

Stores

Carry a full and complete line of food specialties. We sell large quantities and they are always fresh.

ARE WELL EQUIPPED

Minneapolis Business Men Disagree With President Forgan.

HE IS IN EARNEST

Phillips Will Try to Found a Journal Excursions Steaming Down Superior on the Miami.

THEY OWN THE BOAT

Journal Excursions Steaming Down Superior on the Miami.

Crockery Dept. NEW ENGLAND. 300 IMPORTED CHINA CREAM PITCHERS. 10c. 100 GLASS HAND LAMPS. 17c. 500 IRONSTONE CHINA CUPS. 6c.

BERNARD

20 lb light yellow C sugar. $1.00. Pillsbury's Rolled oats, per lb. 2c. Fresh Milled. 25c.

Olive Oil

Full line of Antonini & Co's Olive Oil. S. Rao & Co's Luca Olive Oil. 29c.

Butter

We have large consignments every day. Sweet Dairy 12c 15c. Good Creamery 1.00.

Hoffman House Coffee

One of the best in the land. 30c per pound. Robal Coffee 22c. Santos and Golden Rio 15c.

Tea! Tea!

We have 100 kinds of Tea, including Oolong, Ceylon, English Breakfast, Young Tyson, Japan, India, Assam, Gunpowder, Light of Asia, Monsoon, Alphon's, Star of India and many others.

Peerless Market

Round Steak 11c. Shoulder Steak 8c. Pot Roast 8c. Mutton Stew 5c. Fine Corned Beef 5c. Mutton Chops 12 1/2c.

SALVATION WEDDING

Two Officers Were Married Last Evening. A wedding attracted about 400 interested men and women to the Salvation Army barracks on First avenue last evening.

THEY'RE GREAT SHOWS

Pawnee Bill's Wild West Aggregations Coming. Pawnee Bill's Combined Wild West shows will exhibit in Minneapolis today daily at Twenty-fifth street and Nicollet avenue.

NICKEL PLATE

307 NICOLLET AVE. Specials in Ladies' Oxfords.

Ladies' $2.00 finest vesting top hand turn Oxfords. $1.69.

Ladies' $1.75 hand turn Oxfords—fine kid or patent tip kid. $1.45.

Ladies' $1.50 hand turn Oxfords—new kid tip. $1.23.

Ladies' new patent leather welt sole Oxfords for dressy street wear, all sizes. $2.50.

Cigars

100,000 to be sold at less than manufacturers' price. Great opportunity for smokers of fine cigars.

Table with 2 columns: Cigar Brand and Price. Includes PRINCESS $3.00, CONCHA ESPECIAL 5.00, LONDRES GRAND 6.00, REINA ESPECIAL 6.00, REGALIA REINA, choice 6.00, PURITANIO 6.00, PERFECTO 8.50, REINA VICTORIA 7.50.

THE CITY

TOWN TALK

You can carry your hat in a steamer trunk perfectly with Barnum's new arrangement. See it at 401 Nicollet. Also his combination dress and steamer trunk.

Amended articles of the Twin City Telephone company, increasing the legal amount of indebtedness to $1,000,000, were filed yesterday in the office of the register of deeds.

Something the bride and groom will use at once always makes a nice present. How about the wedding trip? Barnum, the trunk man, has everything for it. Come in and get suggestions.

John Arrowsmith, the Pipestone county man who has been in jail here for several days charged with securing merchandise under false pretenses, has at last secured $4,000 bonds and permitted to return to his home.

J. J. Clutton, Toronto, Can., father of Cromwell Clutton who committed suicide in the city last Saturday, has telegraphed Coroner Williams to prepare the body of his son for burial and to hold it until further orders are received.

The Stanley Shoe company has filed articles of incorporation, which fix the amount of capital stock at $10,000 and the total amount of indebtedness at $4,000. The members of the corporation are Frank W. Stanley, Erick Anderson and Maurice.

