TO THE DAILY CLARION.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The following are the Senators appointed on the Democratic Congressional Executive Committee: Stevenson, Wallace, White, Gordon, Davis and Eaton.

The Secretary of the Treasury has furnished all hands in the bureau of printing and engraving. No money.

In the Texas Pacific Railroad Committee, Mr. Littrell, from the sub-committee, reported the report in a written speech. He was in favor of allowing any one to build the road who would do it without subsidy.

Mr. Garfield, also of the sub-committee, opposed the subsidy on financial grounds. A member of the Committee thinks the vote will be close, especially on the feature of the subsidy.

Col. G. W. Alexander, of the Sunday Gazette, has been offered $10,000 for the original letters from Davis to Lyons.

Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—For the South Atlantic and Gulf States, and the Tennessee and Ohio valleys stationary barometer, southeast to southwest winds, slightly warmer, though partly cloudy weather, with occasional rains.

The Texas Frontier Troubles.

Gen. Ord, commander of the military department of Texas, was examined to-day as a witness before the select committee of the House on the Texas frontier troubles, and gave to the committee a very full and intelligent account of the cattle raids, and the tactics of the rancheros on the American side of the Rio Grande, for 500 miles along the river, and for 150 miles back from it, are subjected, as well as of the remedy which he would recommend for them.

According to the General's statement, the country, which is the scene of these border forays, is separated from the river by a very extensive belt of undergrowth, forest or chaparral, which forms a screen and shelter for the cattle thieves who live by plunder, which renders it next to impossible for military patrols or military posts to interfere with them.

There are two classes of Mexicans living on the Texas side, the one consisting of intelligent, honest rancheros, who are as much opposed to these raids as the American portion of the population is, and the other consisting of worthless fellows, many of them outlaws or deserters from the Mexican army, who work occasionally on the ranches and who act as spies and informers for their consins or compadres on the Mexican side, when they cross the river on their cattle stealing expeditions.

It is the intelligence which they receive from these fellows, which enables them to avoid the routes by which they might be intercepted on their return with their booty to their side of the river. These bands, which some times number from 100 to 150 men, are in league with the local authorities. Their recognized chief is Carranza, and all facilities are given to them for disposing of their plunder. Such a thing as restoration of the stolen cattle is never thought of. The national government of Mexico is not to be blamed, in Gen. Ord's opinion, for this state of things, first because the system of the Government is to let each State take care of its own affairs; and second, because the Mexican soldiers have a strong tendency, whenever they get near the border, to desert to the Mexicans, and come into Texas.

The Mexican Government is therefore powerless in the matter, and the State Government of Tamaulipas seems to regard these frontier forays as part of the established order of things—essential for the good of the community. The only remedy, therefore, which he would recommend, is one which the general is urging on the War Department, to increase the cavalry force on the Rio Grande and give him authority, whenever his troops come on the trail of one of these thieving bands, to let the pursuit be continued to the Mexican side of the river and let the Mexican authorities punish the robbers. He thinks that whatever opposition the local authorities might make to such a practical course, the General Government of Mexico could not make any.

He says that now in one of the more northern States, where the Indian and the Mexican are in a mutual arrangement by which Indian expeditions are followed on either side of the river, and that on some occasions the American and Mexican troops have united in their movements against Indians, rations being supplied, by his orders, to the Mexicans. He is confident that the only feasible mode of putting down these troubles, is by following up the robbers in the way he recommends.

Railroad Enterprise.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Virginia and Midland railroad has perfected an arrangement with the Baltimore and Potomac for running its trains unbroken through Washington, to and from Baltimore. By this arrangement the Baltimore and New Orleans sleepers leave Washington as well as Baltimore daily and run through to their destination without change, thus making the only unbroken rail line from the nation's capital to the Gulf of Mexico and the Crescent City.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

Death of Another Fireman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—John Henry Bush, assistant fireman of engine No. 30, injured at the Broadway fire, is dead.

The Diaz Revolution.

Col. E. A. Lever, who recently arrived from Mexico, says the reports of the revolutions of Porfirio Diaz have been greatly exaggerated. He states that the real disturbances caused by revolutionists in the border states have been promptly suppressed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Dispatches received here say it was the steamship Memphis, from Liverpool to New Orleans, that went ashore at Carysport reef. She jettisoned a portion of her cargo and proceeded without assistance.

THE GREAT CONSPIRACY.

New Developments in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Another alderman, Huggins, was indicted; also Chas. H. Head, the prosecuting-attorney of Cook county.

Babcock's Trial.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 12.—The District Attorney presented Douglas with an affidavit purporting to be charges preferred in 1873 by Lindsay Murdoch, late Collector of Internal Revenue in Southeast Missouri. The charges were against John A. Joyce and John McDonald, respectively revenue agent and supervisor; the envelope was endorsed by C. C. Sniffin, the President's Private Secretary, showing it had been referred to the Executive Mansion and received at the Treasury Department. Another endorsement shows its reference to the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue; Mr. Douglas could not testify that he had seen the affidavit in his office. The District Attorney said he proposed to read the affidavit showing that in 1873 the charges against Joyce and McDonald had been referred to the Executive Mansion, and had gone through the Department, but the Court only allowed the witnesses to testify that the endorsements showed that such charges had been received and filed. They were not read. Nearly the entire morning session was taken up in trying to trace through the telegraph clerks of this city and Washington, and also by the door-keeper and messengers of the Executive Mansion, certain telegrams not yet admitted to proof, and that they were read, sent back and forth between Joyce and McDonald here, and Gen. Babcock in Washington. Finally, the defense waived this proof as to one dispatch and allowed the following, admitted to be in Gen. Babcock's handwriting, to be used.

WASHINGTON, DECEMBER 13, 1874.

To Gen. Jno. McDonald, St. Louis:
I succeeded. They will not go—I will write you. SYLPH.

Before this was read, Judge Porter announced that they proposed to make a lengthy legal argument against the admission of the other telegrams, and perhaps they might wish to include this "Sylph" dispatch in those objected to. The defense wished to reserve that point.

The President's evidence in the Babcock case was taken before Judge Waite in the Executive Mansion, and sent to St. Louis by a special messenger.

Libel Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—In the libel suit of Standard vs. Alta Newspaper Co., Judge McKee denied the motion of the defendant to strike out that portion of the complaint relative to the Bank of California, holding that it was proper that the plaintiff should prove the falsity of the statement that he had caused the failure of the bank, by showing that the failure was from acts of the officer of the bank.

Railroad Agents Convention.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 12.—The Ticket Agents Convention resolved, with dissenting votes, not to locate transportation companies, composed of individuals or firms who issue tickets in their name. It is understood that the resolution refers to the tourists' agency.

Probable Failure of the Ice Crop.

Hudson River ice crop will be an utter failure increases hourly, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Not much ice is left over from last year, and the extraordinary mild weather has again started the ice at many places between here and Poughkeepsie. All the ferry boats on the river have not been over one hundred thousand tons gathered thus far. The average crop is over two million tons.
