RUSHING IS VIGOROUS Front Men Hard at Work in the High Schools. The Greek letter societies at the "U" are not after seniors from the several Minneapolis high schools, who will enter college next September. No end of inducements are being held out to prospective fraters to identify themselves with this or that secret society, the manifold advantages of which from social and other standpoints are pictured in glowing terms. The potential freshmen are receiving invitations to all sorts of parties and are being "rushed" so systematically that they have little time left to themselves. Many have escaped the pressure by wearing "pledge" buttons.

A "Deke" Victory. One of the hottest contests for three Central high seniors finished yesterday. Chl Psi, D. K. E. and Psi U. men had been carrying on a spirited struggle to pledge General Harrington, son of Albert Harrington, and Graham and Stanley Evans, sons of R. G. Evans. There had been all sorts of preliminary entertainments and the final session at the Harrington home was as busy as a political convention. All three high school men were there while the frats had a score or so members on hand headed by the straight alumni members they could drum up. It was agreed at last that the prospective members should go into a conference with one representative of each fraternity, and this resulted in a victory for the Dekes, the three men choosing that society.

It was agreed at last that the prospective members should go into a conference with one representative of each fraternity, and this resulted in a victory for the Dekes, the three men choosing that society.