The operator of an automobile ran down Mrs. S. W. Van Norstrand, 403 Seventh street, on the evening of the 18th, and she was injured. The car was driven by Mrs. Van Norstrand's son, who was also injured.

The contract for the foundation of the new Swedish hospital, which is to be erected at the corner of Eighth street and Nicollet, was let to C. A. Lindale. The new building will be completed according to the plans made by J. G. Leonard, executive committee.

Leni Andress, a mere girl, and her 4-year-old son, returned to the Central police station yesterday. The girl, who is from New London, Minn., explained that the automobile which was used for her transportation to Minneapolis, left her mother and child where they were secured, and mother and child were sent back to New London.

Charles B. Calvert, of Detroit, Mich., is making his first trip to Minneapolis after an absence of thirty-nine years. Mr. Calvert lived here with his parents from 1862 to 1892. He was then in the employ of his father and mother came here from Philadelphia. His father built a house at St. Anthony on the corner of Third street and Hennepin. His father also built a store at Main street and Hennepin. His father's house was the only dwelling on Nicollet street.

Crazed by losses incurred in the failure of the Minnesota Investment and Investment company, William E. H. Condit, librarian in charge yesterday by Officers Brackett, Norstrom and Schmitt, and placed in the insane ward of the hospital. Later he was returned to St. Joseph's hospital, St. Paul, where he had escaped in a fit of delirium. He had invested nearly all his savings in the now defunct corporation and his delirium was that he owned the Andrus building, recently removed, and the mines into the building, where robbers could not steal the ore.

THE HORTICULTURISTS

The summer meeting of the Minnesota State Horticultural society takes place to-morrow at the state experiment station, St. Anthony Park. It is expected that over 300 people will be in attendance. The forenoon will be taken up with the inspection of the gardens and orchards. A basket lunch will be served at 12:30 in the armory hall. The afternoon exercises in the hall will consist of short addresses by the agricultural college faculty. The reading of the women's auxiliary will take place during the day. Premiums will be given on flowers, fruits and early vegetables. Minnesota has now the largest state horticultural society in the country, numbering over 500 members. It was organized in 1868. Nearly every state has a society of this kind, but none so large or so active as the Minnesota organization.

The perseverance of Minnesota farmers in their efforts to raise fruit in this climate. Secretary A. W. Latham says, has had much to do with the rapid increase in the membership of the organization in the past few years. It is estimated that Minnesota raised 1,000,000 bushels of apples last year, and an increase in the yield is expected this fall. The state is also becoming one of the best in the country for the production of the best Delaware and Concord grapes in the country are grown in Minnesota. The strawberry exhibit will be the central attraction at the meeting to-morrow.

SUNDAY GUESTS AT WACONIA

Guests at the Cony Island Hotel, Waconia, Minn., on Sunday, were: C. N. Potter, J. W. Kraft, C. W. Kraft, Mr. Kraft, Mr. and Mrs. S. Swenson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sweet, Frank Sweet, Mrs. O. B. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. O'Brien, H. B. Merrick, J. W. Lauderdale, Mrs. J. L. Lauderdale and sons, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Nickles and son, P. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knoff, Minneapolis; W. H. Thomson, Grand Island, Neb.; Edward Howard, Columbus, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Huffman, Lincoln, Neb.; G. E. Fred, Kearney, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Gusher, Kimball, Neb.; L. E. Jones, Norden, Neb.; C. H. Reese, J. R. Lawrence, Chicago.

APPLICANTS ARE NOT IGNORANT

Inability to Unite Legibly is the Most Serious Drawback of Would-Be Bankers.

