

49 SEEK NATURALIZATION IN COURT HERE TUESDAY

30 of Applicants Reside in Great Falls; Mock Hearing Scheduled at "Y" Monday Night.

Forty-nine residents of Cascade county, 30 of them living in Great Falls, are docketed to appear in district court Tuesday as candidates for final naturalization papers. They will be examined by United States Naturalization Examiner G. W. Tyler.

As a preliminary to the hearing in court a mock court will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night by the Americanization committee under the supervision of Charles Davidson, Loy J. Molunby and other members of the committee. Those who successfully pass the examination will be given certificates of graduation from the Americanization school signed by County Superintendent of Schools Jane Keeney and Charles Davidson, instructor of the class.

The certificates of graduation will be accepted in lieu of educational examinations, according to Examiner Tyler. This is the first time that the school has been recognized to this extent by the court. Of the 49 men who will appear in court Tuesday over 40 are regular attendants at the classes of the Y. M. C. A. the past two months. The class has been meeting every night during past week.

A reception for the successful candidates for final citizenship papers will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. The Rev. J. C. Reed, former Americanization secretary here, is assisting in arranging the program. The meeting is open to all caring to attend.

Following is the list of Great Falls men seeking final papers: Soberias Turpio, Pietro Felice, Rapil Shwan, Alexander McDonald, J. A. A. Torke, Carl Wenzelberg, Tony Rebb, Matt Lee, G. H. Platt, Ludwig Mikle, Slavko Simac, Harold Hart, Chris

DURANT MOTOR CARS WILL BE HANDLED HERE

Charles Gies Signs Contract to Include All Models of Star Machine.

Charles Gies Saturday signed a contract with the Durant Motors of Lansing, Mich., under which the Charles Gies Motor company of Great Falls obtains territory of 14 counties in northern Montana for the Durant and Star line of automobiles. The Star motor cars, manufactured by the Durant Motor Co., are especially low priced and the touring model selling for $443 at Lansing.

Oliver Gies and Arthur Gies, the latter now with the Scott-Sanford Candy company, will be associated with their father in the automobile agency. Oliver starts in at once, but Arthur will not join the firm until later.

COUNTY SENDS BEST POTATOES TO COAST SHOW

Six Entries Will Represent Cascade Growers at Spokane.

Six entries in the Northwest Potato show at Spokane were sent to Spokane Friday, according to F. E. MacSpadden, county agent, who collected the exhibits from Cascade county.

The Cascade county exhibitors were Leroy Kirby, Simms, Nettie Gies, E. M. Lind, Great Falls, Bliss Triumphs; Glenn Kitterman, Great Falls, Early Ohio; Herman Mills, Cascade, Nettie Gies and Early Ohio.

The entries from Cascade county will be in the commercial class at the Spokane show and represent some fine types of potatoes, MacSpadden said. The Simms district was the principal contributor toward the exhibits, the product in that vicinity being unusually good this year.

The potato show will open at Spokane Monday and the potatoes will arrive in plenty of time for the officials to prepare them for exhibition. Due to the lack of funds it was impossible to send anyone with the exhibit.

The show is the second to be held by Spokane, the success of the one last year having led to the city making it an annual event. The potatoes exhibited are from many parts of the northwest. The exhibit is divided into two classes, seed potatoes and commercial grades. The seed potatoes must be from fields passed upon by state inspectors and meeting certification requirements. Much of the certified seed potatoes shown come from Idaho and Washington, while last year some were entered from western Montana. In connection with the show a series of lectures and other program features are scheduled.

VALIER PROJECT AIDED BY COWS AND CHICKENS

Farm Produce Finds Demand on All Markets, Says Director.

Despite a wheat crop that averaged 22 bushels to the acre on 30,000 acres, it is the cows and chickens that are building up the Valier irrigation project, according to William Wayman, director of the project, who was in Great Falls Saturday.

"It would be far from the fact to say that the lands coming under the project are model dairy farms," he said. "The cows that are being milked and from which the farmers are realizing a profit on butter fat at 45 cents a pound, are not dairy cattle, for the most part. Like most communities that are just entering the industry, the dairy stock is made up of Short-horns and Herefords about as much as recognized dairy breeds. But there is an advantage in this situation. When you have dairy cattle, you must have dairy barns, dairy equipment and dairy methods. Those things must come and we think we see them coming."

Eggs Sell Well

"The barnyard has played no small part in the betterment of conditions on the project. Eggs have been selling well, and despite the fact that they don't carry much part in the average farmer's plans, they buy a good many shoes for the children."

"The wheat crop on irrigated lands of the project ran up to 57 bushels to the acre, while on the drylands surrounding the project the crops were also good. What we must train our people in is the fact that the growing of wheat can well be left to the benchland farmer and the man with irrigated lands, grow the alfalfa and hay that will raise cattle and hogs and feed dairy cattle."

The present farms on the project are too large for the proper use of the soil, Wayman said.

