

Boston Wool Buyers
Invade Great Falls
After Season's Clip

Wool buyers of Boston firms have returned to Great Falls territory to buy the northern Montana clip, several arriving in the city Sunday and Monday. Among early arrivals were Gordon W. McKee and Joe Hughes of the Dewey-Gould company, A. H. Tomford of the Halliwell, Jones & Donnell, and R. J. Koshland of the J. Koshland company. Buyers said they anticipated the state's wool clip to be about the same as last year.

PEACE BROUGHT BY FRIENDSHIP
NOT BY TREATY

"Y" Worker Makes Plea for World Amity; Takes "Century Amps" in Progress.

"World friendship is the key to world peace and without that friendship, all of the war treaties ever conceived cannot eliminate war and the domination of the strongest nations over the weakest," said Charles R. Webster of Denver, international Y. M. C. A. worker, who addressed members of the Great Falls Y. M. C. A. at their annual dinner in the "Y" dining room Monday night.

Mr. Webster was introduced by I. W. Church, president of the Y. M. C. A., who was toastmaster of the dinner. One hundred and fifty members of the "Y" and their wives attended the dinner. The association orchestra played during the dinner.

World Is Getting Chummy
"In our modern world, distance is rapidly becoming annihilated. The world is a neighborhood, a community and with our improved radio phone and telegraphic systems we are becoming chummy with our international friends thousands of miles away and whom we have never seen," said Mr. Webster.

"In India they are moving forward by century steps without realizing it. They have never seen our old time velocipedes, yet they are fast becoming acquainted with the motor car. They are becoming democratic without realizing how they got that way."

Touching on the work of the Y. M. C. A. in the isolated corners of the world where friendship is a closer tie of international relationship than war treaties and agreements of arms, Mr. Webster said that the Y. M. C. A. is a mediator of the races. A black man in the heart of South Africa once told him, he said, that if he had not become acquainted with a couple of "Y" workers who were friendly without ulterior purpose he would have a pleasant desire to cut the throats of every white man with whom he came in contact.

Prince Aids "Y" Work
Mr. Webster recounted some of his experiences in India where he went in 1913 as a foreign secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. He told of the help that he had received from a Mohammedan prince who had enlisted with the British forces and whose services were loaned to him by a colonel in the British army. The prince was lavish in the material contributions that he made and he plunged into the welfare and relief work with a zeal that was startling. With his aid the work was far reaching and the prestige that he lent to the work made a lasting impression, said Mr. Webster.

"Friendship is stronger than the ties of the pagan religion of the people of Africa and India," Mr. Webster said. "The friendship of civilized nations for those people who live far from the beaten trails will strengthen the ties of humanity. It is the ultimate light of understanding between nations. The nations are suspicious of the friendly approaches of the white men, for to them they have long been only a superficial deceiver for dishonesty and marauding, but fortunately through the co-operation of missionary and Y. M. C. A. workers the barriers of misunderstanding are being eliminated."

"Orientals associate victory with material benefit and the people of China who have gone through a period of famine are raising the question among themselves if the allies won the war then why do we not eat? And radical agitators take advantage of such situations to say that the government is to blame."

Holdeman Resigns Office
Previous to the address by Mr. Webster, the annual report of the board of directors for the fiscal year was made by Mr. Church and a summary of the financial standing of the association was made by H. A. Templeton, finance officer of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Church made the announcement that the resignation of E. E. Holdeman, athletic director of the "Y", had been accepted and will become effective August 17. He also announced that Ford Bailor, director of boys' activities, will resign his position this fall to renew his college work. Successors to these positions have not yet been appointed, Mr. Church said.

B. & P. WOMEN
OUTLINE PLANS FOR STATE MEET

Dispense With Luncheon at Session Held in Club Room Monday.

With the usual "cents" omitted from the program, the Business and Professional Women's club met Monday night at the club rooms in the Johnson hotel for an enthusiastic meeting, presided over by Miss Nora Hulbush, president, who expressed her gratification for the co-operation the members have given in recent undertakings and for the large attendance at the meeting.

Plans for the state convention of the business and professional women here June 12 and 13 were discussed. The national convention to be held at Chattanooga was also taken up and rates submitted for consideration.

To Entertain Men
At the next meeting of the club the business and professional men of the city will be entertained. Further arrangements will be announced before the luncheon date, May 23, at Hotel Rainbow. The two closing luncheons of the season will be June 8 and June 22. The first Thursday in September will be the first meeting of the new club year.