Many Minneapolis business men who have had years of experience in employing clerks, believe that the statement of President Forgan of the First National bank of Chicago, that among those who apply for admission into the business world few possess an adequate knowledge of the rudiments of writing, arithmetic, spelling and grammar, is hardly the case in fact. Mr. Forgan recently delivered an address before the graduating class at Lake Superior university in which he made an outline of requisites for the successful business man and expressed in addition his belief, doubtless founded upon facts gleaned from his own experience, that young men who enter the commercial field and who fulfill all the primary requirements are rare. The outline of qualifications given by Mr. Forgan follows:

First—To be able to write a good legible hand, to make good figures and to place them correctly—the units below the units, the tens below the tens, and so on.

Second—To be able to add, subtract and multiply rapidly and accurately.

Third—To be able to express yourself clearly, briefly and grammatically in a letter and to spell the words correctly.

Mr. Werner's View.

President N. O. Werner, of the Swedish-American National bank, said that he had learned that a majority of those who had started to work in banks within his notice, were well fitted for their employment.

There was no glaring defect in their capabilities unless it be that of poor penmanship. This was one of the shortcomings referred to by Mr. Forgan and mentioned by several business men interviewed.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

Why They Fail.

"Take the banking business, for instance," said Mr. Werner. "I have seen many young men, high school, college or university graduates, who enter the office, who fall down miserably on the work before them in our big account books, when the problems are simply those of addition, subtraction and multiplication. It is not because they have not had training in arithmetic, for many of them have mastered the intricacies of differential calculus. It is simply because it takes time, perhaps a few months, for them to fall into the routine and habituate themselves to the nature of the work before them. The college graduate is always better able to do well the work that is before him when he once gets into it than the man who has not had the advantage of higher education. Of course, there are at times young men who go into a bank when they leave their high schools and manage to work up as rapidly as the man who has completed a course in a college, but it is the exception and not the rule. And the young man who has been unfortunate and failed to complete a high-school course cannot do so to fulfill the requirements suggested by Mr. Forgan, but such a young man seldom applies for work where they will be needed. His is another sphere."

THE WEATHER

Minnesota—Generally fair to-night and Thursday. Local thunderstorms in southwest portion to-night and Thursday.

Wisconsin—Generally fair to-night and Thursday. Local thunderstorms in southwest portion to-night and Thursday.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. South Dakota—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Montana—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Wyoming—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Idaho—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Utah—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Nebraska—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Kansas—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Oklahoma—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Missouri—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Illinois—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Indiana—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Ohio—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Virginia—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. North Carolina—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

South Carolina—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Georgia—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Florida—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Alabama—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Mississippi—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Louisiana—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

Arkansas—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds. Texas—Partly cloudy to-night and Thursday. Variable winds.

HE SAYS IT IS PRACTICABLE

Local Men Do Not Agree With Him—Phillips Talks Some More.

Since his return to Chicago George H. Phillips, the corn king, has offered to subscribe $100,000 for stock in a farmers' bank such as he described in his speech at the West Hotel banquet here. He firmly believes in the feasibility of the scheme and predicts that it will be put into practical operation before the year is over. On his return from New York Phillips expects to announce the working details of the plan. Mr. Phillips says: "Underlying the whole project is the conviction that the farmer is being treated unjustly. The plan that it must fail because it amounts to a permanent outburst and runs against the natural law of supply and demand, is not justified," said Mr. Phillips. "Underlying the whole project is the conviction that the farmer is being treated unjustly. The plan that it must fail because it amounts to a permanent outburst and runs against the natural law of supply and demand, is not justified," said Mr. Phillips.

Would Regulate the Markets.

But such a bank as I suggest would not operate as a trust, but as a regulator of the market, tending to keep it firm and free from panicky onsets and speculative movements. The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

The general qualifications for places in the business life, most of them had found, were fulfilled, although there are always instances when a young man applies for work in a certain line and in a remarkable time learns that he cannot hold it, not because of a lack of knowledge of the rudiments, but rather because he is out of his element.

A PLEASANT STAY IN DULUTH

Weather was Pleasant and a Most Picturesque Carriage Drive Was Enjoyed.

