A FOURTH STREET MYSTERY

Curiosity of the Public.

The great and impenetrable air of mystery which surrounds the building lately occupied by the American Tailors at Nicollet avenue and Fourth street, is causing much curiosity. The greater the crowds, the greater grows the mystery, and no one has as yet begun to fathom it.

"Little Breeches," fresh from the hay solds, with a rake across his shoulder. fields, with a rake across his shoulder, whose life size portrait, done in colors, adorns one of the windows, gravely informs the spectators that "Dey's goin' to surprise you." In a Fourth street window "Mama's darling boy" rises to re-mark: "Something's going to happen, you bet."

Running across the big Nicollet avenue window is this inscription, well caluculated to arouse curiosity:
"Who, when, what? Keep your eye here for information."

No additional light is thrown on the subject by the exasperating sentences: "This store will be occupied by ___."
"When?" ___ "On or about." "What?"
"It's in the dictionary and will be announced in a few days."

MR. FAIRBANKS LEAVES

He Didn't Discuss Presidential Pos sibilities While Here.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, who has been the guest of District Attorney Robert G. Evans, departed for the east last evening. At Chautauqua, N. Y., Saturday, he will deliver an address on the Spanish-American war. Mr. Fair-banks was for several days Mr. Evans' guest at the Wic-i-up club, at Lake Ida, eight miles from Alexandria, and while excursion rates to fishing points on their there had the pleasure of meeting a nummain line and branches and to points on their "Duluth Short Line." In most cases northwest. Among those who were guests at the club at the same time were Senator Moses E. Clapp, Senator Quarles, Con-gressmen Heatwole, Stevens and Fletcher. While it was not forgotten that Senator Fairbanks supposed to be one of the leading possibilities for the republican presidential nomination in 1904, there was nothing of political significance about the visit so far as could be learned. While willing at all times to discuss any general political proposition, Senator Fairbanks had absolutely nothing to say regarding his own prospective candidacy. At the club the subject of politics was taboed for fishing stories. Knights Templars Conclave, Louis ville, Ky., Aug. 27 to 30, 1901.

Tables Giving the Ratios by Coun- Anderson Arraigned on an Indict ment Based on His Action in Briggs' Case.

> Thirty-five alleged criminals were arraigned before Judge Harrison this morning upon indictments brought in by the grand jury which as just ceased to exist. Several, through their attorneys, asked for three days in which to demur or change their pleas, but one admitted his guilt, and in his case the court reserved sen Sumner, who was indicted under the name of Joseph Rosso, charged with robbing slot meters belonging to the Minneapolis

Gas company.

One indictment of considerable interest, was that of Andrew Anderson, who is accused of perjury in connection with the trial of the slot machine cases against Fred Briggs. Anderson was a witness for the state and testified that he had never had any conversation with Briggs relative to placing a slot machine in thes aloon in which he tended bar, owned by Andrew Olson, 957 Central avenue. He testified that he had never seen Briggs unlock the machine and take out the nickels, and that he had never seen Briggs about the place watching for the parties who used slugs in an endeavor to beat the machines. He was charged with perjury by Judge McGee while the trial was in progress. The witness who appeared before the grand jury against Anderson, according to the indictment, were Clerk of Courts Dickey, Crimnal Clerk Royce and Assistant County Attorney A. J. Smith. Anderson pleaded not guilty and his bond fixed in the sum

Makers of Snuff Go to Law Over Trade Marks.

Owing to the excellent snuff market in Minneapolis, rival manufacturers watch each other closely and complaints for in-fringements are frequently filed in the courts. Yesterday papers were served on A. Isaacson, a manufacturer, on complaint of B. F. Weyman of Pittsburg, the manu-facturer of "Copenhagen" snuff, on the ground that he has sole right to use the name and that Isaacson, in selling 'Koep-' enhagen" snuff, is injuring his business. He prays for an injunction against the use of the term by Isaacson in any form.

as a Drummer-Boy He Took Part in Many Important Engagements.

