FIVE WERE WRECKED

A Bad Railroad Wreck in St. Paul This Morning.

AN ENGINE JUMPS THE TRACK

A Second Engine and Many Freight Cars Are Piled Up on It.

Five men were injured in a bad railroad wreck under the Mississippi street bridge in St. Paul at 9:30 this morning.

As a Wisconsin Central freight train drawn by two engines was entering the city, the first engine jumped the track. The second engine and a number of cars, rushing on, were thrown from the track and piled up in a heap.

The injured are: Thomas L. Plant, engineer, 197 Lyndale avenue N., Minneapolis, slight injuries. Thomas L. Plant, engineer, 625 Sixth street S., Minneapolis, slightly injured in the left leg. Emil Probst, 233 Cayuga street, St. Paul, slightly scalded. D. A. Woodbury, switchman, St. Paul, badly crushed under wreckage.

Tom Galvin, engineer, Case and Park streets, St. Paul, scalded and internally injured. The train was made up at Abbottsford, Wis., and was pulling up the heavy grade toward the Mississippi street bridge.

Another engine, a common switch engine, was put on in front of the regular engine to help pull it up the grade. Just as the switch engine reached the curve near the bridge it jumped the track and the regular engine, directly behind, knocked the switch engine directly across the track.

Galvin, the engineer of the first engine, and Probst, his fireman, were thrown under the wreckage and both men were fearfully cut and bruised. Woodbury, the switchman, was in the cab at the time of the accident and is perhaps the worst injured.

The engineer and fireman of the regular engine, Henry Doll and Thomas Lyndale, suffered only slight scratches, though violently shaken up. Doll was caught under the engine, and La Plant landed in the sandbank.

A number of horses in a car in the middle of the train were so badly injured that they had to be shot. The Margaret, Rondo and Central patrol wagons were soon on the spot and assisted in caring for the wounded, and in removing them to the hospital.

Engine companies Nos. 4 and 9 were called out and quenched the fire that had started in the wreckage. They also assisted in caring for the wounded. Both engines and many of the cars were totally wrecked and the loss is heavy.

NEW ORANGE ROUTE

Train Load of Oranges Via the Great Northern.

WILL REACH HERE FRIDAY NEXT

Only Nine Days From the Groves By Water and Rail—Important Experiment.

Fourteen carloads of oranges will arrive in Minneapolis, Friday, direct from Los Angeles, Cal., after a nine-days' run. The train left Seattle yesterday.

This phenomenal time is due to the fact that the train bearing the fruit is a special, and that it is necessary to get the oranges to market without any delay. The fruit was in fine condition when it left Los Angeles, but the shipment required fast time between the coast and here in order to reach the market in preservation since the tremendous haul of the Great Northern road which is handling the fruit train.

Shipment was made possible by the helplessness of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe roads, which have been unable to furnish cars for the big orange crop of the Pacific coast. The crop has tipped the scales for the last two seasons, and the conditions are such that other roads had to handle the fruit or leave it to rot in a market where there was no sale.

An Important Innovation. The traffic department of the Great Northern is deeply interested in its orange train, as on its safe and satisfactory condition depend many future shipments.

The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe roads have for years been operators in the California fruit belt, so say shippers and commission men, and but little attention has been paid to the proper care of the fruit. A constant growing local business has enlisted the attention of the western traffic officials who felt so sure of the eastern fruit business that they have been deaf to the demands for better service on the part of commission men. They had the shipments to make, and they would make them in the most ordinary manner.

The present shipment was made by steamer to San Francisco, where it was transferred to the steamer Umattila, which delivered the oranges to the Great Northern at Seattle.

BOARD OF EDUCATION HAS ONLY $50,000 FOR BUILDING.

THERE'LL BE NO NEW BUILDINGS

Board is Considering a Report From the Building Committee This Afternoon.

The board of education will have about $50,000 for building this year. This sum is quite inadequate to provide for the expanding wants of the schools in the matter of room, but the limit is set and the board purposed to make such use of the money as to assure accommodations for the largest possible number of pupils.

It has been decided to erect no new buildings this year and buy no sites, but spend the money for the present buildings and in erecting additions. The board is engaged this afternoon in considering a report from the building committee as to how the money can best be expended.

