

START CANVASS FOR ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS

Annual Campaign Is Inaugurated by Ex-Service Men's Organizations.

A number of disabled ex-service men under the direction of Earl Bowlsby started a canvass of the business district of Great Falls Saturday assisting the Cascade county chapter of the American Red Cross in its fifth annual roll call. The members of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War and the American Legion are giving the support of their organizations to the canvass out of appreciation of the work done for them during their service in the army, officials of the organizations and members of the committee in charge of the drive stated.

Neubert Is Director.
The work of the disabled men is under the direction of Mr. Bowlsby and Walter Neubert, commander of the Great Falls post of the American Legion, is director of the drive. W. S. Neubert, member of the disabled veterans' organization, is assistant director of the campaign.
The roll call was opened in Great Falls Friday afternoon at the Grand theater when a number of disabled veterans passed through the Armistice day audience and collected approximately $70, which was turned over to Mrs. Carrier, executive secretary of the Cascade county chapter. The disabled men held a dance at the Masonic temple Friday evening and the net proceeds of the dance, approximately $40, were turned into the Red Cross as the donation of the disabled veterans.

Cover Whole County.
The members of the two organizations and the officials of the Red Cross of Cascade county will continue the drive until the entire county is canvassed. It was stated by Mr. Neubert, Mrs. Carrier has appointed delegates in various parts of the county to assist in the work outside of Great Falls. The disabled veterans are planning on a thorough canvass of the business district and the members of the American Legion will be assigned to the residence section of the city. Captains will be appointed for selected locations in the city and members of the participating organizations will work under them. The captains will make complete check of the canvass of the members of their teams, in order to prevent any possible duplication of effort.
Members of the organizations taking part in the drive stated that their efforts will be put forth to secure as many donations as possible rather than memberships. This is in view of the ruling of the national organization that the total amount of donations secured by any chapter can be used within that chapter. When persons give any amount for membership fees a proportionate amount of the fee is turned into the national headquarters of the organization.

The Junior Red Cross is another feature of the campaign planned by the officials in charge of the drive. It is their intention, they stated, to confer with S. D. Largent, city superintendent of schools, and Jane Kenney, county superintendent of schools, to enlist the services of the children throughout the county in the fifth annual roll call of the Red Cross.
Throughout the nation the various chapters of the organization are making an effort to enlist the services of the children of the nation.
The purpose of an interesting the children in the drive, according to an announcement from the national headquarters, is to permit the annual graduation of members of the junior organization to the class of adult members. This increase in the adult organization, it was stated, makes the membership of the Red Cross consist of persons who are acquainted with the history and traditions of the organization and its work for the good of humanity.

Legion Appreciates Work.
The work of the Red Cross on behalf of disabled and former service men has received a vote of appreciation from the state headquarters of the American Legion. The welfare commission and the officers of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. The Red Cross has assisted former service men in the adjustment of compensation claims, officials of the organizations stated, and in many ways assisted them since their service in the army was ended.
In observance of the request of President Harding, Great Falls Catholic and Protestant churches will observe Red Cross Sunday today. Attention will be directed to the roll call from the pulpits and the churches' attitude of approval towards the work of the organization will be expressed.

Eminent Ministers Will Preach Today at Methodist Church

Two eminent ministers of the Methodist denomination are announced by the local pastor, the Rev. A. G. Bennett, to speak at the public church services today (Sunday). Dr. H. C. Wilson of Chicago will preach at 10:30 a. m. and Dr. J. M. Wyand of Wesley college, Grand Forks, N. D., will speak in the evening at 7:30. Dr. Wyand has been inspecting Montana Wesleyan university, at Helena, during the week. Dr. Wilson is in Montana for the week in the interest of Sunday school work, representing the general board of religious education.

STUNNING RETORT.
When the woman retorted was called upon to stop, she asked indignantly, "What do you want with me?"
"You were traveling at forty miles an hour," answered the police officer.
"Forty miles an hour? Why, I haven't been out an hour," said the woman.
"Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one to me."—Exchange.

SKELETON FOUND BY HUNTER ON RIVER BANK AT RAINBOW

Unidentified Body Had Laid in Isolated Spot for Probably a Year; Apparently Had Never Been in Water.

Increased in shreds of clothing, the skeleton of an unidentified man was found Saturday afternoon by duck hunters on the bank of the Missouri river a half mile above the Rainbow dam, where it had lain undiscovered for probably a year. Investigation by Dr. J. R. McBurney, county coroner, and Sheriff Job Gordon disclosed nothing to indicate whether death had resulted from foul play, suicide or natural causes, although several safety razor blades tended to give color to the theory of suicide. The bones were buried in a grave prepared by officials on the spot where they were found. Indications were that the body had never been in the river. The skeleton was lying at the high water mark, five or six feet above any raise recorded for several years. A newspaper clipping in a pocket of the clothes appeared to have been once wet, but no more than would have resulted from the rains of the summer. The reading was quite legible.

