

NEWS

A Permanent Half Holiday—All the offices at the city hall will hereafter close at 1 o'clock Saturdays the year through.

Prove It, Says King Superintendent of Detectives says he defied anybody to prove that he received any part of the money offered as a reward for the capture of the man who shot and killed Hopkins several days ago and returned to Nashville, Tenn., Thursday.

Nellie Stole a Bike—Nellie Nelson, who, although married, is still very young, pleaded guilty to the municipal court to the charge of peddling a bicycle and was sentenced to the workhouse for ninety days in default of the payment of a $100 fine.

Levi Gorman Dismissed—Levi Gorman, dog license inspector of the city police department, was discharged Saturday for intoxication while on duty.

Charged With Burglary—John Fritz, accused of burglary in the third degree, was arraigned before Judge Holt Saturday and pleaded not guilty.

Excursion for Father Keane—Arrangements for the excursion down the Mississippi to be given by the members of the Immaculate Conception parish as a welcome to Father Keane are progressing splendidly.

The Midway Camp Meeting—The camp meeting at Midway under the personal direction of Rev. D. E. Butler of St. James A. M. E. church will close August 23.

To Guide Cass Lake Tourists—Editor A. G. Bernard of the Cass Lake Voice and H. T. Allerton, a business man of the same place, are in the city to escort a large excursion of French Canadians to northern woods to-morrow.

A Revolting Combination—B. M. Heunes, a Fridley farmer, was Saturday caught using a scavenger's wagon in hauling grain for human consumption.

Subpoenaed the Officers—A most unusual proceeding took place in the municipal court on Saturday in connection with the case of Lulu Kelly, charged with being a common prostitute.

NECROLOGICAL M. B. MOULDER of 1315 Second Avenue S. in the employ of J. H. Kerriek in the machinery business, died Friday at the city hospital.

LA MONTE FRISK DANIELS, aged 10 months, died yesterday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kerriek, 1515 Second Avenue S. E. The funeral took place from the residence yesterday and was private.

MARK NAAS—The funeral of Mark Naas, who died Thursday, took place from the family residence, 2300 Hennepin, at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Interment at Lakeview.

ON JAIL CASES There's Little Else to Occupy Grand Jurors' Time. The grand jury is in session again and disposing of the business before it at a rapid rate.

BACK FROM ALASKA Former Senators Pettigrew of South Dakota and Butler of North Carolina passed through St. Paul Saturday on their return from a pleasure trip to Alaska.

GENERAL MILLS COMING. Lieutenant General Miles, who is anxious to have a battery of field artillery stationed at Sauging, will visit the fort in September.

MELBA'S CYCLE LESSON. Although Madame Melba is no quite an expert cyclist, it is very unlikely that she will ever forget the first lesson which she received in the art of riding.

But it was a vain desire. Somehow or other her fellow artists had got an inkling of Madame Melba's intentions, and the entire company, including the people as Madame Calve, Jean and Edouard de Reszke and Madame Nordics, were in hiding to see the fun.

CALLING THE TURN. Mrs. Chatterton—Henry, for goodness sake, don't wear such short trousers! Give them to the ragman.

MEASURER BY AT FAULT. Mr. DeKanter—Full again, eh? I might excuse that if you'd only get in before daylight.

Mr. DeKanter—Taint my fault that I'm so late, dear. You see, my watch of the day is a messenger boy to take me home.

BLACK HOUSE MOVING

A Rare Engineering Feat Has Just Been Accomplished. The Problem Complicated by the Necessity of Turning the House Completely Around.

Two horses, developing a pull equivalent to 3,200 horsepower, through the aid of movable pulleys and other paraphernalia of the house mover's trade, have, during the past week, succeeded in moving a brick house, 40x75 feet in size, and weighing not less than 1,000 tons, a distance of more than half a block down Third Avenue S. The task was accomplished by the face of engineering difficulties that, at first glance, appeared insurmountable, but they were successfully overcome and the work is now practically finished.

