Praying Colonels Win from Arizona, 38-0 in Sea of San Diego Mud

"Bo" McMillin and "Red" Roberts Are Bright Individual Stars of Contest; Opponents Fail to Get First Down in First Half.

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 26.—"Uncle" Charley Moran's "Praying Colonels," otherwise known as the Center college football team, celebrated their debut on a far western field by defeating the University of Arizona here Monday, 38 to 0.

Rain fell throughout the game and the field was a churned mass of slippery mud. About 5,000 persons armed with umbrellas, and raincoats, watched the game.

Center proved it is not a one man team. There are at least two—"Bo" McMillin and "Red" Roberts. The latter made a sensational first down in the first half and rarely had possession of the ball. In the third and fourth periods the Wildcats made a few good gains but were unable to maintain continued drives.

Too many words of praise hardly can be written about Roberts. He seldom failed to take out his man when running interference. He made sensational catches of forward passes, bucked the line, kicked goal, and proved himself a great defensive player.

Roberts scored the first touchdown for Center within five minutes of the opening whistle. With the red haired giant leading the interference, McMillin and Tanner made steady gains. With the ball on Arizona's three yard line, Tanner twice failed to pierce the Wildcats' defense. McMillin also failed to break through. On the fourth down Roberts broke through right tackle, falling across the Arizona goal line.

The second touchdown came in the same period, when after bucking the ball down the field, McMillin went through right tackle for the score. Center's next touchdown came four minutes after the second period opened, when McMillin scored through right tackle. McMillin failed in attempts to kick the first three goals. In the third period Arizona rallied and advanced but Tanner intercepted a forward pass. Roberts broke through right tackle, ploughed down the muddy field to another score, Snoddy carrying the ball over and Roberts kicking goal.

Covington scored Center's fifth touchdown when, standing on his 50 yard line he caught an Arizona punt and ran through a broken field for the tally. Roberts missed goal. Covington scored the last touchdown on an untimed play. He kicked goal.

Score by periods: Arizona 0 0 0 0—0 Center 38 0 7 13—53

Center scorers: Touchdowns—Roberts, McMillin, Tanner, Snoddy, Covington (2).

Goals from touchdowns—Roberts, Covington.

Officials—Referee: Evans, Millikin, Umpire: Rosenthal, Minnesota. Head linesman: Pfefferkorn, Indiana. Field judge: Klawans, Chicago.

Notre Dame Coach Is Offered $12,000 Year by Evanston

Knutte Rockne Is Sought Also by Michigan and Minnesota Football Directors.

New York, Dec. 26.—In order to hold this season Rockne went to the west and is willing to pay record sums for coaches. Michigan, Minnesota and Northwestern are after additional coaches. These great universities are seeking the same—Knutte Rockne—whose Notre Dame teams have lost only one game in the last three years.

"Hurry Up" Yost, who has turned out some of the best coaching stunts for coaches. Michigan, Minnesota and Northwestern are after additional coaches. These great universities are seeking the same—Knutte Rockne—whose Notre Dame teams have lost only one game in the last three years.

Northwestern is so eager to secure Rockne's services that it has offered him a three-year contract with a minimum of $12,000 a year plus $5,000 for just decorating an agreement with his signature.

Rockne Goes Visiting After the close of Notre Dame's playing season Rockne went on a short tour of the middle west to renew friendships and mull over football as coaches are so fond of doing in and out of season. Arriving at Northwestern, the coach was received like a hero. In the magnificent gymnasium presented to the college by James Latten, Chicago's famous wheat king, Rockne was formally introduced to the "old guard" of the school. After a banquet Rockne was invited to attend a conference with some of the athletic directors.

"Mr. Rockne," declared the spokes man, "we want you at Northwestern. We believe you have done as much as any one to put the west on the football map, and that Notre Dame has benefited in a great measure without you. We stand ready to offer you a three-year contract with a minimum of $12,000 a year. When you sign up you will receive $5,000."