Clipping May Identify
The skeleton appeared to be that of a young man, according to Dr. McBurney, was approximately five feet 10 inches in height and of a rather heavy build. The hair was brown. Officials said that the only hope of identifying the man was found in the peculiar teeth and the clipping. The teeth were oddly irregular and had never been filled or crowned. The clipping was thought to have been from the Montana Record Herald, Helena, and gave an account of an automobile accident. The names of Reeco Reeves of Wolf Creek, Ted La-Rock and Ray Harigrove appeared in the print as injured in the accident and the man Evans was at the time in "St. John's hospital." On a square piece of paper were the printed words: "Examined by Burbeau." Two pens and some wire staples were in another pocket, and the safety razor blades were scattered on the ground near the bones.

Died During Winter
From the material and extent of the man's dress it was apparent to the officials that he died during the winter. There were two pairs of trousers, each with a pair of suspenders; wool underwear, a canvas coat with leather lining, an army shirt and a cap. One pair of trousers was of tan colored material and the other were brown corduroys. The cap was of dark material, with a bright green lining. The shoes were black, and of the buttoned style. Under the coat was a sweater, probably khaki colored, with buttons down the front. A point noted by Dr. McBurney was that the hands were well formed, but small for a man of this evident size.

Forty-seven Animals Sold
The cow is the property of J. H. Hofstetter of Lewistown. A total of 29 females and 18 males will be sold at the livestock sale, Mr. MacSpadden stated, and it is expected that the sale will become an equal event for the Holstein breeders of central Montana. Figures have been received by Mr. MacSpadden from the United States department of agriculture showing that the cows of the United States, on an average, produce less than half the amount of milk as those of Holland. The following figures from the department show the average annual milk production for one cow for four nations: Holland, 7,682; Switzerland, 6,950; Denmark, 5,666 and United States, 3,627.
Not Enough Animals
"Considering the progress we have made in other lines," stated Mr. MacSpadden, "it would seem that there is something wrong when our cows produce less than one-half as much as the cows of Holland. We have this low average in spite of the fact that

WILL SELL SON OF RECORD COW AT FALLS FAIR

Aristocratic Calf Listed for Pavillon Auction by Lewistown Owner.

A male calf from the four year old cow which holds the state record for milk and butter production will be sold at the livestock sale at the Montana Livestock pavilion November 22, according to F. E. MacSpadden, Cascade county agent. This cow, Captain Wood Gladys De Kol, finished her last test a week ago and in seven days produced 4683 pounds of milk and 16.87 pounds of butter.

Suicide Theory Favored
The skeleton was lying at the mouth of a cove on the north side of the river, a short distance below the Great Northern tracks. Earth washed loose by rains had been carried down against the body, but not effectually concealing it. The skeleton was in a semi-sitting posture, suggesting further that the man had sought out this isolated place to destroy himself. No marks of violence were found, but fatal wounds which did not mark the bones would have long since disappeared. Possibility that the body had been carried to the spot where it was found was doubted because of the inaccessibility of the place.
The skeleton was found by Robert Smith, 2916 Sixth avenue south, when he rowed into the bank after a fallen duck.

Miss Mary A. Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dawson, of Armington, was married to Roy E. Bell of Armington, by the Rev. Alexander G. ## UPON THE CONDITION OF YOUR TEETH DEPENDS LARGELY THE CONDITION OF YOUR HEALTH

No one who in the prime of life is doing labor requiring the usual physical or mental exertion can continue to do so upon a diet of soft, spongy foods, foods that are lacking in vitality-giving substances that keep the body and the mind fit. The perfect digestion and assimilation of solid, healthy foods—upon which largely depends rugged good health—requires good mastication, which, in turn, requires good sound teeth.
Teeth, whether natural or artificial, which will allow of the proper mastication of your food—and so prove an aid instead of a hindrance to good health—are so easily obtainable now that it is little short of a crime to be without them. Frequent visits to any good dentist will assure you of good, sound health-giving teeth.
The choice of the dentist is largely a matter of whether you feel like paying an exorbitant price—or get the best of dentistry for a fair price. In the latter case you will visit the Edmonson office—with its record of nearly a quarter of a century of good dentistry at a moderate fee—where every facility is available for doing good dentistry in the shortest possible time and with the least discomfort to the patient. Examinations and candid advice are free and entail no obligations to have the work done here.

Birds of Passage?

WITH the first spice of wintering air, there comes to the depots of True Gasoline a migration of new friends, as certain in their coming as the wild fowl's southward swing. Welcome visitors these, for while in their own minds they come as birds of passage, to bide with better fuel only till the cold months pass, yet they stay on as True Gasoline's staunchest year 'round friends.

With reason. For when it is once pointed out, it takes only the commonest motor judgment to realize that the winter failure of low grade motor fuel must be a certain index of its unfitness in any season.
With a regular formula involving upward of 3,000 degrees of heat in the combustion chambers, is it reasonable to expect full delivery at any time from a cheap gasoline that is rendered practically unusable by the drop of a trifling 20 or 30 degrees of external temperature?

GET the right slant. The acknowledged superiority of True Gasoline in cold weather is simply outward emphasis of its superiority all the year 'round. Its clean, carbon-free, keroseneless qualities, so sharply revealed in winter, are as essential for full motor potentiality in one season as another.
Its full burning, quick starting and greater energy are constants—the results of in-built chemical correctness that is unshakable by the drop of the thermometer.
That is why this autumn hegrira becomes not a flight of passage but the certain forerunner of fresh battalions of permanent True Gasoline users.