Small Farms

"It can be said without exaggeration," he said, "that every farm on the project could be cut in two without decreasing the income of any of the farmers. It's just a matter of logic. The water costs, taxes and other set charges remain the same on each acre. Suppose it takes 10 bushels to the acre to raise 20 bushels. Then you can see that the man who raises 20 bushels on one acre is as well off as the man who raises 15 bushels on acre on five acres.

"The man who works about 80 acres is the logical size of irrigated farm. It is the farm he can handle most effectively. There are a few farmers who have the capital and the executive ability so they may manage a larger ranch effectively."

The lack of cars is letting the farmer realize on his produce but slowly, Wayman said. The project farmers are being aided by the fact that they have their titles to property and have been able to borrow money to improve their farms, obtain needed stock and the like.

TEN ELK UNITS REPRESENTED IN MEETING HERE

Great Falls Lodge Hosts to Men From All Parts of Montana.

Ten of the 15 Elk lodges in the state were represented by exalted ruler or secretary or both at the state meeting of exalted rulers opening at the Great Falls lodge Saturday night and to continue today.

The state meeting is the first to be held, previous meetings having been in the form of district sessions. The Great Falls lodge was host to the visitors Saturday night at a special initiation, followed by a get-together meeting. The exalted rulers and state officials were present and the meeting was well attended by Great Falls Elks. The meeting was also the official visit of Will Truscott of Miles City, district deputy grand exalted ruler for eastern Montana.

The business sessions will open this morning at 10 o'clock.

Among those present are: Will Truscott, Miles City; O. G. Jones, Kalispell, deputy grand exalted ruler for the western district; M. A. Brandin, Kalispell, president of the state association; T. Trout, Billings; Frank Biglow, Butte; Frank P. Rulley, secretary; Butte; F. B. Glaser, Anaconda; Warner A. Hawkins, Helena; R. N. Gibbons, secretary; Helena; C. N. Sybert, Livingston; Joseph Brooks, Livingston; J. L. Minor, Anaconda, secretary; the state association; E. Johnson, Missoula, secretary; L. M. Gilbert, Lewistown, esteemed leading knight.

Warden Sells Pelts of Predatory Animals

Helena, Nov. 18.—(By The Associated Press.)—Pelts of 76 coyotes, the first shipment received from deputy game warden who are engaged in destroying predatory animals in Montana, were sold Saturday by State Game Warden C. A. Jakways to the Helena Fur company. The pelts of a bobcat and of a bear were also sold.

STORMY MARRIED LIFE

Boise, Idaho.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The marital life of Charles and Laura Kookan was stormy.

"She only cooked one meal for me all the time we were married, and then she slapped my face when I picked up my fork with the wrong hand," Charles testified in his suit for a divorce.

The court was duly impressed and a divorce was granted.

REQUEST MORE INTEREST IN RELIEF FUND

Near East Committee Says Donations Are Below Expectations.

Means will be employed Monday morning by the committee in charge of collections for the Near East relief to emphasize to Great Falls people the need of giving serious attention to the request for funds, it was announced Saturday. Before a first survey of collections were made Friday, it was stated that the results of the request for funds had been satisfactory, but it developed Saturday that the total received was lower than had been expected and that an extra effort will be necessary if the county's objective is to be realized.

"We had expected a better response," said H. A. Templeton, chairman of the committee, "than had been made up Saturday night, and the committee is forming the opinion that the people of the city have not yet come to realize the importance of this relief work. The fact is that tens of thousands of little children are dying in Smyrna for want of the assistance that should readily be forthcoming from Great Falls and other centers in America."

ASK SMALL DONATIONS

"It was not, and is not the intention to ask for large donations from individuals or firms. Instead, all gifts are to be a free will offering. The total is to be made up by little gifts from a great many people, but to date the result has been somewhat disappointing here. The committee does not believe that Great Falls people are unwilling to give, but it may be true that they have been tardy in recognizing the urgent need of action."

"The 24 boxes placed about the city for the receipt of donations will remain at least until Tuesday night, and by that time we hope that the city will have done its share toward assisting the sufferers. Five dollars will maintain one child for a month and $25 will insure him food and shelter through the remainder of the winter."

Liberal donations to the relief fund were made at Belt Friday evening following a meeting at which addresses were given by M. K. Lohan and H. A. Duncan of Great Falls and N. F. Sturges of Seattle. Two hundred persons attended the meeting.

In his address at Belt, Duncan said the Turks are taking advantage of the division of European countries in carrying on their campaign of wanton destruction against Christian nationalities.

"While the European powers are playing, Christian children are dying of torture and starvation," he asserted.

Lohan was surprised Lohan, who is an Armenian, told the audience of his personal experiences with the Turks when a boy. For wearing a cap that indicated that he was a Christian, he said, he once was arrested and confined in prison five days on a diet of brown bread and cold water. He suffered no mistreatment himself, but he personally witnessed atrocities committed upon other Christians in the prison. It was no uncommon sight, he declared, to see the finger nails torn from the hands and tongues from the mouths of prisoners.

Eight church and fraternal organizations at Belt each obligated themselves to provide for one child for a year, such funds to be an addition to relief furnished by the general public. Monday night, the speakers will be in Sand Coulee and Tuesday night at Stockett.