"Gentlemen," replied Rockne, "after recovering his balance, "this is a very attractive offer, but I am under contract to Notre Dame for two years more."

Rockne was informed Northwestern officials would use their influence with Notre Dame and see if the South Bend institutions would not release him. The proposition Northwestern made Rockne was more than double the amount he now receives from Notre Dame. Returning to South Bend, Rockne told his friends about his latest offer. Angus McConall, vice president of the South Pacific railroad, and other prominent Notre Dame graduates, quickly got busy, and it is understood that Notre Dame will tear up its contract with Rockne and offer him a new one on a more profitable inducement. Rockne is now 35 years old and father of three children. He played end on Notre Dame and began coaching soon after receiving his diploma. A coach he jumped to fame almost overnight.

Ranked With Best Under Rockne's direction Notre Dame teams have consistently been rated among the best in the country. Notre Dame's forward passing system has long been a model for opposing teams. This year Rockne introduced a peculiar quick-starting shift that has been the admiration of experts.

A year ago Rockne's contract expired at Notre Dame and ten colleges tried to secure his services. The latest offer from Northwestern, which includes all records for football coaching contracts.

Only the other day "Bo" McMillin, famous Center quarterback, received an offer calling for $35,000 in five years. This was an unusual proposition because of its long-time stipulation. Football is very uncertain. Few colleges are keen about giving a coach a long contract. It is believed that no coach in the east gets more than $10,000 a season.

LEAGUE MAGNATES HUNTING PITCHERS AND CATCHERS, TOO

One Manager Puts Brains Backstop as Greatest Aid to Boxman and Club.

New York, Dec. 26.—Practically all of the major league managers are on the lookout for new pitchers. The poor quality of the boxmen, with comparatively few exceptions, in the circuits last season, has aroused the team leaders and their scouts. Yet in many instances smart catchers are needed to develop the youngsters who soon will come up for trials in fast company.

"Of course, good pitchers are in general demand," said one of the managers, "but find me a brainy catcher and I'll have a winner in 1922. A world of responsibility is placed on the shoulders of the catcher, and he must be a man who can handle the pitcher's delivery cleverly and throws to bases finely. But when it comes down to telling the pitcher what kind of balls to deliver to and that pitcher, a catcher with a good head and a good eye is the best results. Many young boxmen just breaking into the majors are handicapped by the poor judgment shown by their catchers in giving the signs."

Boxing Commission to Begin Operations in St. Louis, Jan. 1

New York, Dec. 26.—St. Louis is to have boxing again, beginning January 1. A bill has been passed in that city providing for six city boxing commissioners, who will have charge of the rules and regulations. The bill provides for license fees for clubs, boxers, promoters, managers, referees and seconds. The measure follows closely the New York boxing law. The Missouri state laws prohibit public boxing bouts in that state. This was evaded by the club membership subterfuge, but for some time there has been no boxing in St. Louis.

YANKEE OWNERS OUT CLOSE TO $100,000 IN BABE RUTH DEAL

New York, Dec. 26.—As an aftermath to the Babe Ruth case Colonel Huston and Ruppert, owners of the Yankees, met the other day and paid $5,000 to Connie Savage and Charles W. Lynch, the promoters who induced Ruth to go on the barnstorming trip following the world's series. These promoters had been induced to cancel the trip after Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Bill Pierce, of the Yankees, played in about a dozen games. They had an understanding with the owners of the Yankees whereby the promoters were to be reimbursed for their loss to the extent of $10,000.

A few weeks ago Savage and Lynch declared they would bring suit against the colonels for the recovery of the money lost by calling off the barnstorming trip, but several days ago all concerned met in the office of Colonel Huston and a settlement was made. The colonels gave the promoters half the amount originally asked for.

