

MARKET

Unheard of Low Prices on Dried Fruits.

5-lb. of good Evaporated Peaches for 25c. 25-lb. box fancy Peaches, lb. 75c. Good California Prunes, lb. 25c.

2-lb. wooden boxes of the Genesee free running salt for salt shakers and salt cellars—it's a splendid article and a splendid bargain at 6c per box.

Washing Powder, two pkgs for 5c. These are very cheap.

Fine quality Sugar Corn, can. 5c. Strictly Fresh Eggs, doz. 17c. Rolled Oats, lb. 12c.

Potatoes Full bush 48c. Compare our bushels with the measure you get elsewhere.

Beans Good navy, quart. 7c. Very Fine Creamery butter, lb. 22c.

Fresh Dairy Butter 14c to 20c. Tomato Catsup, quart. 12c.

American Pickles Per bottle 8c. Pickles Cross & Blackwell's, quart. 48c.

Fruit Jelly Pure, per quart. 10c. Mince Meat Star, package. 6c.

Coffee. We offer better Coffees for the price asked than can be had anywhere in this country. Try us.

Fine Santos and Golden Rio blend, some dealers call it Mocha and Java. 15c.

Robal Java flavor, 22c. Hoffman House at any price. 30c.

Teas Per pound 35c up. The Minarda Per pound 60c.

Alloerine Per pound 60c. Inventory Clearance Sale.

2-lb can Macaroni and Cheese, can. 11c. Pepsalt, bottle, 15c.

2-lb can Sunnyside Soup, can. 7c. 1-lb Devil's Crabs, can. 18c.

Nelson Gelatin, package 9c. Hoffman's Cream Starch, package No. 1 Rice Starch, package 7c.

Ricena, package 7c. Washburn's Oats, package 8c.

Campbell's Jelly, glass 12c. Corn Poppers, each 12c.

Hoyt's Clothes Pins, dozen 3c. Dish Mops, each 5c.

Electric Cloths, each 10c. Window Cleaners, each 20c.

Savon de la Rose Soap, cake 10c. Maysop Soap, cake 10c.

Proteoline, for frosting cake 7c. Richelieu Jams, very fine, jar 21c.

Snyder Catsup, bottle 20c. Sawyer's Blueing, box 1c. 2c.

No. 2 Sun Chimneys, each 4c. Chopping Bowls, each 3c, 4c, 14c.

Red Star Sisa Salt, 20c. Snow Shovels, each 3c.

Towel Racks, each 3c. Anise Seed, lb 9c.

Sorlander Seed, lb 5c. Rape Seed, lb 5c.

50-ft Cotton Clothes Line, each 7c.

HIGH GRADE DENTISTRY. 520 SYNDICATE ARCADE. LENOX AND STEIRLY. MODERATE CHARGES.

STRANGE INSTRUMENTS. Tyroleans Will Use Them at the Y. M. C. A. To-night.

The audience that assembles at Y. M. C. A. hall to-night will be treated to a novel, unique and refreshing entertainment by the Royal Tyrolean Concert Troupe.

The company appears in native costumes and sings the native Hungarian, Styrian and Tyrolean songs.

THE WEATHER. The Predictions. Minnesota—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday with snow flurries in east portion; warmer to-night; fresh southerly winds.

Wisconsin—Generally fair to-night and Thursday except snow in north portion Thursday; slowly rising temperature; winds becoming fresh southerly.

Michigan—Generally fair to-night and Thursday; warmer to-night and possibly in northeast portion Thursday; southerly winds.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair to-night and Thursday; warmer in east and central portions to-night; colder in west portion Thursday; fresh south to west winds.

Montana—Generally fair to-night and Thursday; cooler in west portion to-night and in east portion Thursday; westerly winds.

For Minneapolis and Vicinity—Fair to-night and Thursday; warmer to-night.

Table with 2 columns: City and Minimum Temperatures. Includes Minneapolis, Davenport, Port Arthur, Detroit, Marquette, Green Bay, Chicago, Houghton, Cleveland, Calgary, Kamloops, Minnesota, Qu'Appelle, Winnipeg, Omaha, Moorhead, Williston, Knoxville, Cincinnati, New York, Charleston, Montgomery, Shreveport, Havre, Miles City, Lander, North Platte, Dodge City, Abilene, Santa Fe, Portland, Los Angeles.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS CONVENTION. The annual convention of the Woman's Relief Corps of Minnesota will be held in Central Protestant church at St. Paul, March 12 and 13, and will be preceded by a reception at the Metropolitan Hotel on the 11th.