The committee, which consists of Directors Hicks and Pratt, made a tour of investigation in company with Architect Stebbins last Saturday. The committee recommends an eight-room addition to the Prescott school in Northeast Minneapolis; one of the same number of rooms to either the Monroe or Seward schools in South Minneapolis; three additional rooms in the basement of the Logan school in North Minneapolis; a basement room in the Van Cleave school in Northeast Minneapolis; and the completion of one more class and five more recreation rooms in the East high school. The above improvements will meet the most pressing needs of the schools and practically exhaust the building fund.

Prescott in a Bad Way. The Prescott district is perhaps the worst off of all. Here there are five outside annexes in use, none of them at all for school purposes. Next in importance to the Prescott district, there has been much complaint for two years past on account of crowded conditions. The committee could not agree on the location of the new eight-room addition. One wanted it at the Monroe school, the other at the Seward. The Monroe is now a sixteen-room building, the other twelve.

There is need, however, for additions to the Lyndale and Bremer schools, but the committee has decided that nothing can be done for them this year.

The additional room in the East high school will accommodate 200 pupils. The grades, seemingly, will be well provided for by the additional rooms in the Prescott and Van Cleave schools, but should the demand require it, the standard Marcy school will be opened either in whole or in part.

The pressure on the Central high will be relieved by the new room in the East high school, changing the Central school line from Tenth avenue S. to Chicago avenue. It is estimated that this will divert about 50 present Central pupils to the South high.

BROWN IS CLERK

Mayor Ames' Program Was Carried Out.

Only three of the board of corrections and charities, including the mayor, were present at last night's meeting. But they were enough to carry through the program mapped out by the mayor. Charles H. Brown, father of the mayor, was elected clerk of the board, to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mr. Owe, and John Ames, son of the mayor, was appointed assistant. The mayor's program was carried out by the board, and the mayor's duties at the city hospital. The latter's duties at the city hospital were carried out by the office and otherwise make himself useful. He will draw $20 per month, just half the sum he has been receiving in private employment. The salary question was unimportant. It was the discipline of the position that the boy needed. A resolution was passed directing the secretary to pay the county clerk $1750 for care of patients sent to the city hospital by the sheriff and the probate judge. Hitherto the city has cared for its county patients free of charge.

POLITICS AND LEGISLATION

A rumor has gone the rounds at the capitol to the effect that the Burleigh bill introducing the amendment to the constitution into effect immediately, and that Minnesota is entitled to nine congressmen at the coming session next December. If this were the case, Governor Van Sant would have to call special session at that point. It is the rumor in activity, and it is a matter of interest in order to complete the delegation.

The story is baseless, as the Burleigh bill does not go into effect until the next general election. The ground was given for the rumor in activity, and it is a matter of interest in order to complete the delegation.

The northern counties, it is believed, will bring out Senator Grindelund. Ezra Valentine of Breckridge will come in if he can get the vote. The B. C. R. & N. for the nomination, it will be hard to pick the winner. All three are strong men in their respective sections. Comstock is better known all over the district, but Valentine has the good many friends in his own district, and Eddy, and Grindelund's record in the legislature is known in his favor all over the Red River valley.

If the board of control bill passes in its present shape, as it is quite certain to do, the board of prison managers will go out of existence, and, among other duties, the board of control will have to assume the function of paroling prisoners from the penitentiary and the reformatory.

The Deming parole bill, which is now on the senate floor, will be passed through the house of representatives by the board of prison managers, with consent of the board of pardons. When both bills are finally passed, the prison managers will go out of existence and the power delegated by the Deming bill that board will be transferred to the board of control. The courts will, of course, take knowledge of the intent of the act, and its efficacy will not be impaired, but should the board of control bill pass first, the Deming bill ought to be amended and brought up to date.

The famous "dog bill," now in the hands of the governor for signature, is held by attorneys in the legislature to clearly invalidate the bill. It imposes a tax on dogs, and the proceeds are to go to a fund for disbursing farmers for sheep killed by dogs. It makes no difference whether a man's own dog kills the sheep, the state is to pay him for them. The bill was raised in the judiciary committee, but it was dropped because there is a demand for it in the country. It is quite certain that the courts will knock it out if it is ever tested.

Killed by a Falling Limb.

Special to The Journal. Fergus Falls, Minn., March 26.—Henry Cummings, of the town of Lada, died yesterday as the result of injuries received while at work in the woods, the limb of a tree falling and striking him on the head. The blow resulting in paralysis of practically his entire body. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and family. He was a member of the Workmen's lodge of Pelletier Rapids, and the funeral will be held under the auspices of that order. County Treasurer Butler reports tax collections amounting about $25,000 during his recent tour. The collection last year were about $25,000, the falling off being due to poor crops.

