ASSOCIATION OF BOOTLEGGERS FIXES BOOZE PRICE; INDORSSES COUNTY PRIMARY CANDIDATES

Great Falls bootleggers, members of the "Great Falls Liquor Dealers' association," having settled the price of liquors to their satisfaction, are now quietly undertaking to settle the elections as well as at their last meeting endorsed candidates for the offices of county attorney and sheriff, according to information obtained following the session.

The "liquor dealers' association" was formed some time ago and has been having regular meetings ever since. Those who are familiar with the organization say that it has some 20 members in good standing and that a man connected with the liquor business prior to prohibition days is now president of the organization. Until the last meeting, the organization was content to set the price of liquors as retailed by its members. The price list, it is said, was sometimes shaved by some of the members, but for the most part was followed to the penny.

Although there was some discussion when a certain influential member obtained a raise in the price list shortly after receiving a big shipment from Canada, when it came to endorsing political candidates there was less difficulty, it is reported.

Developed as a price-fixing organization that would make an attorney general's wrath rise, the organization has come to give other distinct services to its members. It is used as a clearing house whereby one of the fraternity, if he runs short on supplies, can borrow from another the necessary goods. Repayment is made when the next shipment comes in.

Members of the organization deny that it carries a large fund that guarantees the trial expenses of members who fall into the hands of the officers or that it offers any other kind of protection. One of its distinctive qualities is its exclusiveness. Twenty members makes it possible to take in only the best of the "dealers" of the city, and the smaller bootlegging concerns that deal in small lots and poor grades of booze have no place in the organization.

A peculiar feature of the rum men's organization is the contention of its members that it cannot be interfered with by city or state officers. Legal advice is said to have been obtained before taking action for its organization. Attorneys say it would be a nice point of law whether the members, were it possible to obtain the needed information, could not be charged with conspiracy. Purchasers of the illicit beverages take the position that prosecution on

State Fair Offers Big Purses in Races for Montana Horses

A program of races featuring attractive purses and Montana horses will be given at the state fair this year, according to announcement of the fair plans received by the Commercial club. The heaviest prizes have been hung up for the running races, relay races and the like, which are especially attractive to the Montana horsemen. In the half mile running races, $3,250 is offered, three races each day. The men's relay race, to be run on each day of the fair, carries $1,500, and the inter-tribal Indian relay, $1,250.

The Indian relay race will be a novel feature, with each tribe of Indians of the state represented by their best rider and best string of ponies. Each Indian will wear full tribal regalia and ride Indian ponies.

Another part of the race program that will interest Montana speed enthusiasts will be the all-Montana auto races. A special class for Fords carries a purse of $800, and the free-for-all, $900.

In addition to these, the usual harness races will be run for substantial purses.

BOARD FAVORS VACCINATION OF STUDENTS

Treatment Against Diphtheria Subject to Consent of Parents.

At a meeting of the school board Monday evening at the Washington school, Dr. G. A. Fuson of the city-county health office was given permission to vaccinate students in the public schools of Great Falls, including the high school, against diphtheria. The only thing which prevents such vaccination is the withholding of consent by parents.

In speaking of the need for such action, Dr. Fuson told the board that diphtheria had reached such a stage in Great Falls that it is impossible to check a possible epidemic by means of isolation and quarantine.

Last year, the same vaccination was made in the Franklin school on the west side, with the result that, since then, there have been no cases of diphtheria reported from those who were treated. R. E. Noble, member of the board from the west side, vouched for the statements of Dr. Fuson as to the result of vaccination in the Franklin school. Mr. Noble said he knew of eight cases of diphtheria on the west side, one of which was fatal. None of these patients had been vaccinated.

No Test for Small Children For children under 10 years of age, Dr. Fuson recommended that the Schick test be used. He said that this was but a test to determine whether the person is immune to the disease. This is done because 50 or 60 per cent of the public are naturally immune to the disease.

Four teachers on last year's staff in the public schools have resigned their positions, three have declined appointments and seven new teachers were recommended by the board. The four who resigned were Gussie Elieser, Irma Shordon, Stella Warren and Lottie Kinney. Those who were recommended for the positions are Nellie Stephens, third grade; Whittier; Alice McCracken, fourth grade; Whittier; Arma Corbett, fourth grade; Hawthorne; Eudora Westergard, Latin high school; Wilma Goehner, English high school; Francis Bengel, Spanish high school; Ruth James, kindergarten, Emerson.

