

NEW NEWS

Both Bound Over—Robert Weller and Charles Wallace were held to the grand jury yesterday on charges of kidnapping.

George Knoblauch Sinking—During the day J. George Knoblauch of the Nickel Plate shoe company, who is critically ill at St. Mary's hospital, as the result of an operation which he underwent Saturday, was steadily growing weaker.

The Cheney Funeral—The funeral of William Cheney took place at 2 p. m. today from the hall of North Tower, lodge, I. O. O. F., 318 Nicollet street.

Luther Seminary Work—The building committee of Luther seminary, now building at St. Louis Park, has awarded to Olaf Swanson of St. Paul, together with the plumbing and heating and ventilating apparatus, a contract for $30,000.

DANIEL PETER HARRISON, a resident of Minneapolis for the past thirty years, died this morning at 4 o'clock, at 64 years of age.

MRS. LOUISE STAUDE, wife of Adolph H. Staude, 1808 Fourth avenue S., died yesterday at her residence, Besidette her husband. Mrs. Staude leaves six children.

SENT OUT OF COURT

INCIDENT OF FOSBURGH TRIAL. Representatives of New York Papers That Roused Judicial Indignation Are Excluded.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 24.—At the opening of today's session of the Fosburgh manslaughter trial, Judge Stevens excluded from the courtroom the representatives of several New York newspapers, because of articles published in those papers bearing on the case which were objectionable to the court.

There could be no more outrageous breach of propriety and nothing so calculated to prejudice the minds of the jury and the public and defeat the ends of justice. The publishers of these newspapers are outside the jurisdiction and therefore outside my jurisdiction, but if the proofs were given me of the identity of the writers I would deal with them as the action deserves.

Captain William G. White of the Pittsfield police force, who had not finished when court adjourned yesterday, was the first witness. Mr. White asked him a question about the identity of the shoe found in the Fosburgh house, and then turned the witness over to the defense for cross-examination.

THE GOVERNOR DEFIED

HALE MATTER TO BE REOPENED. Fish and Game Commissioners Still Openly Oppose the Governor's Well Known Wish.

The wrangle over the office of attorney for the state game and fish commission will not cease. The commission will hold a special meeting Saturday, at which the question will be reopened.

Gov. Van Sant, in a rebellion against his will. The governor has asked them to appoint Frank Hale, of Minneapolis. Hale is a son of W. E. Hale, and a son-in-law of Stephen J. Lovley. The commissioners object to him on the ground that he is young and lacks experience of the kind they require.

Recently, at the regular meeting of the commission, they dodged the whole matter by a resolution to discontinue the board would rely on county attorneys and the attorney general's office to make prosecutions. Where the local authorities are unwilling to act, the board will employ a special prosecutor.

In this way they avoided a more direct turn down of the governor. To patch the matter up, Executive Agent Fullerton picked the five commissioners to discontinue the legal business of the board. They insisted, however, that Frank Hale must be named personally, and the matter rests just where the board left it.

Gov. Van Sant wishes to please Hale's friends, brought further pressure to bear on the board, and as a result they will reopen the case Saturday. The majority is against Hale, however, and it does not seem likely that they will give in to the governor.

The Bullhead Problem. The commission will have several other questions to settle. Representatives of the Lake Tetonka bullhead industry will be on hand to plead their case. They say that Lake Tetonka is being taken by the bullhead, which in times gone by has been caught and shipped without restraint to Kansas City, where it is highly esteemed.

Executive Agent Fullerton, though legally a game fish, still he found that the fishermen were mixing bass and pike with the more plebian fish.

MERCURY AT 105. Hot at New Ulm—Seventy-five horses sacrificed.

Special to The Journal. New Ulm, Minn., July 24.—At 11:30 yesterday the government thermometer here registered 105, the highest point reached this year. For four days it registered 104. Seventy-five horses died in the harvest fields last week as the result of the extreme heat.

MINNEAPOLIS FAVORED. Her Invitation to the N. E. A. Is Well Thought Of.

A dispatch to The Journal from Winona, Minn., says: "Secretary Irwin Shepard of the National Educational association is home from Detroit. He says the invitation from Minneapolis for the next meeting was looked on with favor by all. The executive committee will meet early in October and take final action."

TEACHING PARROTS. London Mail. Parrots are now taught to speak by machinery. One bird fancier in London educates on an average forty birds a month and does it entirely by means of phonographs.

A WELL GROUND SUSPICION. Mr. Isolate (of Loxleyville, indignantly) "Then you think we suburbanites must suffer more from rheumatism than city people?"

City friend (visiting the suburbs)—"I don't see how you can help it! I am all the time reading in the newspapers of suburbanites sitting in bores in the ground, dug by electric light and trolley workmen, to keep the men from erecting poles in front of their suburban homes."

