The Ladies' Shakspeare Club held its annual banquet this afternoon in the Floralium room at the Commercial Club. Covers were laid for 75. The long table was adorned with clusters of pink roses and smilax. Mrs. George F. Edwards presided over the toasts and the responses were witty and bright. Mrs. Charles S. Wallace spoke for "The Club," Mrs. Charles H. Peake, "The New Woman," Mrs. H. C. Merriam, "Our Presiding Officers"; Mrs. Byron Sutherland and Mrs. A. H. Horton spoke for the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. J. T. Moore spoke of the work of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Charles Gutgesell gave a sketch of George Ade and his "Fables in Slang"; Mrs. George C. Farhan, a review of "The Archbishop and the Lady," and Mrs. C. S. Buck spoke on "Genial Humor and Aggressive Wit." Mrs. Alice Miller Grove gave a recitation, "The Philina." A debate on the question, "Is College Education Desirable for Girls?" was participated in by Misses Frank Stacy, E. L. Norton, Edson S. Gaylord, M. E. Stillwagen, Charles E. Dickinson and W. H. Lovells.

Miss Amelia Rippe will give a concert the last of February in the Unitarian church. Miss Rippe recently returned from Germany. This will be her only appearance in Minneapolis, as she will return to Germany shortly to fill a grand opera engagement.

G. W. E. Hill of Iowa will give a series of temperance lectures in the city under the auspices of the Good Templars. The first will be held this evening in Riverside chapel, Twenty-third avenue E. and Twenty-and-a-half street, and will be illustrated by the stereopticon.

A lecture on "The Life and Reign of Queen Victoria" will be given by Rev. T. E. Archer, pastor, at 8 o'clock in the Twenty-fourth street M. E. church, by Rev. T. E. Archer, pastor.

CHANGE CONSTITUTION
Woman's Council Goes Back to the Monthly Meetings.
The Woman's Council, at its regular January parliament Saturday, changed its constitution and went back to the old plan of monthly meetings throughout the year, with the exception of August, July and June. A committee will decide upon the place of meeting for the year. The following standing committees were announced by Mrs. W. M. Hopkins, the chairman: Reception, Mrs. E. G. Evans, J. E. Bell, C. W. Gardner, D. O. Thomas and Miss E. E. Kenyon; credentials, Misses Laura Tinsley, E. S. Otis and Alice Young; finance, Mrs. C. A. H. Peake, E. W. Gould, press, Misses A. M. Keller, J. T. Quibay and Miss M. S. Anderson; nominations, Misses W. O. Winston, T. J. Jansy, O. J. Griffin; program, Mrs. J. Evans, S. W. Fluke, J. Doway, J. H. Marshall and Miss O. A. Evers; constitution, Misses M. B. Lewis, J. C. Buchanan, E. M. La Penotiere.

Several portions of the program had to be omitted owing to illness among the members. Mrs. C. W. Coo gave a report on the hospitals of the city, showing their inadequacy to meet the needs and suggesting that this could be met by organizing a hospital subject and the council passed a resolution endorsing a movement to secure such an institution.

The Bethel Settlement.
Miss Katherine Guthrie of Bethel Settlement spoke in behalf of the women who work by the day, bespeaking for them more thoughtful treatment. She asked the women to try to engage the same woman regularly and to help her by showing her how the work should be done, to see that she had sufficient hearty food, to be satisfied with an eight-hour day, and not to give her old clothes in much sympathy help. She also asked her self-respect and her pride in her children's appearance.

Miss Neva Chappell told of the plans and success of the new nominating committee, which has been provided especially for the girls in factories. Miss Martha Scott Anderson outlined the ideal factory conditions that are so nearly fully realized in the plant of the Great Western Paper Company in Dayton, Ohio, where it is found that the best possible sanitary conditions, short hours and good wages bring a handsome annual return.

Musical numbers were furnished by Miss Edna Chamberlain, accompanied by Mrs. John Harris Clark, and Mrs. E. W. French, accompanied by Mrs. Harry W. Jones.

The Arts and Crafts society held a special meeting last night to work on arrangements for the exhibition next week. They received a report on the progress made by the high school pupils, to announce the exhibition, and some of these will be very interesting and ingenious. The entries are nearly completed and the catalogue will go to press to-morrow. The private view will be held Tuesday evening, Feb. 5, and the exhibition will be open to the public Wednesday morning.

