A PROBLEM SOLVED. Another Gordian Knot Cut. A Discovery Invaluable to the Science of Medicine. An Invention That Will Be of Benefit to Thousands of People. There is no doubt about the value of Vinol, this new form of cod liver oil, containing just what has been said lately. It is just another one of those great inventions that is bound to revolutionize a certain branch of science.

There is no doubt about the value of Vinol, this new form of cod liver oil, containing just what has been said lately. It is just another one of those great inventions that is bound to revolutionize a certain branch of science. This time the science is that of saving lives. Hence the greater good that will be derived from this discovery. The Voegell Bros. Drug company of this city, who so fortunately succeeded in associating themselves with the prominent Boston firm, have indeed made their name one that will never be forgotten in our city.

DAILY HOUSEHOLD COLUMN. USING UP COLD MEATS. By Parker Quincy Adams. Copyright, 1901. French cooks are famous for the inimitable fashion in which they work over scraps of food into dishes which are toothsome, if deceptive. Nothing is so common as to be invited to a French household, but everything is attractively dressed up and cooked to the perfection point. The English pride themselves upon knowing a few things about the utilization of cold meats, and from them are obtained the following recipes. They are plain in direction and simple to carry out.

Beef Olives—Use the remains of the morning left over from the roast, if there is a half pound or more of it. Cut it into convenient pieces for rolling up, and rub them over with the yolk of a raw egg. Stir thickly with bread crumbs, a little marrow or butter, and a dash of cayenne pepper, and mix together. Mix well together and stir over the fire until quite hot, taking care it does not burn. Prepare the party pans in the usual way and bake them in a hot oven for a quarter of an hour, then fill with the hot mixture and serve.

MORMON BOOKS. Reading, Pa., Has Admitted Them in Its Public Library. Mormon missionaries laboring in Reading, Pa., and the vicinal, have secured consent from the directors of the public library in Reading to have some of their Mormon books placed on the library shelves. This has naturally excited indignation among the non-Mormon library directors, in justifying their action, seem to have the best of the argument. One of them says: "We cannot keep Catholic books out of our library in deference to the doctrine of a few Protestant readers, nor can we exclude Baptist literature because it might offend Episcopalians. It would be very narrow to allow no Buddhist works to appear on our shelves."

MAY HAVE BEEN DRUGGED. Bosschietter Case Perhaps in the New York Hotel Tragedy. New York, Jan. 22.—In the death of the young woman who was found dead in a room in Trabant's hotel at 100 Broadway and twenty-second street, and Amsterdam avenue Sunday night, the police express the opinion that they have a murder case in some respects like that of Jennie Bosschietter, the Paterson factory girl, the coroner's physician made an autopsy on the girl's body, and he was inclined to believe that she died of chloral poisoning. The police theory is that the only man who is believed to have been with her, and that, frightened by the result, he took what was left of the poison himself, meaning to commit suicide. There is nothing, however, to show that it is not a case of a double attempt at suicide, which only the man has survived.

See Show Windows, Sixth and Nicollet. MORE TALK OF SHAW. Boss Platt Said to Prefer Him Above "Teddy." IOWAN SURE-ENOUGH CANDIDATE. Attitude of the Opposition is Not Worrying Him—A Favorite in South Dakota. Special to The Journal. Dubuque, Iowa, Jan. 22.—The continued discussion of the Titus constitutional amendment has awakened as much interest, politically, as would the near approach of a state nominating convention. Then the injection of the proposition for a third term for Governor Shaw by a Des Moines paper, has added a new phase to the situation, and has set politicians to guessing. The paper making the suggestion, claims to have taken up its own motion, but that is not generally accepted. In fact, letters had been received from Washington relative to a third term for Shaw, and the subject was discussed at the hotels and state house several days before it was sprung by the local paper. It is well known that a newspaper man who had been in South Dakota called upon the governor and told him of his visit and the sentiment there. "The prairies are after you for president," said the newspaper man speaking of the sentiment of the country.

MONUMENT FOR BLAIR. A Revolutionary Soldier Who is Buried in Iowa Soil. Special to The Journal. Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 22.—When spring comes it is possible, the descendants in Iowa of William Blair, who fought in the revolutionary army under Washington, will gather about his grave in Round Prairie cemetery, fellow Springs township, Des Moines county, to get the monument which will tell that there lies one of the soldiers of the revolution. Blair is the only Revolutionary soldier buried in Iowa with the exception of a vaguely traditional person by name of Shepard. It is said that Shepard was buried somewhere near Donaldson in Van Buren county, but the record is indefinite. There is nothing indefinite regarding William Blair. His descendants are numerous in and about Sioux City. He drew a pension until his death in 1840 for wounds received in revolutionary battles. The papers on which payments were made have been secured by J. C. Heizer of this city, his grandson.