Once tried, always used. The Minneapolis & St. Louis road to Omaha!

Your Choice of 50 New Upright Pianos for rent at $3.50, $4 and $5 a month. One year's rent allowed if you decide to purchase.

FOSTER & WALDO, 40 Fifth St. So., Cor. Nicollet.

THE CITY

TOWN TALK

Dr. G. G. Eitel changed his residence from 101 West Hotel. With every loaf of Rogan's bread sold on Thursday, you can get a good picture. Ask your grocer for it.

Baron's you can get a good second-hand trunk here. They have been repaired and are as good as new. Trade your old trunk for new, 404 Nicollet.

The annual city survey for home missions will be observed to-morrow at Bethesda Lutheran church, beginning at 10 a. m. Basket lunch will be served.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts of 217 Seventeenth avenue S. died last night. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. to-morrow from the Welch church, Franklin and Seventeenth avenues S.

Ishwara Theosophical society will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening in the country, and writes glowing letters as to the improvement in his health.

Postmaster S. B. Loevey is enjoying his vacation in Santa Fe hugely. He is taking the train in the shape of horseback excursions in the country, and writes glowing letters as to the improvement in his health.

The Minnesota Phenological Association will meet Friday at 2 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. R. B. Rugg, vice-president; Mrs. W. J. Laikin, secretary and treasurer. The lesson for Friday is "The Phenological Year."

Judge Lochren has issued a warrant for the removal of Gideon Dasher, Sioux Indian, from St. Paul to Sioux Falls, where he has been indicted for raising a money order from $3.88 to $14.89. Dasher was arrested near Bear Island.

The High Ward Retail Grocery Clerks' association was entertained at a shined wheat banquet by the Shredded Wheat Biscuit Co. at the Nicollet avenue last evening. Over 100 clerks were present. A menu of eleven courses was served.

All of the prisoners at the county jail at St. Paul will be moved to the temporary jail on the fourth floor of the courthouse. The old jail will then be turned over to the contractors for shooting cells and the women's ward are now ready for occupancy.

Dr. F. Howard Taylor of London, England, speaks at the university Thursday and Friday morning. He is a member of the movement for foreign missions, is at the instigation of Dr. Taylor is recognized as a learned authority on Chinese affairs.

The inspection of factories in the twin cities has led to the issuing of orders for the bettering of the sanitary conditions in a number of places. In one Midway factory, there were fourteen orders issued. Department stores inspected and shooting cells and bakeries will be attended to this week.

Company B expects to attend the Pan-American exposition, and a meeting will be held in the armory Saturday evening to discuss ways and means. The exposition board has announced a series of competitive military shooting contests, in which Company B will participate.

Frank Young and Mrs. John Kessel, who expected to be married a week ago, had planned to commit suicide last week, when they were found by the police. Mr. Young had purchased a revolver with which to do the deed, so the story goes. On an adjoining table was found a note in order to make the performance complete. The arrival of Mr. Kammerlöhner, Mrs. Young's brother, and the others, thwarted the plan.

The Luncheon Idea. The traditional conservatism of the board asserted itself a little earlier in the meeting on an unusual proposition put forward by Principal Hobbs and the teachers of the North high school. They believe it is high time to educate the pupils in the science of dietetics as well as along the present popular lines, and take the stand that a good, wholesome lunch, prepared and served at the building, is the proper initial method of instruction. They are weary of the everlasting lunch menu of pie, cake, doughnuts and other similar abominations. There is a room in the basement of the building available for this purpose, Mr. Hobbs explained in his communication to the board, and he only awaited their permission before inaugurating the new regime.

Messrs. Hawley and McMillan thought this was such a good movement that there ought to be no delay in starting it. They wanted the matter referred to the rules committee with power to act. The others, however, while agreeing that it was apparently a wise move, insisted upon the matter taking the usual course. So the rules committee will investigate the project and report to the board at a meeting to be held next week. The opinion was expressed that if it proved a success at the North high school, the other high schools, and possibly some of the upper grade schools, would follow suit.

Alderman E. C. Chadfield made complaint to the board of the unsanitary condition and poor ventilation of the Motley school. Dr. R. O. Beard reported for the medical board that Drs. J. C. Cockburn, S. P. Ross and O. K. Richardson have been added to the next five vacancies which occur on the board of physicians shall be filled by homeopaths, there being but five out of fifty-two at present.

Acting upon a request from Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rockwood, the board voted to accept a statue of Minerva and a cast of a bust of Virgil given to the North Side high school by Mr. and Mrs. Rockwood in memory of their son Paul of the class of 1901.

