.

Dr. C. J. Breesee, president of the club, recommended that $5,000 or $6,000 be named as the amount to be raised and that the subscriptions be taken with the determination considerably exceed the figure established.

Financial Report Read.

A report of the Salvation Army's finances was read to the club by Fred Robinson, showing that the balance in the treasury September 8 was $1,356.82. Expenditures have been $48.00 for clothes; $151.90, for lodging; $224.15, for rent; $172.00, for carfare; $311.24, for meals; $371.13, for groceries; $22.75, for coal; $1,198.23, for building upkeep; $40, for salaries; $9.11, for sundries; $54.50, for furniture; $24.30, for advertising; $221.44, for automobile. Total expense, $2,572.82.

Subscriptions were solicited last year on the representation that the funds would be used for helping needy people and it was explained by Mr. Singer that 70 per cent of the Army's relief work is carried on through the Army building, accounting for expenditures made under this head.

Committee on Budget.

The proposal for a commodity budget submitted three weeks ago by a special committee, of which Harry Newman is chairman, will be carried only to the point that the Kiwanis club offers its co-operation in forming a city-wide organization. Another committee, headed by Mr. Newman, was named to co-operate with committees from other organizations and conduct the action to be taken in this way, if at all. A community budget would take the place of all drives and solicitations for charitable purposes, but it is not anticipated that the matter can take definite shape in time to be of assistance in financing the Salvation Army this year. It was stated that probably six months would be required to place a budget on a working basis.

The action taken on a commodity budget was on recommendation of Mayor H. M. Armour, chairman of the club's public affairs committee. He stated in making his report that wide diversity of opinion had been found about the city on the matter and that much work would be necessary before a working program could be adopted.

Demand Road Maintenance.

Emulating action taken by the Bozeman Kiwanis club, the Great Falls club passed a resolution demanding of the county, state and federal governments that a definite means be adopted for the maintenance of gravelled roads. Mayor Armour read the resolution to the club, saying that the Bozeman club had taken the lead in an effort to overcome apparent neglect of recently improved highways.

"Huge sums of money are invested in roads by the county, state and federal government," said Mr. Armour, "and then officials charged with the work of maintenance promptly forget about the investment."

The resolution was adopted unanimously and will be forwarded to the board of county commissioners and the state highway commission. State highway officials have said that road maintenance work on highways built with federal aid must be attended to by the counties in which the work is done.

County Attorney Howard G. Bennett addressed the club on the subject of the community budget, declaring that at places where it has been tried it has worked out with complete success. "We have thousand unnecessary employees were recently removed from one federal department at Washington, D. C., through adoption of a budget system. He asserted that a community budget is the only method through which public gifts can be adequately collected and distributed. The plan was also approved in brief addresses by the Rev. Leo L. Totten and Ralph Wolf, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Silk Flag Presented.

A silk flag, the gift of William Merrill, was presented to the club in an address by L. E. Flint. The flag was unfurled at the head of the table and the membership stood and sang the national anthem. A rising vote of appreciation was given the donor and at the conclusion of the luncheon the members paraphrased a popular ditty and songfully proclaimed that "Bill Merrill has style."

ing used in families where smallpox has occurred.

Examine 129 Babies.

Other communicable diseases occurred during September, as follows: Whooping cough, 8; typhoid fever, 4; infantile paralysis, 2; measles, 1; erysipelas, 1; chickenpox, 5.

A total of 129 babies were examined during the month at the clinics conducted by the health board. Educational talks to mothers were given at each of these clinics, of which there were four during September, at the health office in the city, and one each at Simms, Fort Shaw, Stockett and Cascade. Two hundred and one school children in Stockett were examined. The report also shows that a case of infantile paralysis, 10 miles north of Vaughn, was visited and proper instruction for protection given.

Inspect Dairy and Sewer.

In company with Dr. F. T. Foard of the U. S. public service, Dr. Fason inspected a dairy in the county and personally inspected a sewer at Black Eagle. Inspections were made at five places in the city where fruit is displayed outside, and instructions given as to the proper sanitary methods. Thirty-nine inspections of suspected communicable diseases were made during the month.

Two applications for master plumbers' licenses were filed with the board of health in September. The applicants, A. L. Porter and A. A. Plinski, duly licensed. Twelve renewals of such licenses were issued during the month. Fees in these cases amounted to $24.50.

Three patients were confined in the detention hospital during September. It was reported, all of whom have been discharged.