Next Saturday, a trip to the smelter will be arranged for club members. All are expected to inform other members that the excursion is to be made. Old clothes should be worn. The party will start from the Johnson hotel at 2 o'clock. Those who are planning to go should make reservations with Miss Lora Trembley, whose telephone number is 6301.

Card Party Committee Thanked
A club plan presented by Miss Ethel O'Leary in charge of The Tribune cooking school, was adopted.

For the outstanding success of the club card party given last Saturday afternoon and evening at the club rooms, a vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Lee Walton, Miss Gladys Wilton and their committees, who arranged and managed it.

STEEGE TO MANAGE LIBERTY THEATER

Has Been Active in Amusement Business Here for 25 Years.

Will Steege, for 25 years an active figure in the theater business in Great Falls, Monday was appointed manager of the Liberty theater here by Jensen & Von Herberg of Seattle, through their personal representative, H. C. Robinson. Mr. Steege succeeds E. J. Myrick, who leaves this morning for Tacoma, Wash., to become general manager of Jensen & Von Herberg's six theaters there.

In assuming his new position, Mr. Steege now has three theaters in this city to manage, being the lessee of the Liberty theater as well as manager of the Capitol theater for Jensen & Von Herberg.

Mr. Steege says he will maintain the same high standard in entertainment at the Liberty that Jensen & Von Herberg established when they opened the theater here last year. It is one of the finest motion picture houses in the northwest. Only high-class pictures will be shown, according to Mr. Steege, and lowest prices will be charged, the prices varying, of course, with the rentals charged for the films.

AFFIRMS VERDICT

Helena, May 15.—The state supreme court Monday affirmed judgment of the lower court in the case of Carl Eder, appellant, against James Berolos. Eder sued for $1,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by him through hogs owned by the defendant. He also asked $500 penal damages. He was given a verdict by default. Later the court granted a motion to vacate judgment and Eder appealed.

A Parisian has invented a small electric three-blade fan to replace the fan used by women at the theater.

University Players to be Seen
Here in Booth Tarkington
Comedy.

"Clarence," the Booth Tarkington comedy, which will be staged at the Grand theater tonight, under the direction of Alexander Dean, of the University Masquers, is one of the most popular of the many plays produced by the well known author and playwright. Mr. Tarkington's stories of childhood, including "Penrod" and "Seventeen," as well as his novels, among which are "The Turnout" and "The Magnificent Ambersons," are well known. His latest play, "Intimate Strangers," is now running in serial form in Harper's Magazine.

Mr. Tarkington is generally ranked among the leading modern humorists and has been sometimes referred to as the modern successor to Mark Twain, his "Penrod" stories being considered worthy of a place with the adventures of "Huck Finn" and "Tom Sawyer."

Removes Hairy Growths
Without Pain or Bother

(Modes of Today)

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

PATHE REVIEW
This Program Today and Tomorrow

First Time in Montana
"Clarence," which is the only Masquers production of the season to make an extended tour of the state, ran in New York for a year and a half and for an equal length of time on the road, but has never been seen in Montana. The original cast included Helen Hayes as Cora; Gregory Kelly and Alfred Lunt.

The story of the play deals with a youth whose name is a mystery, a discharged soldier desperately in need of employment. He applies for work at the house of Mr. Wheeler, who is staying at home nursing an injured ankle. He is engaged, for no other purpose than that he was able to ride mules in the army without swearing. After three acts of hilarious situations Clarence unravels the problem of the twentieth century flapper, the ultra-modern wife and our prep-school boys—and his identity is discovered in time for him to marry the heroine.

Well Received in Missoula
"Clarence" was first presented by the Masquers November 18, in Missoula, where it met with instantaneous success. It was the first of a series of dramatic productions staged this season under the direction of Mr. Dean.

The cast of the Masquers' production is as follows: Clarence, Eugene Finch of Dillon; Mr. Wheeler, Lawrence My-

LAUGHS CLARENCE PEP
BOOTH TARKINGTON'S FAMOUS COMEDY
PLAYED BY THE UNIVERSITY MASQUERS
The Bozeman Chronicle said of last year's production: "Mr. Dean has succeeded in training them in the work to a point that makes them compare well with any professional company on the road. The development of the dramatic talent in our higher state educational institutions is rapidly becoming an important feature in educational work and the State University has certainly made a good start on this line if the company that appeared here can be looked upon as a criterion."
