REAL ESTATE PRESIDENT

THE BOARD CHOOSES D. P. JONES

A Program Made Out for the Executive Committee—Announcements Suggested.

David P. Jones, of David P. Jones & Co., was yesterday made president of the Minneapolis Real Estate Board at its annual meeting in the New York Life building. The board has decided upon an aggressive campaign. The executive committee will consider the following propositions:

Will auctions by any member of the board encourage large attendance? Can arrangements be made through legislation to encourage the real estate business and also have such location headquarters for auctions of all real property for improvements?

Encourage reference of valuation to valuation committee who, under the rules, allow 50 per cent discount to members of the board.

Watch mining and other "fakes" that are diverting money from real estate investments, and see that frauds are exposed through the press.

Arrange for trolley car excursions around St. Paul and Minneapolis in connection with such trips, having lunch, etc.

Have a lunch soon, to which bank officials and other financial men of the city should be invited, together with members of the press.

Bring about conferences with the Commercial Club's committees having the encouragement of manufacturing in charge.

Have a committee confer with the state tax commission, which is to report to a special session of the legislature in February, 1902.

Conference with a committee from the rental board on recommendations with regard to the rental situation, etc.

Encourage and encourage the joining of all reputable men in the real estate business not now members of the board.

Arrange some system for members of the board and the register of deeds to turn in all real estate and building news, when same is ready for publication, and transmit same as soon as received to each of the three daily papers in the city.

THE BANK TRUST

No Opening Has Been Attempted in Minneapolis.

The action of the National Park bank of New York city in going into the city of New Orleans and the prospective purchase of control of stock in the National Bank of Commerce and the First National Bank of Kansas City is not a surprise to banking men in Minneapolis. It is in line with present tendencies. Rumors have been out for some time of an establishment of some large central bank with branches through the country in the United States. As far as we have learned no advances have been made to any Minneapolis bank.

Banks are not allowed to own stock of any other bank, although stockholders may obtain control of shares issued by other banks. Neither are national banks allowed to establish branches. Under the law in New York banks may open branches, and it is done in New York city.

Said a banker to-day: "The banking business is different from that of Canada. We could not make the branch business a success here as we have not grown up along that line. People are not used to it, and business is not adapted to it. It is in line with present tendencies. Rumors have been out for some time of an establishment of some large central bank with branches through the country in the United States. As far as we have learned no advances have been made to any Minneapolis bank.

PUGET'S PROSPERITY

S. H. Hall Returns With a Glowing Account.

S. H. Hall, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, is back from a three weeks' tour of the Puget Sound country. Mr. Hall says that many of the coast lumbermen complain that the white pine manufacturers of Minnesota and Wisconsin are even more aggressive than in former years, and that coast lumber in the interior markets of the United States is having difficulty in winning its way against white pine. Orders from the Orient are keeping the coast busy, and most of them have plenty of business for future delivery on their books. The shipyards are working overtime. Many sailing vessels for the coast trade are being built, and a fair percentage of the interior lumber is sure to be one of the important industries of the Puget Sound. Many of the Sound business men predict that the fisheries will develop into a more valuable industry than timber, of which there seems to be an unlimited quantity. Salmon, cod and halibut constitute the bulk of the shipments. Last year's shipments from the Sound amounted to over $6,000,000. This will be increased this year. The Alaskan trade is increasing in volume rapidly.

Telephone your wants to No. 9, ether line. You will be told the price and you can send the money.