LIBERAL UNION ANNUAL Reports Show Liberal Churches of State Gaining Strength.
The Liberal Union of Minnesota Women held its annual meeting in the Church of the Redeemer to-day. Mrs. Horace Lamb presented a report of the work of the Unitarian churches in the state, which is stronger and more vigorous than a year ago. There are churches in Adrian, Duluth, Luverne, Fargo, New Ulm, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Spring Valley, Winona, and Stillwater, Falls, Eau Claire and Sioux Falls. The property of the First Unitarian church, Minneapolis, is valued at $50,000, and the amount raised last year was about $1,000. Next year the church in Minneapolis has property valued at $12,000, and the amount raised was about $500. Mrs. Martin gave a report of the Unitarian convention in St. Paul, Nov. 15.

Mrs. M. D. Shutter was unanimously chosen president for the coming year. The vice presidents from the different liberal churches were reported as follows: First Unitarian, Mrs. W. C. Hodder; All Souls church, Mrs. J. S. Haynes; Tuttle Universalist, Mrs. E. A. Gilman; Unity church, St. Paul, Mrs. Thomas Yapp; Universalist Church of the Redeemer, St. Paul, Mrs. Horace Lamb.

A PITHY STATEMENT.

Mr. T. Voegell Gives An Apt Illustration.
His Views on Vinol Worth Learning.

This is the Preparation That Is Being Much Talked About.

A reporter asked Mr. T. Voegell of the Voegell Bros. Drug company the same question that hundreds have asked him in the last few days. "Just tell me precisely, please, why Vinol is better than cod liver oil?"

"Mr. Voegell, reply in general way: 'You have given me a rather difficult task. I can explain to you in a few minutes the advantages of Vinol, but to do it in half a dozen words would hardly be possible. Perhaps I can illustrate its uses, however, in a brief manner. Suppose you had never seen a hen's egg. A man who knew of them should tell you to eat three every day. I do not say that you would mind you, but I am inclined to believe at the start you would make a heroic effort to get away with the whole thing, shell and all. The meat of the egg would be what you needed, the shell rather superfluous. In fact, as a matter of nourishment not quite the thing for your stomach."

"There you are with cod liver oil. In it you have a medicine, or rather in the liver of a live cod there is a medicine known to be valuable for certain forms of wasting disease, a great reconstructer. Doctors have administered it for years. They were like the man who had never seen an egg before. They gave it to their patients just as they found it, shell and all. Yes, it is exactly it. The greatest was useless and as bad for the stomach, almost, as would have been the shell of the egg. The kernel, or the meat of the remedy, the vital principles that were after, were contained in the cod liver oil. The kernel done exactly what the man with the egg might have done—found a way to separate the healthful interior from the worthless husk."

"Now we have the active medical principles of the cod's liver. We have thrown away the useless encumbrances that formerly encloaked it, namely, the objectionable fat. We have taken this extract, placed it in a delicious table wine, and there you are. Patients who have needed cod liver oil and could not take it have no trouble in taking Vinol. Why, you would enjoy drinking it yourself, so pleasant is it. It did not tell you was any better than a mild table wine. If you needed it, however, for a medicine, you would find it to be something different. The medicinal properties of the cod's liver fat damage done by dyspepsia, that are of a wasting nature, these same principles are active disease germ annihilators. They work on the stomach and obtain nutrition for the body. These same principles are active disease germ annihilators."

"Yes, I am glad to have you come any time that you care to learn anything more about Vinol. It has already proved itself to be a winner."

presented an interesting account of the Minnesota state public school at Owatonna. The school, 24 years old, has been built and is now being used by the citizens of Owatonna, and eleven buildings. The idea of home life is the basis of the training and the children are taught that they must care for themselves and be dependent on the state. The system is preventive rather than reformative. It is fourteen years since the school was opened and 1,820 children have been cared for. All but 240 of them have returned homes. The parents relinquish all rights to the child when he enters the school and the object of the institution is to find a home for him. Only a small proportion of the children are orphaned. The children are placed in homes through the medium of the school the state still keeps in touch with them and over 1,500 children are visited every year.

G. O. Winter read a paper, "Tennyson's Religion." A short discussion followed and the meeting adjourned for the social hour, which is a pleasant feature of the gatherings.

Education for Citizenship.
The Woman's League of the National Junior Republic is now well organized and its work definitely entered upon. This is to educate boyhood girls in their own homes, to the hope and expectation that eventually the present unsatisfactory system of reform schools and houses of correction may be done away with. Its board of directors and its present representatives are: Mrs. J. H. Burdick, president; Mrs. J. H. Burdick, secretary; Mrs. H. B. Sperry, treasurer; Mrs. John L. McNeil, the vice president for Iowa is Mrs. David B. Henderson, wife of the late U. S. Senator; Mrs. J. H. Burdick, wife of Senator Burrows. It is hoped to enroll a large membership to create a fund for work. Annual membership dues are one dollar. Five dollars pays for an associate membership, and fifty dollars makes one a life member.

Club Notes.
The L. R. C. will meet with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Goodrich at 7 o'clock. A banquet will be served and a program given.