BARRACKS BURNED OUT

Barracks of the Salvationists Completely Guttered by Fire.

THE BUILDING A LANDMARK. It Was Used for the First High School in Minneapolis—Later a Low Variety Theater.

Protractions. F. W. Haven, 3614 Third avenue S., prostrated at circus; not serious. Captain Charles Loss, truck No. 4, prostrated at Salvation Army barracks fire; will recover.

Had it not been for the phenomenal record of last Saturday, to-day would bear off the record for high temperature in Minnesota; certainly would for this year. The thermometer at 3 o'clock registered 99.5, and the mercury was still climbing.

The weather bureau reports, extending to a row of two-story frame buildings on Second avenue, between First and Second avenues south, did considerable damage there. Two alarms were turned in and the fire was extinguished within half an hour after the fire started.

Some unfavorable comment is made because the first firemen to arrive did not at first know the exact location of the blaze and it was several minutes before they were at work.

The fire is believed to have originated in the baking room of the bicycle repair shop at No. 219. It spread rapidly to the other rooms on the first floor, which are occupied by the Twin City Laundry Supply company and Gill Brothers, second-hand dealers. Within ten minutes after the alarm was turned in the flames broke out on the stairs windows, and five minutes later the entire building was aflame.

Seven hose streams and two water towers from the fire engine, which had been summoned to the little effect until the burned wood, dry as tinder, had burned well away.

Across the alley towards First street was a three-story frame building, containing the second and third stories, a second-hand dealer, and upstairs are a lodging-house. Only the solid brick wall on the east side of the burning building saved its neighbor.

None of the occupants of the building had time to remove any of their goods. The Twin City Laundry Supply company, at 223, and the fire engine, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Salvation Army corps, No. 1, which occupied the second and third stories, lost its entire equipment. The loss is about $300; fully insured.

Another Fire Started. Forty-five minutes after the first and second alarms had been turned in, a third rang. Sparks from the burning building had been blown across the street, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Lawn Hose Worked. At the height of the fire, when the flames burst through the roof and communicated with the wooden cornice of the building, a man with a lawn hose appeared. He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

MERCURY AFTER A NEW RECORD

Just Under 100 at 3 O'clock Yesterday Afternoon.

Protractions. F. W. Haven, 3614 Third avenue S., prostrated at circus; not serious. Captain Charles Loss, truck No. 4, prostrated at Salvation Army barracks fire; will recover.

Had it not been for the phenomenal record of last Saturday, to-day would bear off the record for high temperature in Minnesota; certainly would for this year. The thermometer at 3 o'clock registered 99.5, and the mercury was still climbing.

The weather bureau reports, extending to a row of two-story frame buildings on Second avenue, between First and Second avenues south, did considerable damage there. Two alarms were turned in and the fire was extinguished within half an hour after the fire started.

Some unfavorable comment is made because the first firemen to arrive did not at first know the exact location of the blaze and it was several minutes before they were at work.

The fire is believed to have originated in the baking room of the bicycle repair shop at No. 219. It spread rapidly to the other rooms on the first floor, which are occupied by the Twin City Laundry Supply company and Gill Brothers, second-hand dealers. Within ten minutes after the alarm was turned in the flames broke out on the stairs windows, and five minutes later the entire building was aflame.

Seven hose streams and two water towers from the fire engine, which had been summoned to the little effect until the burned wood, dry as tinder, had burned well away.

Across the alley towards First street was a three-story frame building, containing the second and third stories, a second-hand dealer, and upstairs are a lodging-house. Only the solid brick wall on the east side of the burning building saved its neighbor.

None of the occupants of the building had time to remove any of their goods. The Twin City Laundry Supply company, at 223, and the fire engine, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Salvation Army corps, No. 1, which occupied the second and third stories, lost its entire equipment. The loss is about $300; fully insured.

Another Fire Started. Forty-five minutes after the first and second alarms had been turned in, a third rang. Sparks from the burning building had been blown across the street, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Lawn Hose Worked. At the height of the fire, when the flames burst through the roof and communicated with the wooden cornice of the building, a man with a lawn hose appeared. He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

BURGLAR GOT AWAY

BETHANY HOME SOLD. While a Police Officer Argues a Desperado Escapes.

Protractions. F. W. Haven, 3614 Third avenue S., prostrated at circus; not serious. Captain Charles Loss, truck No. 4, prostrated at Salvation Army barracks fire; will recover.

Had it not been for the phenomenal record of last Saturday, to-day would bear off the record for high temperature in Minnesota; certainly would for this year. The thermometer at 3 o'clock registered 99.5, and the mercury was still climbing.