HOW THE TRUTH GOT IN THE WELL.

Chicago Times-Herald. "Pa," said little George, "how did truth get into the well?" "Oh, I don't know," his pa replied, "unless she was thrown in by some fellow who was expecting a visit from the tax assessor. Now keep quiet; I want to read about Mrs. Nation."

WE MUST HOLD CUBA

Organized to Secure the Release of What Dr. O. P. Sutherland Thinks Is the Wise Course.

HAS JUST RETURNED FROM CUBA

He Spent Four Weeks in the Island—Is of Pines Development.

Dr. O. P. Sutherland returned yesterday from a four weeks' sojourn in Cuba. He junketed around Havana several days, moved out into the interior a bit, got as near Governor General Wood as to see him step into his carriage and drive away, and finally went over to the Pinar del Rio with his wife, rode mule-back over half of the island.

Dr. Sutherland is one of a company of forty-five of the brave party of a tract of 22,000 acres of land in the Isle of Pines, and they purpose to develop its agricultural resources to the limit, and several members of the company, farmers from Iowa and Illinois, are already there engaged in actual farming operations.

U. S. Must Hang On.

Dr. Sutherland returns from Cuba convinced more than ever that there is but one course for the United States to take toward the island and that is exactly the course that it is now pursuing. The United States must hold the whip hand there or it is all up with suffering Cuba, he declares. The people are no more fit for self-government, he avers, than a lot of sixth grade school children are fitted to assume the management of municipal affairs in Minneapolis. Any such experiment would assuredly be disastrous. The people with property and education, and all with anything at stake, realize this and are going down on the matter of independence, knowing that it means anarchy in very short order.

One source needed to go to Cuba and see for himself to arrive at an opinion of what is the proper thing for this government to do in the present crisis," said he. "You can sit down and read your papers at home and learn all anybody can learn who is actually on the spot. I had my opinion of the situation, gained by reading the papers, and what I saw and learned by going down there has not changed it one bit."

Dr. Sutherland enjoyed the distinction of being driven about Havana by a southerner, James J. O'Connell, who has a rank of general in the Cuban revolutionary army.

A REGIMENTAL REUNION

THE FIFTEENTH HOLDS ITS FIRST Scattered the Attendance Will Be Large.

The members of the Fifteenth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry will hold their first reunion Wednesday evening in Alexander Hall, Sixth street between Nicollet and Hennepin avenues. The date chosen for the reunion is the anniversary of the muster out of the regiment at Augusta, Ga. Since that time no attempt has been made by the members of this regiment to hold a reunion, owing largely to the fact that the members who composed the rank and file of the Fifteenth were so widely scattered. This was due to the composition of the regiment, it being of purely volunteer or militia character, and having no connection with the state militia.

The committee in charge of the reunion is composed of Major James Elwin, Captain John P. King, and Lieutenant W. T. Coe, Quartermaster Sergeant E. J. McCall, Corporals Burke and Gallop for Minneapolis, Lieutenant Colonel Gunkler, Captain John P. King, and Lieutenant W. T. Coe. The committee has made every effort to reach as many members of the Fifteenth as possible and a large attendance both from the twin cities and the state at large is expected. Captain Gilmore of Pipestone will bring in his whole company. Company B of St. Paul will attend one hundred strong and Company A, I and K of Minneapolis will be well represented.

Major Elwin has arranged a unique and interesting vaudeville performance, including dancing by the Queen of the Midway, boxing, elog dancing and comic burlesques rendered by professional talent. Light refreshments will be served during the evening.

NOT MAD AT FLAMBEAUX

THOMAS H. SHEVLIN IS BACK Says Flambeaux May Not Have Wanted Him to Entertain Roosevelt.

Thomas H. Shevlin, republican national committeeman for Minnesota, who has just returned from a long absence in the east, expresses surprise at the empty show given by the Minneapolis Flambeaux club. Mr. Shevlin says that he has nothing against the Flambeaux. He supposes that the club is irritated because he entertained the Roosevelt club when both clubs were in Washington attending the inauguration. Mr. Shevlin belongs to the Roosevelt club, and, as he says, it was only natural that he should entertain it.

Mr. Shevlin finds the lumber trade good, especially in Nebraska and Kansas. The Minnesota delegation in congress are working together harmoniously and effectively and stating a good comment on their ability to get what they want. Moses Clapp will make a good senator, Mr. Shevlin thinks.