The problem of taking care of rural school children near the Big Falls was taken under consideration, but nothing definitely decided. This will probably be reported back at the next meeting of the board. It was brought out that there were but four children who would attend the school and that the parents of one child were planning to move to Great Falls during the school year.

Because the expense of running the school would be so much more than the cost of caring for the students in Great Falls or at Portage, it may be decided not to open the school at Big Falls.

Bruce E. Milliken, former principal of the Butte high school, who will assume the same position in this city, will arrive in Great Falls Wednesday. He is driving through from Dillon, where he recently closed a term as instructor at the summer sessions of the state normal school.

Attend Nearest School S. D. Largent, superintendent of schools, has had several inquiries as to the feasibility of children living near other schools in the district coming to Great Falls. He advises that all such cases attend school at the nearest building. "I do not expect any great increase in the enrollment of the public schools this fall," said Mr. Largent, "unless business conditions improve. Because the crops in Alberta are good this year, I do not expect so many Canadian students in Great Falls this year. Last year there were many in both the high school and the public schools."

The teaching staff of the public school system will not be increased this fall, and no plans are being made for the addition of any new courses. "Every year we have the same difficulty in getting all children of school age to begin with first day of school. This is vitally important to the success of the student and the teacher. So that it will not be so serious this

Valley Sends Call for 200 More Men; Laborers Paid $4

Valley county has need of 200 men for work in the harvest fields and for a few men with teams, according to a request received by the Great Falls Commercial club to send any available men to that region.

The county has been unable to get workers from the east and is depending upon a supply from the west to harvest its crops, according to Murray E. Stebbins, county agent at Glasgow. Farmers are paying $4 a day for men and $6 a day for men and teams.

PRAIRIE CHICKS SHOW INCREASE, SAYS FORESTER

Favorable Season Has Done Much to Restock Fields.

The season has every indication of being a good one for the restocking of Montana fields with feathered game, according to A. A. Weholt of the forest service, who returned Monday from a trip over the Jefferson forest.

"It has been a good chicken year," he said. "The indications are that a large percentage of the grouse and prairie chicken eggs hatched this year. Despite the rains and dampness that would ordinarily work against the hatching and growth of the chickens it happened this year that the actual hatching season was fairly dry and the rains, coming after danger to chicks was over, provided plenty of green food."

"Fishing this year has been about the same as usual, I believe. The fact that streams are now being stocked regularly has kept them from being fished out too much. At the same time, the drain on such streams as are easily reached by automobiles has been so great that stocking has merely met the deficiency."

"Deer hunting is dependent on weather conditions during the hunting season. But there has been nothing that would cut down the increase in deer in the forest this year and the indications are that there will be some hunting this year in the Snowies."

Weholt said that the number of tourists and campers in the Jefferson forest at this time is looking up to the high point of the season. At King's hill, 200 or 250 cars a day are reported. About half of those who register in the forests are Great Falls residents, he said, showing that people of the city are taking advantage of the camping opportunities.

CLUB WILL EAT WEEKLY LUNCH IN MEAT PLANT

William Moeri was elected Monday at the Kiwanians' luncheon meeting, held in the Palm room at Hotel Rainbow, to represent the Great Falls club as trustee. He was elected without opposition, the nomination being made by J. H. Abrams, president of the club.

The party will leave Hotel Rainbow in cars at 12 o'clock next Monday, and on arrival at the plant will be divided into groups for the trip through the plant.

Kiwanis clubs of the state are already seeking baseball players to represent their home cities in the state baseball tournament, this fall at the state fair, Jack Abrams of the athletics committee reported. He extended the invitation from the western clubs for Great Falls to join with them in a Kiwanis Labor day picnic at Deer Lodge.

Butte, Helena, Missoula and Kalispell will be represented, he said, and Great Falls has been asked to send two automobiles of club members. Helena will send 15 cars and Missoula as many more. The plan would be for the Great Falls party to leave the city on Saturday and spend Sunday in Helena.