The house was the old Mackay residence, at Third Avenue S. and Seventh Street. It was moved to make way for the new twin city telephone building, and is now on a vacant lot, fronting on Third Avenue, and half way down the block to Sixth Street.

For years this house was the show home of Minneapolis. Erected more than thirty years ago, it was ordinarily known as the Merrick mansion, the alliteration appealing to real estate men, who invariably drove their customers out to admire its beauty.

As it stands to-day it is in three sections, each built at a different time, and in each case the original outer wall of brick being left intact, save for the construction of the necessary doors. This fact, of course, greatly increased the weight to be moved and made the task even more difficult than appeared upon the surface.

To raise the house from its foundation 400 feet screws were used. It was then found necessary to turn it around before starting it on its way to the new location, and as the building was too unwieldy to handle in the ordinary manner, Contractor F. W. Pratt, who has charge of the work, determined to turn it on a fixed pivot. This was done, twelve different tracks being required to accomplish the feat.

In order to prevent the solid brick walls from cracking, the utmost care was necessary to see that these tracks were made absolutely true. The slightest deviation would have resulted in catastrophe, and yet so expertly was the work done, that the walls show not a single hair crack, although the putty which was used to conceal one or two old cracks and which was put in the last time the house was painted, has fallen out in one place.

On one side of the house there is an exterior chimney, the top of which is the second story. This was expected to give trouble, and when Mr. Pratt began work he did not know whether or not he could dig up to save the chimney. However, it still remains, and is not even cracked, and required just ten days to raise the house from its base and turn it around. Less time was consumed in getting it down than it would have taken to build it.

The operation was the most delicate task of house moving ever attempted in this city, and it was accomplished, but it was not without its difficulties. The house, without any injury being sustained, the house being a new Hampshire bank, of which T. A. Jamison is the local agent.

Normal Board May Cut Loose From Board of Control. Reason is Not Stated, but It Has to Do With "Little Salaries."

At a meeting of the normal school board to be held at the state capitol Saturday morning signs of a revolt against the board of control may be looked for. Some members of the board have decided to waive the defect in the law and leave the financial supervision of the normal schools to the board of control. The understanding then was that the board of control should suspend the local board of schools but leave details to the normal board.

The board of control, however, seems to have lunched the normal schools right in with the other institutions having no estimates from them, and contracts having been let for all the supplies, except those purchased locally.

In this board of control attacked one of the cherished prerogatives of the old board. The members of the board living in the cities where normal schools are located have been acting as purchasing agents. The office is a pleasant one and pays $300 a year. As stated in The Journal Saturday, the board of control decided to have the presidents of the schools act as purchasing agents without extra pay.

This was the last straw. At the approaching meeting, it is understood, the normal board will issue an ultimatum that the board of control keep hands off, and permit normal board members to serve as purchasing agents. If the board of control refuses, the normal board will cast loose entirely, taking the same stand as the university. Technically, the normal schools are not under board of control supervision, and if a break comes, the normal school board will hold the flag of independence.

NURSERY MEDICINE CLOSET. In the nursery medicine cupboard, which ought to be kept religiously locked, keep witch hazel for bumps and bruises, wine of ipecac for croupy nights, and a bottle of lime water and oil for burns or scalds. For colds and hoarseness prepare a half-pound jar of lard and turpentine. Mix these in equal quantities and melt over hot water. It will thicken, but a tablespoonful can be heated in a few moments at any time and rubbed on a child's chest, back, neck and the soles of his feet. A box of mustard has a place in the nursery medicine cupboard for hurried mustard plasters, a bottle of vinegar for a package of absorbent cotton, a roll of bandages from half an inch to an inch and a half wide, tincture of iodine for chilblains, ginger or pepper water for colic, chlorate of potash for sore throats, and a roll of surgeon's adhesive plaster for cuts. It is a good plan for a mother to ask the advice of her doctor about simple home remedies.

