

GAMING OVERDONE

Londoners Reported Gambling as Never Before.

NOBILITY REALLY INDUSTRIOUS

Craze for Unearned Wealth Proves a Strong Incentive to Crime and Drink.

New York Sun Special Service

London, Sept. 3.—The city is in the grip of a gambling mania. Five hundred missionaries employed by the London City Mission have just completed an investigation of betting throughout the city, and they unambiguously report that it involves all classes and breaks all records. It is declared that four-fifths of the nobility of the kingdom daily seek fortunes in the realms of chance. The poor people, it is reported, gamble habitually and almost universally.

The clerical investigators declare that the craze for unearned wealth has become so deep-seated and general that it is proving a strong incentive to crime and drink. They cite many instances where gambling clubs are allowed to run unretained, and say that even respectable women and girls are catching the passion for betting. The women, it is reported, bet on horse races and play craps, cards and pitch and toss for money.

These games of chance constitute the present great scandal of metropolitan life. The evil is found rampant in the factories, where the employes put in their lunch hour playing cards or craps for money. The missionaries claimed to have discovered innumerable gambling-houses running full blast right under the noses of the police officials, and they claim that, while the police make a few raids on the low-class institutions, the gifted resorts are left unmolested. They also aver that tavern-keepers, hair-dressers, news agents, tobacconists and bakers are helping their legitimate business in order to place bets on the horses. The chaplain of Newgate prison said:

I am afraid that gambling is seriously on the increase. Undoubtedly the great majority of that class—who come to prison for forgery, embezzlement or crimes of a similar nature, attribute their ruin to gambling.

Under these circumstances it is to be regarded as natural that the English delegates to the ecumenical conference should think that gambling is the most important question that ministers are to discuss.

THE MIGHTY FALLEN

Carrie Nation Actually in the Show Business.

New York Sun Special Service

New York, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, in whose antics while she was on the rampage on her native Kansas heath there was for a time some little public interest, has now become an adjunct to a Coney Island dance and all-round amusement hall. Apparently it is a part of her contract to do preliminary hatching war dances and to make herself generally noisy and offensive enough in public places to attract attention, get written about in the newspapers and so turn in a liberal amount of free advertisement to the show with which she has an engagement.

It is the case of Mrs. Carrie Nation, who has been advertised as appearing at the Manhattan drinking places permitted her to smash a bottle or two of water on the premises, but with this exception all her other liquor stunts demonstrated were entirely harmless save that she made herself more or less a nuisance to people, who had got weary of reading her rant, much less hearing it.

"SHOUGH-NO-GALO"

Indian Dance Opens a Kansas Mission School.

New York Sun Special Service

Nadap, Kan., Sept. 3.—Five thousand persons gathered from all parts of the surrounding country to witness the big celebration by the Potawatomes of the opening of the mission school. The program was of unusual interest and the strong was the largest ever played on the celebration took the form of a ceremonious dance, known as "Shough-no-galo," led by Kachica, the patriarch of the tribe. He was attired in full war paint, with buffalo-horned headdress, buckskin suit and many yards of beadwork. His squaw Matee wore a crimson robe trimmed in blue and yellow and led the women in dance. Fifty braves and squaws participated in the dance, which lasted more than an hour. In the afternoon a series of lacrosse games was played by the bands, after which the squaws played one game. Later on there were horse and pony races and in the evening a general dance.

BEAST'S OR MAN'S

Bones Recently Found Near Ward's Place May Not Be Human.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 3.—There is some dispute on the part of the authorities whether or not the bones found in the natural cave near the Ward house, at Platte, are those of a human being. When first discovered it was thought that they were the arm and leg of a man, and there were other smaller bones in the pile that was found. On the same day a sack of decayed flesh and bones was found in the garden west of the house, and it was supposed that this was the rest of the human body. The coroner has examined the flesh and bones and is unable to say whether they are human or not.

Eugene Ward, the brother of the alleged murderer, states that the sack of bones was buried there a few days ago by a butcher from this city. Eugene Ward has been released for the second time from custody.

NEW POST FOR MACARTHUR

Said to Be Granted for the Department of Colorado.

Denver, Sept. 3.—General H. C. Merriam of the department of the Colorado, probably will be succeeded upon his retirement by General Arthur MacArthur, late commander-in-chief of the American forces in the Philippines, says the News to-day. General Merriam retires from command of this department next November on account of age limitation. Several well-known officers of the army have been reported from time to time as the next commander of the department, but the name of General MacArthur is considered as final. It is claimed he will come to the department of the Colorado at his own choice.

Hempstead, L. I.—The family of Captain C. D. Sigbee, who have occupied a cottage here during the summer months, are ardent lovers of fishing, sailing and bathing. Recently young Sigbee, bent upon capturing a crab from the bow of a boat, lost his balance and tumbled overboard. The current was running swiftly, but Mrs. Sigbee seized her young hopeful by the collar and hauled him about with the greatest coolness and pluck.

Kansas City—In his Labor Day address, William J. Bryan said: "You are witness to a battle between labor and the great steel trust. This trust was willing to unite with some of its mills, but it would have others open to non-union labor. Why? Because the trust wants some mills that it can depend upon in the event of a strike. It is an unequal struggle. For the trust can shut down its mills for a year, but laboring men cannot live a year without work. It is your duty to crush monopolies with the best resource at your command, the ballot."
