OLD FRUIT NOT WANTED. Golden Valley Continues Its Fight Against Keegan's Lake Dump. C. E. Aman, the vigorous health officer of the town of Golden Valley, Hennepin county, had a lively chase yesterday after two Greeks who were dumping decayed fruit near Keegan's lake. He happened to see them by just as John Malinos and Theodore Bousalis were about to dump a melon load upon the forbidden ground, and he warned the men to desist. They declined to recognize his authority, but drove on past the lake and were preparing to ride of their load at another place when Aman again drove up. The fruit men whipped their team into a run and tried to escape into the country, but Aman was too fast for them, and overtaking them he hauled them before Justice Barner, who imposed a fine of $12. The men did not have the money, so the justice held their team while the prisoners walked back to town and secured it. Residents of the town of Golden Valley began a crusade against garbage dumping two years ago, and their vigorous work at that time resulted in a complete reform on the part of the scavengers. However, some of the guild have recently been trying to renew the practice.

WILL GIVE QUIT CLAIM. King Heirs Will Waive Claims to Lyndale Park. The Lyndale Park matter has been settled. The land given to the city for park purposes under certain unfulfilled conditions will not revert to the heirs. The park board may now do as it pleases with the property, unhampered by restrictions of a testament. The finance committee has made an arrangement with the heirs of Colonel King for a quit claim deed for the property in exchange for $5,000. The board last night directed Secretary DeHaven to draw a warrant for the amount. The park board will turn over two lots on which the King homestead stands to Mrs. King. Colonel King expressed a wish to retain possession of the place as a home for his sister-in-law, Mrs. John H. Shurt. It is understood that Mrs. King will comply with the expressed wishes of her husband.

Rowe's Odd Will. His Son Must Support Himself Before Receiving Legacy. Clarence J. H. Rowe of St. Paul will get a little fortune some day, but he will have to work and be a good boy. In order to get $500 from the estate of his father, John H. Rowe, he must satisfy the administrator that he has worked two years in the same position and has paid $3 per week for board or kept house. In 1915 he is to share in the division of $100,000 provided his father has continued his industry. Otherwise a guardian will hold his estate in trust. The other heirs are the wife, two sons, two daughters and a daughter-in-law.