The weather bureau reports, extending to a row of two-story frame buildings on Second avenue, between First and Second avenues south, did considerable damage there. Two alarms were turned in and the fire was extinguished within half an hour after the fire started.

Some unfavorable comment is made because the first firemen to arrive did not at first know the exact location of the blaze and it was several minutes before they were at work.

The fire is believed to have originated in the baking room of the bicycle repair shop at No. 219. It spread rapidly to the other rooms on the first floor, which are occupied by the Twin City Laundry Supply company and Gill Brothers, second-hand dealers. Within ten minutes after the alarm was turned in the flames broke out on the stairs windows, and five minutes later the entire building was aflame.

Seven hose streams and two water towers from the fire engine, which had been summoned to the little effect until the burned wood, dry as tinder, had burned well away.

Across the alley towards First street was a three-story frame building, containing the second and third stories, a second-hand dealer, and upstairs are a lodging-house. Only the solid brick wall on the east side of the burning building saved its neighbor.

None of the occupants of the building had time to remove any of their goods. The Twin City Laundry Supply company, at 223, and the fire engine, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Salvation Army corps, No. 1, which occupied the second and third stories, lost its entire equipment. The loss is about $300; fully insured.

Another Fire Started. Forty-five minutes after the first and second alarms had been turned in, a third rang. Sparks from the burning building had been blown across the street, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Lawn Hose Worked. At the height of the fire, when the flames burst through the roof and communicated with the wooden cornice of the building, a man with a lawn hose appeared. He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

ENGLAND OF IT

J. H. Ladd Says Protective Tariff Is Her Only Salvation.

UNCLE SAM'S ORIENTAL TRADE. It Is Assuming Proportions Which Give Other Nations Just Cause for Alarm.

Protractions. F. W. Haven, 3614 Third avenue S., prostrated at circus; not serious. Captain Charles Loss, truck No. 4, prostrated at Salvation Army barracks fire; will recover.

Had it not been for the phenomenal record of last Saturday, to-day would bear off the record for high temperature in Minnesota; certainly would for this year. The thermometer at 3 o'clock registered 99.5, and the mercury was still climbing.

The weather bureau reports, extending to a row of two-story frame buildings on Second avenue, between First and Second avenues south, did considerable damage there. Two alarms were turned in and the fire was extinguished within half an hour after the fire started.

Some unfavorable comment is made because the first firemen to arrive did not at first know the exact location of the blaze and it was several minutes before they were at work.

The fire is believed to have originated in the baking room of the bicycle repair shop at No. 219. It spread rapidly to the other rooms on the first floor, which are occupied by the Twin City Laundry Supply company and Gill Brothers, second-hand dealers. Within ten minutes after the alarm was turned in the flames broke out on the stairs windows, and five minutes later the entire building was aflame.

Seven hose streams and two water towers from the fire engine, which had been summoned to the little effect until the burned wood, dry as tinder, had burned well away.

Across the alley towards First street was a three-story frame building, containing the second and third stories, a second-hand dealer, and upstairs are a lodging-house. Only the solid brick wall on the east side of the burning building saved its neighbor.

None of the occupants of the building had time to remove any of their goods. The Twin City Laundry Supply company, at 223, and the fire engine, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Salvation Army corps, No. 1, which occupied the second and third stories, lost its entire equipment. The loss is about $300; fully insured.

Another Fire Started. Forty-five minutes after the first and second alarms had been turned in, a third rang. Sparks from the burning building had been blown across the street, which separated the barracks from Second street, and across the street, and had ignited the shingled roofs of the frame buildings from 118 to 124 Second street.

Lawn Hose Worked. At the height of the fire, when the flames burst through the roof and communicated with the wooden cornice of the building, a man with a lawn hose appeared. He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

He leaned far out of a third story window of the bank building and with the hot flames licking angrily around him, he directed the stream of water into the man with the lawn hose appeared.

The Plymouth. 40th Semi-Annual Reduction Sale. July 25th, the first of the dog-days; six or eight weeks more during which the lightweight Flannel Suits will be most desirable.

Men's Straw Hats, 1/2 Price. All our Men's, Boys' and Children's Straw Hats will be sold at Half-Price. None in reserve. Straight brims in Rough and Ready English Split and Sennit braids, $2 grades $1. All our French Palm Leaf Hats in all the new and popular shapes, $3 and $4 grades $1.50.

THE PLYMOUTH CLOTHING HOUSE. At the Plymouth Corner, Sixth and Nicollet. STATE MAY COMPROMISE. WITH COL. BOBLETT'S BONDSMEN. The Plan Has Been Suggested by the Friends of R. C. Saunders, One of the Five.

&lt;