TO END CENSUS WORK BY JULY

Energetic Director Expects to Take Four Years of the Record.

Washington, July 11.—Barring fire or the act of Providence, Director Merriam said today he expected to complete the work of the 1900 census by the first of next July. This means the publication of ten volumes of statistics on the subjects of agriculture, manufacturing, population and vital statistics. There will be other reports following on a few miscellaneous subjects and there will be a small force of clerks and statisticians who will be kept occupied for several years, but the great work of the census will have been done.

But in spite of weather and resignations, the work goes on at a regular fixed rate, which will wind it up in just about a year. The population statistics are now practically completed and a volume of some 600 pages has been issued. This beats the record of the last census by four years. The same statistics of the census of 1890 did not appear until 1895.

The law authorizing this census work contains a clause requiring that the statistics on the four main subjects be completed by July 1, but this section was inserted in a spirit of jest. Such a thing had never been approximated, much less accomplished, and the members of congress had no idea of seeing it lived up to.

Increased Power for Dawes. The action of Charles G. Dawes in laying down the highly important office of controller of the currency, in order that he might be more free to act as benefactor to the states, is in many ways significant.

FREE PARDON AND BRIDE

Governor Savage of Nebraska Makes a Prisoner Happy.

PAROLE OF A YOUNG BOHEMIAN

Married at the Same Time to a Blushing Young Widow With $75,000.

Special to The Journal. Omaha, Neb., July 11.—Benjamin J. Valek, serving a sentence of seven years for perjury, has been paroled by Governor Savage on condition that the Bohemian marry a rich widow and lead a better life. The prisoner was accordingly wedded to Mrs. Marie Hlavata in the governor's presence and has gone to his bride's farm in Dawson county. Mrs. Valek's different properties are valued at $75,000.

During her lovers' captivity of a year and five months, Mrs. Hlavata was beset by as many suitors as the wife of Ulysses, but was successful in holding them at arm's length. Valek had gotten into trouble by testifying falsely for the sake of a friend, and the widow proposed to stand by him. She said the case before the governor and succeeded in getting the promise of a parole when the minimum time for the offense had been served.

The happy issue of the convict's service was not confined to him until he was ushered into the governor's office. It was laid down as a condition that he must marry the widow, who stood blushing in the background. This was exactly what the young Bohemian had been longing to do for many months and once more justice seemed to him a sweet and easy thing.

MAY TURN HINSEY OUT

Pythians in Self-Protection

Ex-Head of Endowment Rank Must Show Cause Why He Should Not Be Expelled.

Chicago, July 11.—John A. Hinsey was ordered last night by the supreme lodge of the Knights of Endowment to show cause why that body and show cause why he should not be expelled.

This follows as a direct result of the alleged irregularities which the new management of the endowment rank has found in the books under his twelve years' administration as president of the board of control.

The supreme lodge adopted by a vote of 130 to 1 the report of the supreme chancellor, with all its criticism of Mr. Hinsey's management.

Mr. Hinsey, the central figure in all the trouble, talked three hours before the supreme lodge, but his explanations did not satisfy his judges. Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana moved that Mr. Hinsey should be ordered to appear and show cause why he should not be expelled from the supreme lodge.

Mr. Hinsey had tried to forestall this action by sending in his resignation as a member of the board of control of the endowment rank.

This resignation was laid on the table. Then the debate on the rule to expel began. There was no one to defend Mr. Hinsey but himself. His standing in the lodge, apparently, but many delegates argued that the supreme lodge could not expel a member without a trial in the constitutional courts of the order.

Though $500,000 of assets are in bad condition, and though the rank is almost $500,000 behind in the payment of death claims, the supreme lodge does not propose to expel him. It shall see its standing because of the troubles that have been disclosed.

Already by a unanimous vote of the lodge on the second day an order had been made that in the future no investments shall be made save by the written order of five out of the seven members of the board of control.

In addition to this, a resolution is being considered to raise the rates of payments of interest, so that more funds will be provided to meet death claims and enough in addition to make good the losses and create a surplus in the future.

