LISBON'S SOCIAL EVENT.

Special to The Journal.
Lisbon, N. D., Oct. 2.—A pleasant social event was the reception tendered Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Intlehouse at the opera house by citizens of Lisbon. It was a formal affair and a very brilliant gathering of the society people of the place. Mr. and Mrs. Intlehouse were given silverware valued at $68, besides an enlarged portrait of their young son, presented by members of the band. Assisting in receiving were Messrs. and Mmes. W. L. Williamson, George W. Harrison, E. C. Lucas and H. S. Grover. The Misses Blanche Kinne, Lulu Fox, Stella Cole, Ruby Norton, Lillian Van Horne and Olive Schindel presided at the frappe bowls. The popular band leader and his estimable wife will leave for Hillsboro to make their

Cheap cathartic medicines masquerading under the names of dyspepsia cures are useless for relief or cure of indi-gestion, because they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

OCTOBER WOMEN'S MAGAZINES

The Ladies' Home Journal for October is ing feature is an animal story by Rudyard Kipling, a very novel account of "How the Leopard Got His Spots." Ernest Seton-Leopard Got His Spots." Ernest Seton-Thompson writes of the sad life of a "Fifth Avenue Troubadour," an English sparrow, "The Real Cranford" is described by Howard M. Jenkins and is well illustrated. The closing group of letters from Miss Alcott to "Laurie" are published and Lillia Baynes Griffin tells some good stories in regard to Whistler, the eccentric artist. John Elfreth Watkins, Jr., tells the things that a president cannot do, and the fiction is by Laura Spencer Porter and Elizabeth Knight Tomp-kins. Josef Hofman contributes a paper on "Playing the Piano Correctly." Fashions and household matter crowd the other pages.

Harper's Bazar for October devotes a generous amount of space to fall fashions, and there are descriptions and illustrations for gowns for every occasion. William Dean Howells writes of J. W. DeForest's heroines in his series on "Women Heroines of Fic-tion." Dr. Mitchell continues his articles on "Self Help for Nervous Women." "Stage Favorites at Home" presents the domestic side of a group of popular women, and F. F. A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of dist, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best, in spite of the and will be of interest to all the members of

The October Woman's Home Companion might be called a domestic number, for there are several articles that will specially interest housekeepers. Drs. Larned contrib-utes an article on "Modern Savories in Antique Settings," and Mrs. Kretschmar writes of "Servants." Sallie Joy White and Mary Graham also have something to say on household topics. The feature of the number is the article on Stephen Grard and his college, by Helen Leah Reed. The stories are by Lewis MacBrayne, Frederick Van Rensselaer Dey and Grace S. Richmond. There is an interesting group of pictures of southern beauties to illustrate an article on "The Southern Girl of To-day." Five pages are devoted to fall fashions

The cover of the October Housekeeper has a picture of Miss Pauline Kruger as she appeared at one of the artist's ball in the ostume of Roxane, from "Cyrano de Bergerac." It is in shades of green and is extremely effective. The contents are as interesting as the cover. There are stories by Elizabeth Price, Ellen Frizell Wyckoff, J. Senerally.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the mest nutriment in a highly concentrated form, and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables. or grains.

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 2.—Tillie, the S-year-old daughter of Mirs. P. W. Hammer, was caught in an open , shaft making ninety revolutions a minute in the Great Western elevator here yesterday afternoon, and sustained injuries which may prove fatal. The exposed part of the shaft, which extends from the power-house to the elevator proper, is about eighteen inches from the ground, and the little girl with several other children was playing near by. The supposition is that she attempted to ride this shaft, when her clothes wound around it. She was badly out about the head and shoulders, but no bones were broken.

Varieties of Potatoes.

While the quality of sweet potatoes differ to some extent in varieties there is not such marked difference as there is in the several varieties of the white potato. The important thing to know is to which of the two classes the many varieties belong; the dry mealy order or the waxy or watery kind, that can-not by any form of necromancy be converted into a snewy, mealy puff ball. For some purposes these waxy potatoes are preferred; for example, hashed brown potatoes and salad and for such dishes as require the potatoes, when cut, to keep shape and not crumble into a soft mass. But for baking, plain boiled, mashing, etc., and what is of great importance, for perfect digestion, the dry, mealy potato is to be selected. Many Ways of Cooking. The great popularity and as a rule the abundance of these vegetables have made a demand for a wide range in their preparation for the table. There are few of the methods that are difficult to master; in fact the potato, white or sweet, does not seem to permit of any great elaboration. Perhaps for this reason the cooks are continually seek-ing new ways of serving them. The old fash-loned fried potato, a menace to health and morals, has gradually fallen into disfavor and one now finds the French-fried, mealy and without a sign of grease; the German fried; the bashed brown I reconsist and fried; the hashed brown, Lyonnaise and broiled potatoes have taken their place. Un-fortunately the manner of baking and boiling has not kept pace with improvements other methods of cooking.

Cooked in Their Jackets.

Whenever it is possible cook the potatoe without paring them as the potash salts, the chief mineral element in white potato and so valuable and important to the blood, is lost if the skin is removed and the potato then cooked in water. Magnify a flake of Toasted Wheat and note its translucent heat-browned structure. The quadruple cooking to which it has been subject has dried every pore and portion of it. The "pastiness" of the starch of the wheat does not exist in this greatest of all foods because the starch has been "heat-digested" and thereby converted into dextrine, ready for immediate assimilation to Blood, Bone, Brain and Brawn. This food does not become a pasty mass when moistened.

TOASTED WHEAT FLAKES are widely imitated, even in Battle Creek, so in order to protect the public in securing the genuine, and ourselves, we have placed a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium on each package. Don't accept substitutes. Battle Creek Sanitarium Food Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