With the loss of Ruth and Meusel during the first five weeks of the 1922 baseball season, as a result of the suspension by Judge Landis, and the $5,000 paid to the promoters, the owners of the Yankees will be out close to $100,000 through the barnstorming trip. These figures are based upon Ruth as a drawing power among baseball fans.

SERVICE MAN OUT WITH CHALLENGE TO JACK DEMPSEY

Champion of A. E. F. Believes He Has Record That Makes Him Eligible.

Ever since the war and the subsequent attack on Dempsey's military record, fight fans have looked over the field of heavyweights who distinguished themselves while in the service in the hope that a logical contender for the crown might be found among former enlisted men. The champion, Jimmie Bronson, said, "But he was a husky youth and went through a long list of fighters who were clamoring for recognition as prospects for Dempsey's opponents, leaving them resting alone as they had fallen."

Martin Fought in Europe Martin fought all over Europe in the spring of 1919 after the war was laid away for "civies." He developed a reputation as a knock-out artist and there was talk of matching him with Carpenter. But he was only a kid and far too inexperienced to meet the hero of France, his manager, Jimmie Bronson, said. But he was a husky youth and went through a long list of fighters who were clamoring for recognition as prospects for Dempsey's opponents, leaving them resting alone as they had fallen.

He met 96 men and 83 of them went down for the count. And now, pointing to that list of victories as worthy of a champion, Bronson announces that his protégé is ready to meet Dempsey. He has issued an open challenge to the champion and declares that Martin will meet Dempsey any time that a fight can be arranged. He will meet any white man that Dempsey names, if the champion feels that he has the right to meet him for the premier honors with his present record, Bronson announced.

Soldier is a Giant Martin is 23 years old, weighs 193 pounds and is 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall. If a match between Dempsey and Martin should be arranged it is certain that the champion will be entered on a world's championship fight. As great a fighter as Dempsey is, he has lost the popularity that was his when he took the crowd from Willard. Martin was popular with the fans of the A. E. F. and if a rumor should start through the lines of ex-service men that the big doughboy has a chance with Dempsey he will surely become the hope and talk of followers of the fighting game.

British Golf Stars Coming to America Again Next Season

New York, Dec. 26.—The British invasion of American golf courses, which reached its height last season, will be resumed next season, according to rumors in generally well informed golfing circles.

Harry Verdon, who was here in 1920 and James Braid, who will be seen for the first time in America, will arrive here in time for the national open championship, to be played at the Skokie club, Chicago, in July, it is reported.

Between this pair the British open championship has been won eleven times. Verdon won the American open title once. The coming of these players will bring to this side of the Atlantic two of the greatest players the world has ever known. Braid, a member of the "old guard" on the other side, being close to fifty years old.

WRESTLING REVIVES FROM WALLOP GIVEN BY N. Y. COMMISSION

Sport Healthy and If Rolling Fall Rule Is Rescinded, Will Go Ahead.

New York, Dec. 26.—Wrestling has raised its head once more. The New York state athletic commission gave the mat game a terrible bleeping and for a while had it knocked cold. But the sport is strong and healthy at heart and is ready to bid for patronage if only allowed a chance for its life. If the state athletic commission will rescind its ruling about rolling falls and give the public the stuff it wants, George Bothner will match Joe Stacher, the Iowa rib crusher, and Earl Cadock, the famous man of "one thousand holds." This match will be held on January 9 if conditions are favorable.

These men have met before, to be sure, and have always wrestled to the complete satisfaction of large crowds. They are polished masters of the mat game, and with pin falls proving, so that they could afford to take chances, the fans would get a great match for their money. Both Stacher and Cadock are eager to wrestle in New York, but refuse to risk defeat under the new rules.

Renato Gardini, the Italian heavyweight wrestler, who took himself the greatest Italian champion that ever happened, is shouting defiance at Strangler Lewis, the big Kentuckian. Gardini tossed the Strangler one fall in Newark the other week and says he would have won the match only his foot slipped. Renato says he will wear non-skid shoes the next time he comes out.
