TALES OF TRAVELERS

V. B. Noble, banker, and member of the North Dakota senate, is here. Mr. Noble is one of the old-line democrats in North Dakota, who has been a success in farming. His party enthusiasm since Bryan was first nominated. It is believed by people prominent in politics from his section of the state that Senator Noble's political leanings are now more republican than ever. During his term as senator, Mr. Noble trained with the republican members almost entirely. He says that as far as the crop is concerned the Dakotan country is in good shape, to date, and that ten days more of good weather will give the farmers plenty of money to spend in new residences and big red barns. The northwestern counties have been making great progress in farm improvements in the past few years. The Mouse River country, which has been settling so rapidly, will prove one of the richest agricultural sections in the state.

Chester A. Congdon and Gil Hartley of Duluth are at the West. Mr. Congdon is attorney for the United States Steel corporation in Minnesota. Mr. Hartley is what a Minnesotan would call the Tom Lowry of Duluth. He says that the range country is busy. Duluth shipping and manufactures are having a good season. One of the most pleasant chapters is the activity in Duluth real estate.

R. B. Griffith of Grand Forks was here today on his way east. Mr. Griffith owns one of the largest department stores in western Dakota. He has been prominently connected with the prohibition movement in North Dakota for years. He considers that prohibition has been a success in North Dakota and that the enforcement of the law will be an easier matter from now on, as public sentiment in the western part of the state is at least converted to the idea of giving it a fair trial. Mr. Griffith concludes that prohibition has not entirely stopped the sale of liquor in his state, but he claims that it has reduced the consumption from 70 to 75 per cent. General business in the state promises well. While North Dakota people have been counting on a big crop, an ordinary yield will fair prices will do great things for the state. Red River valley people are interested in the movement to obtain federal aid for preventing the occasional spring floods.

Dr. F. Wilson, one of the prominent physicians of Glasgow, Scotland, is at the Nicollet. In company with Mrs. Wilson he is on his way to the coast and may visit Alaska.

"In Great Britain," said the doctor, "we are hearing more of these cities in western America than formerly. Minneapolis flour has been a great advertisement for this city, and the well advertised natural attractions supplement it well. I believe that of the cities in America west of Chicago we hear more of Minneapolis and San Francisco in Great Britain than of any others. The Spanish-American war opened the eyes of the world to the greatness of America, and we are teaching Americans to realize what a great country they have."

"I am greatly interested in this great wheat country of which we hear so much across the water. Our methods of farming are a revelation. American farm machinery ought to conquer the earth."

W. C. Gilbreth of Mandan, deputy insurance commissioner for North Dakota, has been spending the past few days in twin cities. He looks for an increased immigration to the slope country next spring. The sale of 50,000 acres of Mercer county land to Iowa parties, which was effected by slope landowners a few weeks ago, will probably result in many Iowa people going into that country next year.

OUR DAILY BREAD

Valuable Suggestions for the Kitchen and Dining Room.

WHAT FOR BREAKFAST

Planning for the midsummer breakfast is to most housekeepers a wearisome and vexatious of spirits. She envies the beasts of the field and fowls of the air that find their early morning repast awaiting their pleasure with appetite unimpaired by fussing over hot stoves. We must eat to live, but as how we live depends so much on how we eat, the matter cannot be treated with scant consideration. This, all true home-makers realize, and for this reason are daily besought to help lift the burden from the shoulders of our Marthas by suggesting breakfast dishes that will attract the summer appetite and at the same time lighten the labor and care of the housekeeper and cook.

What a Breakfast Should Consist Of.

The laboring man or woman must go out to meet the demands upon their energies and strength with the vital force well sustained. This places the first meal of the day as the one of greatest importance; for its influence will be felt, for weal or woe, through all the busy hours. The most important feature to be considered in making up the breakfast menu is the fundamental dish. This may be meat or its equivalent.

Next comes accessory to the principal dish to satisfy the heartier eaters and for the benefit of those who decline the more substantial viand. In this connection, a fresh fruit, raw or stewed, should be served at the beginning or at the end of the meal.

Breads, hot or cold, and toast; these must be considered in close relation to the fundamental dishes, as hot breads in summer are often preferred by delicate appetites to hot meats. Drinks may be considered as accessories, as they are not necessities. In hot weather, when a wheat cereal is served with cream, especially if hot, it would be wiser to dispense with meat altogether. Serve fish, either salt or fresh, or an omelet or a relish in the way of salt meat, or tomatoes breaded and creamed, fried egg plant, etc.

With the vegetable substitute for meat some light hot bread, such as baking powder biscuits, berry muffins or popover, or corn bread.

