Miss Sophie Rogers was at the piano and played the "Lobengrin" chorus, "Oh, Promise Me" and "Baba's" the service, which was read by Rev. William Wilkinson. Miss Jean Johnson sang "Because I Love You, Dear," just before the bride party entered. Miss Anna Sievers was maid of honor. The decorations were charming and the large music-room was transformed into a cool bower with a profusion of flowers. The program included vocal solos of color among the green. Palms and jonquils were in the living-room, where flags were draped on the walls in honor of flag day. In the dining-room pink and white flowers were arranged on the ferns which banked the sideboard. Mrs. Runyan and Mrs. Shipley were assisted by Miss Joyce, Miss Joyce, A. E. Merrill, Max Vander Horck, Willis Walker and Harry Jones. She was in delightful voice and the numbers were most enjoyable. Mr. Woodworth sang in a most pleasing manner Sigmund's love song from "The Valkyrie"; Schubert's "Erl King," and "The Rose Tree" by Franz Schubert. Miss Olson's numbers were Mendelssohn's "Spring," a Greek scherzo and a Greek folk song, and they were given most sympathetically. After the program was served in the dining-room. Civil Service Prize Essays.
The Women's Auxiliary to the New York City Civil Service Association offers two prizes of $100 and $50 respectively for two essays on the subject of civil service reform or the spoils system as existing in any given locality. The competition to be restricted to women. The essays must be written in English and condition of the civil service in some city, town or county personally known to the writer, and the competition closes Jan. 1.

A DUTCH LUNCHEON.
At present the Dutch luncheon is very popular. The admittance of Dutch dresses and novel features. Delft designs may be used on the invitation cards and counters; an orange ribbon fastened to a tiny wooden shoe can be used for tally cards, and any pretzels slipped on the ribbon, to scores of favors, of course, to be in keeping, and the luncheon to consist of Dutch dishes.

LOW KNOTS AND CURLS.
Among the novel modes of the season that are already on a fair way to being generally adopted is the low knot and curls. The more saucy knots perched above puffed pompadours, no more delightfully uncovered napes of necks, with scolding locks daintily caught above them. The hair, according to the latest mandate of the best hairdressers, is to be parted in the middle all the way down the back, waved in large waves, knotted loosely as loosely as safety will permit, and then having in two large soft curls. No, do not think for a moment that those little tight sausage curls that were bought at all of the bargain counters in the department stores several summers ago can be resurrected and pressed into service. No such triple expansion nightmare. The new curls are of an entirely different character. They are large and soft and eight or ten inches long, and should have the convincing appearance of being the ends of the wearer's own wavy locks.

The mode is especially adaptable for evening wear, when the knot is turned under an ornamental comb, and the curls are gracefully over the bare shoulders. Of course every one will protest at first against this new caprice, and of course every one will accept it at last.

NERVOUS ORIGIN OF COLDS.
It is a popular idea that if one is amply provided with warm clothing, wraps, a macintosh, rubbers and an umbrella, little risk is run of taking a cold; yet it is a matter of frequent experience that, in spite of all reasonable precautions, a catarrhal affection may be developed or pneumonia may be contracted that weakness, depression of spirits, fright, anxiety, or something which has affected the nervous system unfavorably, has preceded the attack and rendered it more serious. When these forms of nervous debility, a person may expose himself to draughts, dampness and other usual causes of colds and escape entirely, while at another time, when weary or depressed from any cause, he may become the victim of a fatal attack of pneumonia from a much lighter exposure. The nervous origin of colds seems to be recognized by all physicians who have made a special study of acute diseases of the lungs and throat.

MRS. HUMPHREY WARD'S LITERARY PLACE.
Lillian Bell, the American novelist, who has recently been in Russia, says that she had a talk with Tolstoy there in which he was asked whom he regarded as the greatest living writer, whereupon he answered, Mrs. Humphrey Ward. As is well known, Tolstoy is not dependent on translations for his knowledge of English books, but reads them in the original.