HARD TO PLEASE. Archbishop Ireland is quoted as saying in an address to a graduating class of girls: "One of the great evils of the present time is that women in so-called high society are coming to regard with more and more toleration breaches of moral and civic laws committed by members of their own sex."

It cannot be denied that there is ground for the archbishop's charge, but on the other hand, there is no one thing for which women are more justly held responsible than for their own conduct. So much is contended as for their unfeeling spirit toward those of their sex who had made a mistake. "Woman's worst enemy" has been an androcentric disposition to be lenient to the men lapses for her sex, she is scored for that also. She is sometimes almost tempted to think that men are hard to please.

The St. Louis world's fair may abolish the midway feature, but rest assured it will devise some other means to pry the visitors loose from their hoardings.

WHITE THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE

But Senatorial Complications May Throw the Nomination to the Pembina Senator.

Leutenant Governor Bartlett, of North Dakota, is at the Nicollet of his home from the Pan-American exposition where he has been in charge of the North Dakota exhibit as chairman of the board of fair managers for his state, to the residence of Governor Frank White on the coast during the next two months Mr. Bartlett will be acting governor of North Dakota. He says he has paid little attention to politics since he was elected, but that he believes that Vice President Roosevelt is the favorite of western republicans for the presidency. Of politics in his own state Mr. Bartlett says: "Next year's campaign will have to deal more or less with the big senatorial contest. It is generally understood that Senator Hansbrough is a candidate for reelection. No other candidates have yet announced themselves in the past few days. There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Buffalo Expo Results. Governor Bartlett is well pleased with the results of North Dakota's investment at Buffalo. He says: "During the past few weeks fourteen eastern farmers that I know of have gone into North Dakota to buy land and become citizens of the state as a result of the advertising we have done at Buffalo in connection with the exhibit. I believe that the number of actual settlers and land purchasers whom we have attracted is not less than 100, that in addition to the vast amount of indirect benefit which the state has gained."

From my talk with the hundreds of eastern farmers who have visited our exhibit I find that they have practically given up the idea of competing with the west in general farming. They still have faith in their truck raising and other big business, but on the big staples they have handed the big business over to the west. Farmers' boys who called on us are greatly interested in Minnesota and the Dakotas. It means a large amount of big class immigration to these states in the next few years. It is also astonishing to see how little many of the farmers of New York and New England know of the state of North Dakota.

There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF THEM IS GROWING RAPIDLY. EARLY ACTION A POSSIBILITY. All That Is Needed Is a Man of Means With the Proper Public Spirit.

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Correct dress from head to foot.

Final mark-downs in prices of high-grade Hats, Suits, Trousers, Furnishings, Shoes, etc., etc., regardless of cost. ...$10 and $15... flanne suits for $5

BATHS DOWN TOWN

Sentiment in Favor of Them is Growing Rapidly. EARLY ACTION A POSSIBILITY. All That Is Needed Is a Man of Means With the Proper Public Spirit.

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."

Minneapolis business men are becoming thoroughly interested in the question of public baths. In the past few days the discussion of this subject has been general. All admit that the necessity exists and that the city should make some provision for a centrally located, indoor bath establishment. The discussion on ways and means will probably result in definite action by business men in the near future. Ex-Mayor James Gray says: "There is no question but that White, on no reason why Governor White should be renominated. He has made a satisfactory executive. But with a senatorial contest ahead and two congressmen to nominate it is impossible to make an intelligent forecast at this time. Conditions may be such at the next state convention that the northern part of the state may be in a position to make a strong case for the nomination of White. This might include the gubernatorial nomination and in that instance I would not be surprised to see Senator Judson La Moore of Pembina, the nominee for senator, elected. He is a man of high character and good governor. His long legislative experience and long residence in the state have equipped him well for the duties of that office. Pembina is usually a usually a strong factor in state conventions."