The Women's Missionary Society of the presbytery of Minneapolis will hold its all-day prayer meeting in Andrew church, Bell street and Eighth avenue S., this evening.

Mrs. Lena Mason will begin her evangelistic tour at 7 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, 17th and Hennepin streets. Miss Catherine Guthrie gave personal reminiscences of Salt Lake City and the Mormon people.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT
Singing of "Mr. and Mrs. Henschel Greatly Enjoyed Last Night."
The Philharmonic Club gave its second concert of the season last night and treated its members to the perennial delight of hearing Mr. and Mrs. George Henschel, whose incomparable art gives complete satisfaction to the keenest critic as well as unalloyed pleasure to the masses. The Westley church was completely filled with a critical audience which was also a thoroughly appreciative one. As it was impossible for the club to offer the public any opportunity of hearing Mr. and Mrs. Henschel in Minneapolis, owing to the limited capacity of the church, they engaged them for a second concert to be given to-night at the People's church in St. Paul, at which a song program will be given.

It is scarcely necessary to tell Minneapolis people that Mr. and Mrs. Henschel are artists of rare perfection, but those who did not hear them will be interested to know that they retain all of their former powers of charming and inspiring their audiences by their authoritative but wholly simple and unaffected singing of songs and ballads. These songs and ballads are well adapted to their make no claim to vocal greatness, but in their masterly interpretations and exquisite art greatness has universally been attributed to them. Their field is not a wide one, but within it they are masters. As always, Mr. Henschel's accompaniments awakened deep admiration and revealed the important part these may play in an artistic and harmonious singing to one's own accompaniment that offsets all disadvantages.

Mr. Henschel's solos were "Saul's Dream" from "King Saul" by E. H. Hubert Parry and two ballads in German by Loewe, "Henry the Fowler" and "Prinz Eugen." All had considerable dramatic quality, such as Mr. Henschel delights to represent, and the last was very spirited. For an encore he gave what was his finest number, that greatest of dramatic ballads, "Eri-Koenig," in which the wonderful play of emotion was interpreted with splendid realism. Mrs. Henschel's songs were light and dainty and were sung with charming color and a sympathetic manner. Her selections were "Mignon's Song," Liszt; a delightful song by Mr. Henschel, "No More"; "Griegueuse," by Massenet, which has an effect of lace-like delicacy, and "Send Me a Lover," a seventeenth century ballad.

The two duet numbers were very effective and brilliant, being the quaint quarrel scene from "I Traci Amanti" by Cimarosa, with its curious adaptation of the melody to the sound of the words, and the duet burlesque from "Don Pasquale," by Donizetti, full of fun and exhilarating dash.

The Philharmonic chorus presented a fine appearance, the young women in white gowns encircling the male chorus, which was not less brightly arrayed in their blue and gold uniforms. The performance of Verdi's "Stabat Mater," which was the chief choral number. In this the religious fervor and pathos was expressed with power and delicacy and the nobility of the solemn music was well interpreted. Sullivan's "O, Hush Thee, My Baby," was sung with fine shading and sympathy and received an encore. The director, Emil Ober-Hofer, had fine control over the chorus, especially in bringing out the varied emotions of the great Latin hymn. Miss Eulalie Chenevert presided at the piano and W. S. Marshall at the organ, giving excellent support to the club.

DAILY HOUSEHOLD COLUMN
FOWL WITH RICE

By Parker Quincy Adams.
Copyright, 1901.

The use of rice with fowl is not so general as it should be; in fact, rice prepared either of the many forms is too much neglected by most housewives. Rice is an excellent substitute for potatoes, and is particularly desirable when borders are desirable in meat-dishes. A whole page could be written on the treatment and use of rice, but one recipe is enough in this connection.

Boiled Fowl and Rice—Truss the fowl and put it into a stewpan, with sufficient clear, well-skimmed mutton broth to cover it. Add two onions, two small blades of mace, pounded, and a seasoning of pepper and salt. Stew very gently for about one hour, should the fowl be large, and about half an hour before it is ready to serve put in the rice, which has been well washed and soaked. When the rice has become tender strain it from the liquor and put it on a sieve, reversed, to dry before the fire, but keep the fowl hot. Dish it, border it with rice, pour on a little chopped parsley and melted butter and send the gravy to the table in a tureen.

Baked Halibut with Pea Puree—Put about three pounds of halibut on the rack in a baking pan, brush with butter and dredge with salt. Set in the oven, and after ten or fifteen minutes add a cupful of boiling water. Baste frequently with a dredging of flour after each basting and cook until the central bone separates easily from the flesh. Remove the skin and bone and decorate with a puree of peas made by draining a can of peas, letting them stand in boiling water for five minutes, draining again and passing of half a lemon poured around.