IRON-STEEL TRADE

Capacity of Coke and Anthracite Furnaces Declines.

BUSINESS ON TOP OF THE TIDE

Slowly Receding Values May Soon Appear—Keener Hunt for Business.

New York, July 11.—Discussing conditions in the iron and steel trades, the Iron Age says: Our monthly blast-furnace statistics show that there has been a decline in the weekly capacity of the coke and anthracite furnaces from 28,975 tons on June 1 to 26,775 tons on July 1. While the stocks of pig iron in the hands of the merchant furnaces declined from 32,813 tons on June 1 to 32,761 tons on July 1, in other words, production and consumption nearly balanced.

While statistically the situation is exceedingly sound, there is throughout an uncertainty and ill-defined feeling that we are on the top of the tide and that we may see slowly receding values. In some departments deliveries are becoming prominent, premiums have disappeared and there is more disposition to hunt for business. In others, notably in the wire trade, however, the growing tonnage of the independent mills is beginning to tell; wire rods are being offered more freely on the basis of 35¢. Pittsburgh, new sellers' small though they be, coming into the market. It is believed that a good deal of the wire mill capacity under construction will soon be available. In May it was estimated that out of the new capacity requirements in the active season, 10,000 kegs could be covered by outside mills. The latter figure will be much enlarged before sixty days have passed.

The steel rail mills have opened their books for orders for delivery for the coming year at $28 per ton, which is the price now prevailing. From the standpoint of the mills, the iron and steel business appears to be in a state of stagnation. There are only four parties now—the United States Steel corporation, the Pennsylvania-Cambria trust, the Lackawanna and Jones & Laughlin, and the Lorickawanna will not be in shape to resume production until the early summer of 1902, and the starting of the Tennessee company is too indefinite to allow them to become a factor for some time to come. The little business appears to have been booked, and probably the southern roads, which can lay the year round, are likely to come in first. All the mills are crowded with work and will probably not be called to turn out new business of importance before November of December delivery.

The feeling in the trade is that the differences between the Amalgamated Association and the iron mills of the United States Steel corporation will be very promptly settled, since both sides have much to gain from a continuance of work.

The lowering in the price of sheets does not seem to be of great importance. The majority of outside mills are adhering to the old prices. Very little is being done for export. There is a report current that a mill of the United States Steel corporation has been made for delivery at Belfast yards, but it is met with an authoritative denial. The private accounts of the situation in the German iron trade continue very gloomy. Draconic measures have been taken to clear the atmosphere. The London tin king has given a little exhibition of his power over the spot market early this week. A sharp rise has been followed, however, by a rapid break.

Much mystery has been attached to the illness of General Wood. At the palace it has all along been stated that he was suffering from typhoid fever, but Cuban physicians who have made tests have from time to time reported that the symptoms closely resembled yellow fever.

Havana, July 11.—Governor Wood passed a good night and is feeling well this morning. He has had a fever, however. His case is not critical and his physicians are confident of his recovery.

ROSEBERY AND THE DUCHESSES

Queen Victoria's Objection Prevented Their Marriage Many Years Ago.

New York, July 11.—A London dispatch to the World relative to the reported betrothal of the Duchesses of Albany to the Duke of Devonshire, the betrothal ceremony is not unexpected. The widowed duchess and the bereaved earl would have been married long ago had not the queen declined to countenance the union. So early as 1840, the late queen, who died in 1837, had refused to give her consent to the marriage. The duke and duchess were both in the prime of life when the duke's father, the Duke of Devonshire, died in 1828. The duke and duchess were both in the prime of life when the duke's father, the Duke of Devonshire, died in 1828.

All is easy now, as the Prince of Wales, the present king, was always on terms of closest intimacy with the Earl of Rosebery.

The investigation is being held under special instructions from Rome and the court of inquiry was appointed by Archbishop Kenrick of St. Louis, the evidence when complete will be sealed and sent to the pope. The sisters made a novena to the Sacred Heart. Several Cuban doctors who have been attending the governor general. They pronounced his condition to be desperate.