ASEPTIC PILLOWS

How to Make the New Preventive of Disease.

The pillow stuffed with pine needles, with poppy leaves, or with eucalyptus leaves and shavings must give way to the aseptic pillow which now threatens to change every Christian bed into a hospital.

The new aid to health is a double pillow, or really one pillow which has been split longitudinally. In the center of each half is a pocket filled with dried sponge, Japanese sponge, or similar material. Upon this the owner pours such drug or combination of drugs as may be required by his physical system. According to the new idea each destructive germ has its own specific antidote, and every kind of sore or diseased tissue its own particular remedy. Camphor oil and camphoric acid and historic are among the favorite preparations. All are strongly aromatic, and all possess a germicide character. When the pillow is not in use the diffusion is small, but when the owner is lying down the heat of the head and body and the movement of the sleeper increases the evaporation and charges all the air around the pillow with a small percentage of the aseptic. For those to whom any one of the substances is distasteful there are essential oils which can be added to conceal the odor. While the new project is a great deal of a fact, it nevertheless accomplishes much in particular cases. For coughs and colds it seems to be very beneficial.

APRIZE FOR BASHKIRTSEFF'S BRESLAU.
Readers of the memoirs of Marie Bashkirtseff may recall the young woman with whom she was always measuring herself in Julien's atelier, whose skill drew her to despair, concerning whom she also permitted herself not a few ungenerous remarks. The rival's name was Louise Breslau. Miss Breslau has just received the prize of a Cross of the Legion of Honor for her work in painting. She is a Swiss from Zurich, and in the Swiss Department of the exposition of 1900 exhibited a series of pictures of women and children. She is said to be the first foreign woman to obtain the cross for art.

A COMPLEXION WRECKER.
A nervous disposition is a complexion wrecker of tremendous magnitude. Those unfortunate enough to possess it should get out or doors more, go to bed early, eat simple, nourishing food, and avoid pastries. They should drink plenty of water between meals. At night apply a good skin food to the face, rubbing it in with a circular motion of the finger tips. To gain flesh take a desiccated spoonful of best olive oil on half a glass of grape juice half an hour before each meal. Such a regimen will bring back roses to the cheeks and fill out unsightly hollows.

OLD-FASHIONED SOUTHERN BISCUITS.

The raised biscuit, which is so rare a dish with northerners, can be made with success after this method: A pint of milk must be heated, and in this a heaping teaspoonful of butter is melted, and the milk is allowed to cool till lukewarm. Then beat an egg smooth with a level teaspoon of salt, a gill of good yeast, a quart of flour and the lukewarm milk. Cover the bowl or pan containing this sponge with a folded towel and let it stand overnight in a place warm enough to insure its rising properly.

The next morning knead the dough gently for five minutes, using enough flour to prevent its sticking to the hands; make it up in small biscuits, put them into a buttered baking pan, cover with a folded towel and put the pan in a warm place for half an hour or until the biscuits have swollen to twice their original size. Do not put the pan where it is too hot to hold the hand. When the biscuits are light, brush them over the surface with a little sugar dissolved in milk or with melted butter, and then bake them brown in a quick oven and serve them hot.

C-SHARP DOOR SCRAPER.
The late Sir Frederick Gore-Ouseley, professor of music at Oxford, was once going to call on a friend in London, and asked a fellow musician the number in which he lived in a certain street. "I don't know his number," answered the other, "but the note of his door scraper is C sharp." Sir Frederick went off, contentedly kicking the door scrapers all down the street until he came to the right one, when he rang the bell and went in.

REVIEW OF WEDDINGS

The latest notion in the way of china is a revival of Wedgwood, in which cups and saucers, teapots, sugar basins and hot water cans, and cream jars, the well-known grayish blue with white figures is first favored, and next to it is a sort of pastel green that is very attractive.
