

Last Home Coming of the Well Beloved President

GOVERNMENT GOES ON UNIMPEDED

Representative Fletcher Says the United States Is Furnishing the World a Grand Object Lesson.

No Startling Changes Will Develop in the Work of Congress—Washington Sympathizes With Hanna.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Representative Fletcher, during his short stay in Washington, has met many prominent men from all parts of the country...

Stricken Mark Hanna. Next to Mrs. McKinley, there is more genuine heart sympathy in Washington for Senator Hanna than for anybody else...

Hanna was proud of McKinley's every official act and his big, generous heart was overflowing with impulses that had for their ultimate purpose the advancement of Mr. McKinley's good fortunes.

Magnificent Object Lesson. "It is a magnificent object lesson to the whole world and speaks eloquently as to the perpetuity of our form of government," concluded Mr. Fletcher...

Washington Small Talk. The controller of the currency has approved the application of S. L. Frazier, Isaac Haslett, E. K. Nichols, William A. Lancaster and George W. Empey for authority to organize the First National bank of Yrdesdale, Minn., with a capital of $25,000.

DES MOINES DRAWS PRIZE. Odd Fellows Next to Meet at the Iowa Capital. Indianapolis, Sept. 18.—The Odd Fellows still hold the city. The sessions of the sovereign grand lodge go on in the statehouse.

Continued Prosperity Assured. New York Sun Special Service. Washington, Sept. 18.—J. Pierpont Morgan attended the funeral of President McKinley. He told personal friends that the business world had received such assurances from President Roosevelt that everybody was entirely satisfied that there would be no legislation of any kind that would interfere with the prosperity of the country.

Entire Cabinet Remains in Office. Washington, Sept. 18.—It was stated on excellent authority to-day that all members of the cabinet have accepted the reappointment tendered by President Roosevelt yesterday.

Another feature of the relations of the new president with the last administration became known to-day—that Mr. Roosevelt has been fully advised and has approved of the negotiations in progress relative to the proposed isthmian canal treaty with England.

The Day of Sorrow in Minneapolis.

To-morrow Minneapolis will stand by the bier of the dead president. All business will be suspended during the afternoon, and the spectacle of a great city in mourning will be presented.

The marching columns will herald no victorious host, typify no grand achievement, signalize no glorious event. The marchers will step to the measures of tolling bells, speaking trumpet-tongued from every house of worship during the progress of the procession.

The funeral procession will be a most imposing pageant in which men of all nationalities, all creeds and all shades of political belief will take part. From every society of men have come requests for assignments in the bitter business of the day, and the most mournful, the most majestic, the most solemn spectacle ever witnessed in Minneapolis will be presented on Nicollet avenue tomorrow afternoon.

The program for the exposition services is as follows:

- Call to order by President Best of the Commercial Club, who will introduce Mayor A. A. Ames as presiding officer. Hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," Mrs. Maud Ulmer Jones. Scriptural Reading by Rev. J. E. Bushnell. Invocation, Rev. Leavitt H. Hallock. Solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," Mrs. Maud Ulmer Jones. Address, Rev. Marion D. Shutter.

- Address, President Cyrus Northrop. "Crossing the Bar," choir. Addresses by Rev. J. J. Keane, James Gray and W. W. Erwin. "Our Heavenly Home," Masonic Quartette. Addresses, Rev. J. S. Montgomery and Frank M. Nye. "Nearer, My God, to Thee," Masonic Quartette and audience. Benediction, Rev. F. A. Skogberg.

Many of the churches will hold memorial services at some hour of the day on Thursday. For all these meetings special addresses and appropriate music have been prepared.

FUNERAL OF BISHOP

Special Train From Twin Cities to Faribault Friday.

THE CHOICE OF A SEE CITY

Selection of Episcopal Residence Entirely in the Hands of the Bishop.

The Chicago Great Western road will run a special train to Faribault, Friday, to accommodate those who wish to attend the funeral of the late Bishop Whipple.

Indians Will Attend. Forty Sioux from Birch Coulee and forty Chippewas from White Earth will attend the funeral of the bishop.

Faribault to Observe the Day. The Faribault common council, at a special meeting, passed resolutions of respect on the deaths of William McKinley and Bishop Whipple.

SAFE ROBBED

Bank at Blooming Prairie, Minn., Looted of Several Thousands.

THIS TO BE SEE CITY

No Rule Requiring Bishop Edsall to Go to Faribault.

The selection of the see city in the Episcopal church lies with the bishop. Bishop Edsall having signified his intention of residing in Minneapolis before his succession to the Episcopacy of Minnesota as the head city of the diocese.

To Divide the Diocese. The question of dividing the diocese, making the division line between Minneapolis and St. Paul, is being agitated to some extent in local church circles.

CHANGE OF NAME. Diocesan Council for Milwaukee in Favor of It. Milwaukee, Sept. 18.—The Milwaukee diocesan council of the Episcopal church to-day adopted a memorial presented by L. H. Morehouse, favoring the changing of the name of the Protestant Episcopal church to "the American Catholic Church of America."

McKINLEY'S LAST TRIP TO CANTON

Buried in Emblems of Mourning, the Town Receives the Precious Remains of the Murdered President.

Militia-Guarded Casket Borne to the Court house in the Presence of a Vast Throng of Weeping Men and Women.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 18.—The body of President McKinley arrived at noon. The casket was borne to the courthouse amid vast throngs of people, lining the streets and packed within the courthouse square.

When the Train Arrived. The sight was profoundly impressive as the funeral train drew into the little station at Canton at exactly noon to-day.

Solid Wall of People. Up this street soldiers at intervals of ten feet with difficulty restrained the solid wall of people.

Silvery Requiem. As they reached the head of this line a clear drawn bugle call sounded a silvery requiem.

Men and Women Weep. Women sobbed and men wept. For a full minute after it stopped no one appeared. Judge Day and his committee moved slowly down the platform in front of the line of soldiers to the catafalque car and waited.

Removal of the Casket. Colonel Bingham, the president's aide, then gave directions for the removal of the casket from the car. The coffin was too large to be taken through the door, and a broad window at the side was unscrewed and removed.

Would Wreck Funeral Train. Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 18.—All agents on the Allegheny division of the Pennsylvania railroad received this important and highly sensational dispatch on Sunday night: Men were seen tampering with the track near Ischua late to-night.

A GOOD BEGINNING.
