SPORTS

Witnessed at the University Indoor Track Meet.

NO RECORDS WERE BROKEN But Some Were Crowded Close by Messrs. Tate and Pierce in Field Events.

The indoor track meet at the university armory was by far the most successful event of the kind ever held in the north-west. A full program of interesting events was carried out with scarcely a hitch and in excellent order.

The exciting events of the afternoon were the relay races. The first of these was the high school race, which was hotly contested between several high schools of the state.

Altogether the sport was fine and was enjoyed by a fairly large crowd, though not so large as the sport merited. The meet demonstrated one thing, however, and that is that the university's track athletes are in far better shape for the time of year than they were last year.

The results. The results of Saturday's events were as follows: Sixty-yard dash—Bockman, first; Crossett, second, Time, 6 4-5.

THIEF HAS A RECORD

Man That Stole the Gainsborough Portrait Just Discovered.

PICTURE ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Mr. Agnew Admits That the Famous Portrait Has Been Recovered.

New York, April 8.—Mystery no longer envelopes the identity of the man who stole the Gainsborough portrait of a Duchess of Devonshire from the art rooms of William Agnew & Sons in London.

After having the famous painting under his control for twenty-five years, lacking two months, Adam Worth, on March 25 of this year, returned it to Morland Agnew.

The man was born in New York, of parents of German descent, fifty-eight years ago. His father was a laborer, and was able to give his son a common school education.

But manual labor was not more to his liking than mental labor. The young man was hardly more than 19 before he became known to the police, according to their story, as one of the most skilled "pockets" in New York.

He was arrested several times, but the police were never able to adduce satisfactory proof of his guilt.

As a sneak thief and "second-story man" the young man met with varying fortunes for two or three years. There was at that time in New York a gang of bank sneak thieves, who had operated with a fair degree of success for some time.

The leader of this gang was noticed by the police, and he was arrested. He concluded that he needed just such a man in his gang.

The young thief had not been with the gang long before every member of it, as well as the police, realized that he was the brains of the outfit.

This young fellow, not quite 23 years old, was picking out the banks to be robbed after the bank sneak method.

He was the brains of the execution, and then saw to it that they were carried through.

Robert A. Pinkerton said that this man has been worth as much as a million dollars during the last few years, but that present he is comparatively poor, so that the reward for the return of the Gainsborough will come in handy.

He has been living in modest lodgings in London for the past three or four years.

Liverpool, April 8.—C. Moreland Agnew, upon his arrival here on the steamer Etruria this morning, admitted that he had the Gainsborough portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire. Mr. Agnew himself carried the picture ashore.

Washington, April 8.—Pensions granted: Minnesota—William E. Chaffee, Sleepy Eye, $8.

Washington, April 8.—A coterie of United States senators is credited, according to reports from New York, with having made fabulous winnings on the stock market, through the recent advance of Burlington, Northern Pacific and other so-called Granger road stocks.

Ex-Senator Wolcott of Colorado, who conducted negotiations on behalf of James J. Hill and J. Pierpont Morgan for the absorption of a majority of the stock of the Burlington, is said to have made over $1,000,000 in the market.

There may have been other lucky senators, but their names have not been disclosed.

It is stated that not one of the senators that invested has won less than $100,000.

CARLSON AT LIBERTY

Insane Man Who, While at Large, Once Before, Killed a Woman.

Special to The Journal. Fergus Falls, Minn., April 8.—Sheriff Sawyer has received a letter from the superintendent of the St. Paul insane hospital warning him to me on the lookout for Enoch Carlson, an insane patient who has just escaped and is supposed to be coming in this direction.

Carlson was committed from this county, and about two years ago escaped from the hospital here and went down to the farm of his former home near Vining. He entered a farmhouse, occupied by a family named Anderson, and while Mrs. Anderson was engaged in cooking breakfast, approached her from behind and struck her a blow on the head with a heavy jug, killing her instantly.

Judge Amidon of the United States court, in arguments in the case of the Dowagie Drill company, vs. the Cisapolis Drill company, Saturday, the Dowagie people claim that the drills manufactured by the Cisapolis people involve an infringement upon certain patent rights which they hold and are endeavoring to have the sale of the Cisapolis drills prohibited.

Judge Amidon issued an injunction some time ago but at the hearing dissolved this injunction upon the Cisapolis people, giving a bond in the sum of $20,000 to reimburse the Dowagie company in case its claims are well founded.

Boise, Idaho, April 8.—An attempt was made to wreck No. 1 west-bound short line passenger at Malad bridge, 100 miles east here. Ties were piled on the track. The engine was damaged, and brake beams were broken under some of the cars. It is believed that the ties were placed on the track by highwaymen.

METROPOLITAN RACES

Fancy Racers Getting Ready for the Opening.

