OPTIONS ON NORTH SIDE LOTS

General Manager Scott While Denying Definite Location Yet Admits Intention to Expand.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, part of the North-Western system, has about concluded negotiations for the purchase of a large amount of property in North Minneapolis...

The property will be bought with an eye to the future. For the present the Omaha is interested solely in increasing their freight and truckage facilities in Minneapolis...

These improvements will cost between $75,000 and $100,000. W. A. Scott, general manager of the road, while insisting that there is no foundation for the report that the company will spend possibly $100,000 provided we can secure suitable property...

HEAVY RAIN

Scorcher who Imperils Life and Limb Must Go.

MAYOR AMES HAS SO DECREED

No Riding Faster Than a Walk Will Be Permitted at Street Crossings.

The days of the scorcher are numbered in Minneapolis. Scorch he may on the streets, alleys, highways and thoroughfares of other cities, down country lanes and on saucer tracks, but he will not scorch on the down-town streets of Minneapolis...

"There will be no scorching in this town while I am mayor," said his honor at noon today. "No man on a bicycle is going to imperil life and limb by reckless riding. The practice has got to stop. In due time cast iron instructions will be laid down to every policeman, that no large wheel or small wheel shall be allowed at street crossings. That is a rather slow gait, I suppose, for a bicycle, but it goes."

The Doctor Amazed—"I have been amazed," continued the doctor after turning to shake hands with a plain clothes man who had not inquired concerning the mayor's health since the doctor's return from West Baden...

Recalls Miss Peck's Death. The mayor added that he remembered very distinctly a awful fate of Miss Peck at Detroit, who was run down and killed by a scorcher last year.

system. Two men could do all the work and do it thoroughly. They would be able to visit and carefully inspect each dairy at least once every month. The state dairy and food commission has been doing work along this line for some years, but necessarily it cannot do it as thoroughly and systematically as the city could.

HE DOESN'T KNOW IT—Vice President Day of the M. & St. L. Not Informed of Combine.

THE OLD ILLINOIS CENTRAL STORY—So Far as He Knows Neither St. Louis Nor Iowa Central Has Been Absorbed.

If there is any truth in the persistent rumor to the effect that the Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Iowa Central properties are to be leased by the Illinois Central, the local management of the two erstwhile roads knows nothing of it.

While it is possible that Edwin Hawley and the other high officers and owners of the properties in question would not deem it necessary to let Mr. Day fully advised as to their transactions in Wall street, it would seem that if any such important business was in hand as the leasing or selling of the two roads, it would be well to let Mr. Day know something about it, and he says he does not—knows nothing whatever.

Anything Can Be Sold. As to the probability or possibility of the two properties being purchased, Mr. Day says that the recent sale of the Southern Pacific, the second largest railroad property in the country, shows that anything can be sold, and that the Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Iowa Central are no exception.

There is one significant thing to be considered in connection with the rumors concerning the properties in which Mr. Day is interested. They are both splendid money-makers, and under their present management have been given a great impetus in the last twelve months, and the management has been encouraged to arrange for still further improvements this year.

One of the important improvements planned for this season is a large warehouse in Minneapolis. This building will contain a number of offices and will be a valuable acquisition to the St. Louis yards.

Mr. Day says no extensions are planned by the Minneapolis & St. Louis people for this year.

BOERS AT THE CAPITOL—THEY ADDRESS THE SENATE—The Situation in South Africa Is Looked Upon by Them as Hopeful.

Two Boer missionaries are in St. Paul today. They are P. L. Wessels, a brother of the peace evener, and Hercules D. Viljoen, a former field cornet in the Orange Free State army.

These two gentlemen are touring the country in the interest of the destitute families of the Boer soldiers who were killed in the South African war.

They visited the city last afternoon under the care of Senator Stockwell, who was introduced to the senate by Senator Schaller. They were loudly applauded. Mr. Wessels said the people of the Orange Free State had created their country out of a howling wilderness and were entitled to the fruits of their labor; they were not ignorant or barbarous; one-third of the revenues of the state were devoted to the education of the children, and there were no religious restrictions whatever. He declared that in spite of the messages from South Africa the Boer position had never been better.

He contended that the Boer position was no more hopeless than was George Washington's in the revolutionary war. They believed they were laying the foundation of liberty in South Africa and if the struggle cost blood and money they were ready for the sacrifice. His remarks were often interrupted by applause.

Mr. Viljoen stated that the British subjects in the Transvaal never wanted citizenship, and that it could be proved that thousands of them refused it, hence the talk of the British of intolerance of the Boers was a misapprehension. He contended that the present armistice between Kitchener and Botha was sought by the English in violation of the Boers.

RADISON'S RING? The son of Henry Starn of Cochrane, Wis., while living at Pomme de Terre some years ago, found a peculiar ring. Taken in the light of the lecture of Warren Upham delivered before the Historical society on Monday night at St. Paul, it would appear that the ring belonged to the party of Radison, who explored what is now Minnesota in 1686, before Father Hennepin saw the Falls of St. Anthony.

The ring was found in a hole in the surface by heavy rains. It was much heavier than the finger ring used to-day. It had a large oblong hole in the center, and on the face of which extended diagonally a gold cross.

Baisden Addition

Is destined to have the greatest number of fine homes of any addition in the city. We are replating some of the blocks, making the lots from 60 to 85 feet front by 165 deep to a 20 foot alley. These lots, of course, will have the most building restrictions and will attract home seekers desiring to spend a good sum on their buildings.

For those who do not care to invest so much in a home and still wish to have first-class surroundings, we have other blocks, just as good, with lots about 50 feet front by 165 deep to a 20-foot alley. The prices of these are within the reach of those who wish to invest from $5,000 to $10,000 in their homes when completed.

Remember, we have made special arrangements to sell this property on very easy terms to responsible parties and furnish help in building.

To fully appreciate what great changes are to be made in this most desirable part of the city you should call at my office and see me for particulars.