Special to the Journal. Duluth, Minn., June 19.—Ideal weather and a full realization of all expectations made the first day of the Journal's first-american excursion pleasant from start to finish. Yesterday's dispatch told of the fast run from Minneapolis to Duluth, the latter point being reached about 10 p. m. The chartered steamer Miami was not ready until midnight, but the eleven hours of waiting were not allowed to drag. Upon arrival at Duluth the whole party was escorted to the Hotel Spaulding, where the arrangements had been made in honor of the tourists. The menu cards bore the legend: "Special Guests To-Day, The Minneapolis Journal's First-american Excursion, and rooms were ready and waiting for the party of the party who wished to freshen up before luncheon.

Delightful Carriage Drive.

A carriage drive was scheduled for 3 o'clock—one of the biggest turnouts of the kind that Duluth had ever seen. Mr. Thomson, of the Board of Trade, had charge of arrangements and escorted the big party over the picturesque boulevard. In the line were several tall-horsed teams, handsome six and eight-horse teams; numerous carriages and tandems; and that the whole procession was a glistening, jingling array of fine horses and up-to-date vehicles from end to end.

The excursionists returned from the drive with appetites like ravenous wolves and fell upon an elaborate dinner which the Spaulding management had discriminatingly designed to follow a drive in the brisk air of the hills. By this time the travelers were getting hungry and the few hours to the Miami's arrival passed quickly.

The Miami Arrives.

It was about 10 o'clock when a brilliant cluster of electric lights bore down upon the town from the black lake and a powerful searchlight played up and down the shore searching for the vessel's entrance. It was the Miami making her first appearance at Duluth. As soon as the debutante passed the canal and her searchlight established her identity beyond a doubt, every craft in the harbor with a steam whistle sent up a reverberating screech of welcome. The wharf and the gangplank run out. Carriages were soon filled with the Journal travelers' who were hastening to the shore to greet the vessel's arrival.

A Handsome Boat.

The Miami, though not so large as the North West and North Land, is fully as comfortable, and where the latter have dark, natural woods, the Miami has brilliant white enamel, and is in some ways larger than those of the older North-West boats, and altogether the new craft is well equipped to hold her own in a line with the best of the world's yachts.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

Minneapolis bankers look upon Phillips' scheme as too big to hold together long. They say that the difficulties of the plan are too many to be overcome, and that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one. They say that the plan is not a sound one.

AN INDIAN WAR VETERAN

DEATH OF GEORGE C. WHITCOMB. Lined at St. Barnabas Hospital at the Age of 80—An Active Career.

Captain George C. Whitcomb died yesterday at St. Barnabas hospital, aged 80. He was taken to the hospital last Saturday, apparently having been in the best of health up to that time. An operation was performed from which the patient at first rallied, but later he sank beyond aid and passed away.

Mrs. Whitcomb, who celebrated her golden wedding five years ago, survives. Three children are living: Miss Mary E. Whitcomb, Minneapolis; Dr. E. H. Whitcomb, St. Paul; G. F. Whitcomb of Alexandria.

The funeral will be held at the family residence, 401 Forest avenue, at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The interment will be at St. Barnabas cemetery.

Forest City became the place of refuge for the fleeing whites. Captain Whitcomb drove to Carver to go by boat to St. Paul and secure assistance from the governor. Arriving at St. Paul he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repulsed. Captain Whitcomb remained in active service until late in the fall. Returning to his farm he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repulsed. Captain Whitcomb remained in active service until late in the fall. Returning to his farm he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repulsed. Captain Whitcomb remained in active service until late in the fall. Returning to his farm he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repulsed. Captain Whitcomb remained in active service until late in the fall. Returning to his farm he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repulsed. Captain Whitcomb remained in active service until late in the fall. Returning to his farm he was commiserated by the governor, who provided him with arms and ammunition and directed him to use his company in checking the uprising.

Returning he reorganized his company and started into the Indians' country. He found no Indians, but upon returning to Forest City a stockade was constructed, and two days later 200 Indians made an attack. They were repuls