New York, April 8.—The racing season on the Metropolitan tracks will be ushered in at Aqueduct one week from to-day.

Kinley Mack leads the field of handicap candidates. He has wintered exceptionally well and is stronger and more lusty in the wind and sun so far he has not won a race.

Instead, he goes sound and strong. Ethelbert will hardly take the flag before the suburban races. Perry Belmont, his owner, is anxious to win the suburban event, and the horse is receiving a special preparation for it.

Prince of Melbourne divided the championship honors of the 3-year-olds with W. C. Whitney's Kilmarnock last season. He has improved considerably in appearance during the winter let-up. Imp will not be ready for the bugle call till late in the season.

Voter, James R. Keene's crack sprinter, is training down at Brookdale, N. J. Like the majority of the Keene horses, he has improved in looks during a let-up in training. He has all his old speed.

The 2-year-old entered in the big handicap, Beau Gallant, Bellario and All Green are the most prominent. The first two are owned by Richard Croker, who bought them last fall after they had won a number of high-class races. Bellario is being "drummed" along in his work. His first effort this season will probably be in the Metropolitan handicap. All Green will start in the Metropolitan unless something unforeseen crops up. He has worked well and is fast.

A GREAT PITCHER

Minnesota Boy Surprises Them All in New York.

Baseball writers and college men in the east are making much ado over Henry Thielman, who pitched for the Minnesota "A" nine last season and is now with Manhattan college in New York.

The famous Princeton team made but five hits off his delivery. He is expected to lead the Manhattanites to victory in their games with Columbia, Yale and Harvard.

The World says that with a little experience in the "big show" he will develop into as good a pitcher as there is in the National League.

Thielman possesses that one great essential that goes to make up a good twirler—a cool head. His excellent variety of curves and his terrific speed do not alone constitute his assets as a king pin of the diamond. He displayed this remarkable characteristic which is responsible for the success of the Bill osteopathic institute make a hobby of athletics and are skilled in baseball and football. All the surroundings are conducive to the improvement of the players in every way.

MILLERS AT KIRKSVILLE

They Are Getting Into Good Form—Those Reporting.

Kirksville, Mo., April 8.—Rainy weather is interfering with the outdoor practice of the millers to some extent, but the big gymnasium in the Mill sanatorium is giving them all the work they need both for training down and limbering their joints.

Prize Fat Man Is Falling Away

Special to The Journal. Glenwood, Wis., April 8.—Glenwood's famous fat man, Lee Trickey, is losing his grip on the proud distinction of being the heaviest man in the United States, if not in the world.

From an extreme avoirdupois of 710 pounds, which he reached a few years ago, he has dropped to a mere featherweight of 560 pounds. At the time his picture was printed in the daily papers, a few years ago, his weight was about 650 pounds, and at that time the claim was made, and it met with no denial, that he was the heaviest man in the United States.

Heavy as he is, Trickey follows daily the occupation of a teamster, indeed, this is his only means of livelihood, for he is a poor man with a 125-pound wife to support, and although he has and could still make a good salary posing as one of the star attractions of a dime museum, he prefers the quieter life of a country town.

Another delusion that people labor under with regard to Trickey is that he is a heavy eater. This is exactly the reverse, for he really doesn't eat as much as a meal as an ordinary 135-pound man. He is now 27 years old, but reached the 500-pound mark several years before he attained his majority.

ROMANCE OF THE ATWOODS

Union of Uncle and Niece Was Happy Until Gossip Interfered.

Special to The Journal. Des Moines, Iowa, April 8.—Jacob Atwood, formerly of Minneapolis, brought to light a peculiar state of affairs here when he filed a bill for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Atwood.

Mr. Atwood was formerly a resident of an eastern state. He went to Minnesota some five years ago where he met a Miss Jeanette Atwood and although their names were similar there was no indication of blood relationship. During the courtship it developed that both were orphans and knew little concerning the family connection.

They were married and were happy until gossip started a story to the effect that they were blood relatives and illegally married under the Minnesota laws. Corroborated under the Minnesota laws, the marriage followed and it was found by Atwood that he had married his niece, a daughter of his own brother. They then separated and the wife came to Des Moines where she met and married another man. Mr. Atwood has found a prospective bride and he seeks to secure a divorce in order that he may legally marry her.

SURPRISES THE COOK

Man Falls Through a Skylight in the Kitchen Table.

New York Sun Special Service. Chicago, April 8.—While a cook in a restaurant at 41 South Water street was broiling a steak at midnight a man plunged through a skylight and fell on the table beside the stove. The cook dropped the steak on the fire and the stranger rolled off the table and staggered out.

The man "from up there" is John Cronin, who boards at the hotel over the restaurant. Cronin's room is on the third floor and in the dark he opened the wrong door and fell into a court and through a glass skylight. His wounds were slight.
