Idelowitz, William Schraymer, Max Brooks and Harry Kain to the state reform school at Red Wing on March 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 respectively.

The Minneapolis eleven has already played two games this fall and has made an excellent showing. The Gobbers and the Sheridans being their antagonists, in the Fairbault men, however, they will meet a team well worthy of their skill.

The signals for both teams will be spelled out by the respective quarterbacks, who will indicate the play by spelling numbers and letters with their fingers. Even the "rooters" on the side lines will make no sound. They will wave their arms frantically in the air, and spell out their school yell exultantly whenever the home eleven makes a gain, but the silence will be deadly. The victors will go unannounced and uncheered, but they will probably appreciate their victory just as thoroughly as though they were urged on by a megaphone during the game.

From the standpoint of the football crank the game will be a great curiosity. Even the "rooters" on the side lines will make no sound. They will wave their arms frantically in the air, and spell out their school yell exultantly whenever the home eleven makes a gain, but the silence will be deadly. The victors will go unannounced and uncheered, but they will probably appreciate their victory just as thoroughly as though they were urged on by a megaphone during the game.

The Great Western road has made a round trip rate of $1.57 for the game.