Superintendent Jordan's Report. Superintendent Jordan reported the enrollment for the year from September up to Feb. 15, to be 36,084, which is but 82 short of the entire enrollment of last year; called attention to a week and a half spent by Mrs. Freese instructing teachers without expense to them or the board; to the advisability of making an exhibit at the Pan-American exposition; stated that the Colonial D. A. R. prizes have been awarded.

Changes in Personnel. Teachers appointed for the remainder of the year are Miss Beesie Upton and Mrs. Louise Bartwell Crosby. Leave of absence was granted, without salary, to Mary J. Stevens, South Side high, for one year; Ella Norris, Lyndale, one month; Bonnie Snow, supervisor, one week.

Martha Bredt, daughter of Frank and Hattie Funk, Garfield to Sheridan; Lola Hine, Sumner to Longfellow. The teachers appointed are: Louise King, Blaine; Florence Benson, Calhoun; Hesting Shannon, Prescott. The supervisors elected are: Mrs. Alice W. Cooley, primary; Bonnie E. Snow, drawing; Helen W. Teske, music; J. E. Painter, manual training; M. Emma Roberts, assistant, drawing.

The total expense for February, including salaries, was $98,968.57.

THE LEIPSI PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

Hans Winderstein's Celebrated Organization Which Is to Give a Series of Concerts in Minneapolis—Its American Tour Begins in New York This Week—Great European Success.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

HAVE ANOTHER TUFF

Board of Education Wrangles Over a Heating Plant.

THAT OF THE EAST HIGH SCHOOL.

Directors McMillan and Pratt Have a Lively Dispute—Changes in List of Teachers.

Director McMillan was one of the principals in another "scene" in the board of education yesterday afternoon. Though no longer a member of the building committee, he apparently feels the responsibility belonging to membership on that committee and is not at all backward about speaking up when he believes there is occasion for it.

His differences with his fellow members of the board arose this time over the proposition to allow the final $500 on the contract for the heating plant at the new East high school. There was a plant costing about $15,000. Mr. McMillan explained, and it was the part of business wisdom to put it as a thorough test before finally accepting it. Besides the specifications required it, he believed in making contractors live up to the very letter of the specifications. The board had been too easy in such matters heretofore, he declared. He had noticed, he said, that nine times out of ten when there was a point in the specifications at all in doubt the board gave the contractors the benefit of the doubt.

McMillan is fired. "Now, I am tired of this way of doing business," said he. "The board of education should be just as strict in these matters as business men are in their own operations." Mr. McMillan insisted that the plant should be tested by experts before it was accepted.

Director Pratt took the lead in replying in such a manner heretofore, he declared. He had noticed, he said, that nine times out of ten when there was a point in the specifications at all in doubt the board gave the contractors the benefit of the doubt.

Changes in Personnel. Teachers appointed for the remainder of the year are Miss Beesie Upton and Mrs. Louise Bartwell Crosby. Leave of absence was granted, without salary, to Mary J. Stevens, South Side high, for one year; Ella Norris, Lyndale, one month; Bonnie Snow, supervisor, one week.

Martha Bredt, daughter of Frank and Hattie Funk, Garfield to Sheridan; Lola Hine, Sumner to Longfellow. The teachers appointed are: Louise King, Blaine; Florence Benson, Calhoun; Hesting Shannon, Prescott. The supervisors elected are: Mrs. Alice W. Cooley, primary; Bonnie E. Snow, drawing; Helen W. Teske, music; J. E. Painter, manual training; M. Emma Roberts, assistant, drawing.

The total expense for February, including salaries, was $98,968.57.

THE LEIPSI PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA. Hans Winderstein's Celebrated Organization Which Is to Give a Series of Concerts in Minneapolis—Its American Tour Begins in New York This Week—Great European Success.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

While the Gewandhaus orchestra is the greatest musical center of Europe. One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.

Hans Winderstein, the famous orchestral conductor, and a man of large wealth, who organized, maintains and conducts the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra.

The announcement that the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra is to appear in Minneapolis under the auspices of the Institute of Arts and Letters, has created considerable interest among those conversant with things musical, and a little misunderstanding as well. There are two such organizations in Leipzig, one of the greatest musical centers of Europe.

One of these is the Leipzig Philharmonic Orchestra, which is making the present tour, and the other, the Gewandhaus orchestra, conducted by Nikisch, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra. Nikisch and Winderstein have repeatedly exchanged places, each directing the other's orchestra.