because it is used externally in cases of the delicate situation expectant mothers. It is a constant relief, robbing childbirth of its terrors. Internal remedies are dangerous. "Mother's Friend" is a blessing in a bottle. There is nothing like it.

AS TO INDEMNITY

What Action President McKinley and the Cabinet Have Taken.

SECRETARY HAY TELLS OF IT

How They Have Sought to Minimize the Sum to Be Demanded of China.

New York Sun Special Service
San Francisco, May 23.—The following statement of the action of the president and cabinet on the Chinese indemnity has been given by Secretary Hay to-day:

The president and Secretary of State have been in constant communication with Washington during the journey to the Disputes from our foreign embassies have been continuously arriving and the Chinese situation has received special attention. The president has endeavored to moderate the demands of the powers in the way of an arrangement by which the two hundred million demanded would be paid in installments. The points to be settled are: First, the total amount of indemnity and share of each power; and second, that method of payment in regard to the first point. The president has constantly endeavored to moderate the demand of the powers to the amount which China might pay without financial ruin or territorial dismemberment. He has thought that the two hundred million demanded was of maximum amount indicated by the best authority consulted and he has proved the willingness of this government to make sacrifices in the interest of the integrity of China and the restoration of the normal relations by cutting down our already moderate claim one-half if the other powers would make a proportionate reduction. These proposals have not been accepted by the other governments, though Great Britain has shown a disposition to considerate treatment of the matter.

As to the method of payment, it is understood there are various propositions before the conference of the ministers in Peking. One is a loan to be contracted by China, guaranteed by the powers, which it is thought might be floated at 4 per cent, with a commission of 5 or 6 per cent; another is a loan not guaranteed, which would probably require an enormous commission and a heavy rate of interest, say 7 per cent. Neither of these propositions was acceptable to the president. Two weeks ago he proposed that each of the powers should accept for its share of the indemnity, the bonds of China at par and with interest, provision for the meeting of interest and for eventual payment being taken from the Likin and salt duties and an increased import tax. Mr. Rockwell has now been instructed to urge these views anew upon the attention of his colleagues.

The attitude of the British government, as set forth in recent speeches of its representative in London, is that Great Britain, though not willing to go as far as this country in moderating the demands of the powers, is inclined to accept measures which, if adopted, may bring the negotiations to a conclusion.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO

THEY ABSORB CHIEF ENTERPRISES

Between Two Men Lies the Choice of the Successor of President Diaz.

Washington, May 23.—Dr. Walter E. Weyer of the department of labor, who has been making investigations in Mexico, says: "The Americans are absorbing most of the large enterprises of the country, especially the railroads and the banks, although the Germans have recently established a strong position. The Germans are monopolizing the hardware market and much of the retail trade, while the Spanish element keeps the groceries and other small shops. It is the Americans, however, who come forward with new projects and improve it. It is expected that President Diaz will practically choose his own successor through a modest suggestion to his friends in congress, and that the man thus designated will be elected with little opposition. The choice for the new president will probably lie between Llanos, the present minister of finance, and General Reyes, the head of the war department. Both men are liberal in their political sympathies.

U. S. Revenue Cutter Grant Strikes an Uncharted Rock.

The crew gathered together what effects they could and went ashore in the cutter's boat and arrived at Cole bay, where they camped.

The Grant was on a special mission, presumably to investigate smuggling, when she was wrecked. The crew, however, but her men think she can be saved.

THE CASHIERED CADETS

REASON FOR THEIR BOUNCING

Report of Col. Mills, Superintendent of the National Military Academy.

Washington, May 23.—Following is the report of Colonel A. L. Mills, superintendent of the West Point military academy, upon which was based the action of the secretary of war dismissing the five cadets and suspending six others for a year. Colonel Mills says:

I have the honor to report that at dusk on the evening of April 15, 1901, immediately after the dismissal of the five cadets on its return from supper, a large number of cadets became engaged in an insubordination demonstration directed at the superintendent of the military academy. This demonstration took place in the main hall of the cadets' barracks; then in the area of the cadets; in the stek on the plain north of barracks, and, finally, in front of the superintendent's quarters. It consisted of cheers, ending with the name of two cadets, who were called; several profane yells directed at the superintendent, and the moving of the revolve gun from its accustomed place to a position on the plain immediately in front of the superintendent's quarters, at the door of which the muzzle was pointed.

The pretext for this demonstration was a punishment awarded cadet Robert R. Halston, second class, in order published at parade that evening. The actual cause, as established by the testimony of cadets under oath, was the resentment of a group of influential cadets of the first class at measures taken by the superintendent to enforce the law forbidding hazing. When the civilian candidates reported at the military academy for the March entrance examinations, it became evident that members of the fourth class were disposed to improperly interfere with them. On March 1, Cadet J. B. Richardson was detected mistreating one and a half of the cadets. On March 27, 1901, Cadet Lieutenant Myron S. Crispy, second class, was punished for "bracing" fourth class men in the manner condemned in the report of the congressional investigating committee in December last winter. On March 29, 1901, Cadet Robert R. Halston, second class man, was punished for a flagrant neglect of duty.

The evidence taken before the board shows that the group of cadets referred to, resenting the first and second of the above punishments, began to indulge in secret meetings in which the superintendent's actions were criticized and condemned, ugly terms were applied to the superintendent and his staff. The evidence shows that the demonstration was first proposed in ranks at parade, immediately after the order punishing Cadet Halston was read. The group of cadets prominent in the group, and the arrangements for it were completed by them in the mess hall at supper.

I believe it is necessary for the discipline of the corps of cadets that the leaders in the Rockwell case be separated from the academy for good. To permit them to remain under any promise of reformation would, in my judgment, be a mistake and might involve very serious consequences. The academy cannot afford to have any repetition of such or other outbreaks. The present demonstration plainly exhibits among its leaders a total lack of appreciation of their responsibilities and an entirely unexcusable attitude among cadets finishing their third year at the military academy.

Cadet Shannon, whose parents live in Duluth, was appointed Congressman Morris in 1898 as a cadet in the military academy and graduated with credit in 1900. He was discharged satisfactorily and creditably passing all examinations. He would have been graduated in 1901, but his suspension of one year will put him in the graduating class of 1903.