John D. Lyon, who died yesterday at his home in St. Paul, was said to be the youngest enlisted soldier of the civil war. He was born at Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 17, 1850 and with his father enlisted as drummer boy in the Eighty-first Ohio, the family having removed to the Buckeye state in the meantime. His enrollment was recorded five days before his eleventh

The little drummer boy accompanied his regiment to Missouri, where it was assigned to protect the old North Missouri rallroad. In March of 1862 the regiment was sent to Tennessee, where it took an active part in the battle of Shiloh and the first battle of Corinth. At the former engagement young Lyon received a mer engagement young Lyon received a bullet through his coat and shirt, but was not injured.

Mr. Lyon was a nephew of General

Nathaniel Lyon, who was killed at the battle of Wilson's creek. Both his father and a brother served throughout the entire civil war, and Captain David Lyon of the Revolutionary army was his grandfather. Since 1889 he had been employed as a carrier in the St. Paul postoffice. He was a past commander of Ord Post, G. A. R., and a past captain of St. Paul Camp, No. 1, Sons of Veterans. A wife and three children survive him.

OIL VERSUS COAL Former May Be Cheaper Even at $1 a Barrel.

The St. Paul Chamber of Commerce distened to an address yesterday from W. M. Crooks of Beaumont, Texas, on the subject of oil as a fuel for manufacturing changes in lasts are insignificant, but purposes. Mr. Crooks told his hearers novelties in eyelets and oddities in soles that the supply of oil in the Beaumont district had been conceded by European and American experts to be practically inexhaustible, and said that the daily outdriven constantly.

Orude oil, he says, is now worth 20 cents a barrel in Beaumont, or 20 cents when piped to Port Arthur on the gulf. Deliv-ered in the twin cities, via the river route, it can be laid down at 50 cents. Even with 100 per cent profit charged to consumers, the retail price being estimated at $1 a barrel. Mr. Crooks asserted that its use would still mean a saving of more than one-half on fuel bills.

He suggested that a transportation line be established to carry the oil, and this matter will be investigated by the Chamber, the members of which are very much interested in the matter. The coal trust has demanded such extortionate prices from twin city consumers within the past few years that business men generally are eager to find some way out of the diffi-culty, and the St. Paul body will investi-gate the oil question thoroughly.

FREAKY FRILLS ON SHOES

THE BIZARRE EFFECT IS PROPER

Colored Laces Tabooed by the Good Trade-Colonial Style for Women.

Shoes to be fashionable this fall must be freaky. Anything bizarre in shape and pattern will be stylish for the next few months, barring colored laces, which are tabooed by the good trade. A shoe man said this morning that anything freaky in the shoe line would sell well. Prices remain about the same, and the put at Beaumont is already greater than the annual product of the Baku fields in the annual product of the Baku fields Instead of a single sole there are two layers of leather making the two decks. The heel is stitched also and has a flange which makes it look as though it been stuck on as an afterthought. hob-nail stitch, which resembles a nail closely, is used on the soles, and the ornamental welt is sewed on the edge with a spaced rone stitch namental welt is sewed on the edge with a spaced rope stitch.

The Baltimore edge is "the thing" in the cut of the sole. At the beginning of the shank the edge of the sole on the outer side of the shoe is cut square off.

Wing tips are coming back into favor on the shoes. They have been much used on the low-cut shoes worn this summer by good dressers, and are correct on mer by good dressers, and are correct on the high boots. The shoe for woman's wear is the colonial shape fastened with a large buckle. The colonial is made of patent leather with extension soles and Cuban heel for the street boot. For evening wear it has fine hand-turned soles with the "Louis" heel. The high-cut, nine-strap sandal boot for evening wear is also becoming popular.

Misses' shoes with low or "school" heels are taking the place of the springheel shoe. Patent leather is still in high favor for fancy dress slippers and walking shoes. Although some customers of the shoe stores object to the "sneaky" of rubber heels, the heels are still very