Avoid All Suggestions of Heat and Over-Abundance. Nothing will rob one of what scant appetite they may possess on a sultry midsummer morn more completely than the too evident fact that by the "weight of their brow" some one has sacrificed physical comfort in their effort to serve you well. The odor of heated animal fat, smoked meats and "baked" coffee mingled with the steaming temperature outside and within the house, will cause an

CLUBS AND CHARITIES

Club Calendar. THURSDAY—Thursday Literary Club, Miss Courtney, 3223 Columbus avenue, afternoon. Ladies' Aid society of Tuttle church, church parlors, afternoon.

The Mothers' club of Unity social settlement is a wonderful organization, and the wide-awake women who belong to it took the first active steps which enabled Minneapolis to be recognized as a city which pays the expenses of the first month. The club held a bazaar in the spring and raised a fund which furnished money for this and for the outings which have been a pleasant feature of the summer at the settlement. The boys went out to Roswell Park in June and last Friday the girls of the different clubs and classes were taken to Lake Park for a picnic. There were about 100 merry-makers and a few of the mothers went also. The day was spent in the usual lake sports and not an unhappy or discontented face was seen.

Sister Helen Johnson, who has charge of the day nursery, took her charges to the Norwegian deaconess' home at the invitation of Sister Ingeborg, the superior. Dinner was served to the little ones, and a delightful day passed under the trees. Other outings had been planned for the nursery children, but the warm weather has caused them to be abandoned. The nursery will be closed during August.

Friday the members of the Mothers' club will picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stott, St. Alban's bay, Minnetonka. A surprise has been prepared. The officers of the club are Mrs. Henry Kraft, president, and Mrs. D. D. Eaton, secretary and treasurer. The membership numbers over ninety, and there are visiting and entertainment committees, with special committees to look after the day connected with the vacation school and the outings. In addition to sending parties of boys and girls to the lake the club will look after special cases and arrange for outings for children convalescing from illness and those overcome by the warm weather.

A sewing class is being conducted in the settlement gymnasium by a group of Jewish women, and over eighty children meet every Wednesday morning to be instructed in the use of the needle.

At the meeting of the Authors' club last evening, the men presented themselves in shirt waists and were cheered by the ladies, who were similarly attired. The result was an evening of comparative comfort, taking into consideration the extreme temperature.

THE MODISTES' TRUST

Native Opinions Expressed by Creators of Parisian Models.

New York Sun Special Service. Paris, July 24.—A cablegram from New York announcing the formation of a syndicate for the purchase of Paris models with which to supply American dressmakers has caused some surprise in the dress-making world of Paris. A correspondent who has interviewed the heads of the principal firms here is enabled to give their opinions. Mr. Redfern said: "It seems to me difficult to believe that such an enterprise should succeed or find favor with American ladies, who don't desire to buy a commonplace model, but who are sure that the creations they wear should be exclusive to themselves."

M. Beer pointed out that it would be quite against his interests to do business with this association, for he sells certain of his models fifty or hundred times, while under such a scheme he would sell them but once.

WORK OF REFORESTING

General Andrews Points out Its Value at Brainerd.

Special to The Journal. Brainerd, Minn., July 24.—In an address before the ninety or more teachers in attendance at the summer training school in this city General C. C. Andrews, chief forester of the state, pointed out the value of reforestation. The pine that is now cut each year is worth $6,000,000 just as it stands. With the growth of population there is increased demand for lumber. Already in most of the lumbering sections of the state the number of the Pacific coast competing with our home products. For any one who will need to erect farm buildings in the next twenty-five years it will make a difference of hundreds of dollars whether or not we have adequate forest regeneration. There are 10,000,000 acres of land in Minnesota suitable for agriculture, but not yet cultivated, and its development will depend not a little on the cheapness of the lumber.

There are, in scattered localities, and mostly in northern Minnesota, an aggregate of 2,000,000 acres of land which is now useless and yearly growing poorer, and which should be put ad kept in forest by the state. The average annual growth of pine on sandy soil in the state forest of Saxony is 225 feet board measure, per acre. There are 42,000 acres of such forest mostly on non-agricultural land, and consequently the annual average growth in the whole forest is $7,500,000 feet, which amount of mature trees could annually be cut and leave the capital unimpaired. The average growth in this country is about the same. The leading principles of forestry are these: A forest that is to be permanent should occupy only non-agricultural land, should be treated as inviolable capital, and no more be harvested in a year than equals the growth the same period; when young should be crowded to promote high growth; the cutting should be done so as to promote natural regeneration from neighboring trees.

PERFUMED BRUIN IS OUT.

Newcastle, Wyo., July 24.—A band of Sioux Indians, under the leadership of Stinking Bear, passed through here a week ago, en route to Bender on their way to the Shoshones. It is reported the Indians have been slaughtering wild game in old-time fashion. Game wardens are on the trail of the poachers.
