BUYING AND SELLING FAMOUS AUTOGRAPHS

With Increased Wealth This Country Affords a Fine Market for Rare Signatures—Genuine Letters by Famous Folk That Are Worth Little or Nothing—Americana Eagerly Sought After.

Cleveland Leader. She looked so pretty and important as she was ushered into the autograph broker's private office, and she talked so much and so fast about her difficulty in finding the place, her being unused to business dealings and so on, that the proprietor was puzzled as to whether this visitor came on a buying or selling errand. "Oh! These dear old papers," she exclaimed, motioning towards the rows of shelves stacked with manuscripts and folders. "Anything mildewed and time-worn is delightful. You repair old autographs, I suppose, those that can hardly hang together?"

IT IS ONLY BOG IRON A. D. Meeds, Chemist, Reports on Coon Creek Ore. Presence of Moisture and Manganese indicate That Deposits Are Not Commercially Valuable.

That the ore deposits on the Manley farm at Coon Creek are nothing more than bog iron seems to be pretty conclusively demonstrated by the chemical analyses made for The Journal by A. D. Meeds, the chemist, who visited the farm with a member of The Journal staff on a recent visit.

RAILROAD RUMBLES

Deal with the Iowa Central—C. Trains to Minneapolis. An arrangement has been made between the Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Iowa Central properties, which are controlled by the same interests, that will enable the trains of the Iowa road to enter the twin cities over the Minneapolis & St. Louis and its connections with Kansas City and St. Louis.

TO SUCCEED CALLAWAY

Newman of Lake Shore May Be President of the N. Y. Cent. Cleveland, May 31.—Among high railway officials in this city, it is generally conceded that President Newman of the Lake Shore Michigan Southern, has been selected as the president of the New York Central.

YOU HAVE CHILDREN?

Then, of Course, You Wish Them to Be Well Bred. Home Chat. Little children should be taught not to sit sideways or on the edges of chairs, or to lean back in them or to put their elbows on the table.

THE PROVISIONS.

Detroit, Free Press. Friend—What are the provisions of your father's will? Son—Well, I had hoped they would be champagne and terrapin, or something like that. But the estate didn't pan out, and guess about the best it can do will be corn beef and cabbage.

THE KAISER'S SPEECH

Comments of a Leading German Paper on the Effusion. New York Staats Zeitung. The world accustomed itself long ago to feel no astonishment at the utterances of Emperor William. In the sixteen years of his glorious reign he has made himself more talked about than other monarchs in the two or three times as many years. Unfortunately there have been few auspicious moments which have permitted the world to sympathize with him.

What S. S. S. Does for Children

Children are constantly exposed to all sorts of diseases. The air they breathe is filled with germs, sewer gas and dust from the filthy streets are inhaled into the lungs and taken into the blood. At the crowded school rooms and other public places they come in contact almost daily with others recovering from or in the first stages of contagious diseases. You can't quarantine against the balance of the world, and the best you can do is to keep their blood in good condition, and thus prevent or at least mitigate the disease. You have perhaps learned from observation or experience that healthy, robust children (and this means, of course, children whose blood is pure) are not nearly so liable to contract diseases peculiar to them, and when they do it is generally in a mild form. On the other hand, weak, emaciated and sickly ones seem to catch every disease that comes along. This is because their blood is lacking in all the elements necessary to sustain and build up the body. Poisons of every description accumulate in the system, because of its improper functions.
