UNCLE SAM'S AUTOS

The Republic Plant Preparing to Turn Out Five Rigs. EACH TO CARRY 1,000 POUNDS Running Time Per Day Is to Be Limited to 16 Hours—Drivers After Places.

Preparations are already under way at the plant of the Republic Motor Vehicle company in this city for the early completion of the five automobiles to be built outside the city with government requirements for the use of the postoffice department in Minneapolis.

The gears will be of the standard kind used by the Republic company, the motors being of the standard type with a capacity of from 12 to 15 horse power overload. The wheels will be of wood with very heavy solid rubber tires. The bodies will be about eight feet long, the top solid wood with a coping and dash in front for the drivers' protection. The bodies will be painted blue with the government U. S. M. in letters on the sides. The front and back of the carriages are to be secured by the Republic company.

The vehicles will weigh 2,200 pounds with a capacity of not less than 1,000 pounds of mail. Applications are coming in every day for the position of chauffeurs. Mr. Linton intends to employ students in the electrical engineering department of the university on Sundays and at night. The vehicles will have a running time of not to exceed sixteen hours each day.

The city will allow a running rate of six miles per hour down town and ten miles outside. The automobiles are to have the right of way the same as the wagons now in the service.

The postoffice department has accepted the bid of J. F. Linton, manager of the Republic Motor Vehicle company, for automobile service, beginning Jan. 1 and continuing until June 30, 1903, at a contract price of $17,312.85 per year. The bond of $20,000 has been approved and the contract will be forwarded in a short time for signature. The department has waived the clause calling for a sixth reserve vehicle of standard size, although the contract will be ready for emergencies. At the expiration of the contract the government will advertise for bids for furnishing service for four years at a time. There are federal statutes controlling all government contracts, and each contract must contain numerous little details called for by the statutes. Old contractors understand this, but there is an attempt being made to get around it by a new contractor, who does not understand why the government should be so much more particular than other folks.

BY BANK ASSOCIATES

Formal Action Taken on the Death of Gov. Pillsbury. The board of directors of the First National bank adopted the following resolutions yesterday:

The directors of the First National bank of Minneapolis have learned with extreme sorrow of the death of their long-time friend and business associate, Honorable John S. Pillsbury, fellow director and vice president of this bank, who died at his home in this city on Friday, the 18th inst.

Mr. Pillsbury was a native of New Hampshire, but in his early manhood sought a new home at the Falls of St. Anthony, in territory that is now a part of the state of Minnesota. He was a man of high character and high regard of all who knew him. He was a man of high character and high regard of all who knew him.

Beginning among us while still a young man, endowed with the robustness of a New England character, and a personality peculiarly fitted for the duties of a public man, he was a man of high character and high regard of all who knew him.

Mr. Pillsbury has been a director and vice president of this bank for many years and it is of his great service, helpfulness and value as an expert and a most valuable witness. His judgment in the affairs of the bank was ever intuitive and unerring, clear and sound. His thorough and wide knowledge of business and business men, aided by his extensive memory, made him a most valuable guide and counselor; his candor and outspoken frankness ever made him a most helpful associate, and his congeniality and uniform courtesy commanded the friendship and high regard of all who knew him.

We grieve with a sense of great loss, both of friendship and helpfulness. Knowing our own sense of bereavement, we extend assurances of our sincere sympathy to those who stand in closer relations with him, and especially to his sorrowing family.

SLUMS ARE DOOMED

Must Inevitably Go in New York's Early Future. The Editor of the Review of Reviews Discusses Municipal Problems in New York.

Before the Congressional Club of New York this week Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, discussed municipal problems, paying special attention to the slum problem of New York. His ideas are of interest here not only because of his former residence in Minneapolis, but also because some of them apply to conditions outside of New York.

He declared himself in favor of municipal ownership of public service franchises and a rigid enforcement of law, though to accomplish the latter a wise modification of the laws might be necessary.

SLUMS ARE DOOMED

Must Inevitably Go in New York's Early Future. The Editor of the Review of Reviews Discusses Municipal Problems in New York.

Before the Congressional Club of New York this week Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, discussed municipal problems, paying special attention to the slum problem of New York. His ideas are of interest here not only because of his former residence in Minneapolis, but also because some of them apply to conditions outside of New York.

He declared himself in favor of municipal ownership of public service franchises and a rigid enforcement of law, though to accomplish the latter a wise modification of the laws might be necessary.

Taking up the New York situation, he said: Tammany Hall is supported by a great number of personally decent and industrious citizens, but as a political organization it represents an aggregation of selfish private interests—great groups of small holders; distinct bodies and classes, such as the saloonkeepers; great bodies of laborers, who are taught to think that their work comes through political favoritism and private corporate interests, which at times have most to gain from weak or corrupt municipal government.

Against the selfish and petty interests which support Tammany political government are all the interests and groups which take a higher and broader view of the public interest, and are more than a majority, but which in the very nature of things lack unity and close organization. The difficult thing is to bring about a voluntary co-operation at a given moment.

Much that was gained under the reform administration of Mayor Strong has been permanently held during a Tammany regime by a tenacious and able administration. The reform should win this year great progress would undoubtedly result in the coming period of two years, and it would for the most part be permanent gain, even if a reaction should set in and a Tammany administration should have its turn. Such is the course and method of municipal progress in New York and many another town.

Great indignities are being done to the city and the people of New York, and it is not known whether they will visit the twin cities. It is a disgraceful thing to do this trip, as it is not denied that the Great Western is for sale, provided Mr. Stickney's price is forthcoming. It is now believed that the Harriman interests are preparing to take over the property on Mr. Stickney's terms. The opinion also prevails that the same syndicate has an eye on the Rock Island, one of the few great independent systems now remaining in America.

The Great Western has long been a thorn in the flesh of the Minneapolis-Chicago lines. With terminals in Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Kansas City, Sioux City and Omaha, and strategically located with reference to all of its competitors, the road enjoys a unique position in the northwestern railroad world. It runs through rich sections of country which are producing much business and is by no means a long line between any of the points named. Its location and excellent facilities have enabled its management to steer clear of entering into alliances with other lines. In both passenger and freight matters the road usually maintained an attitude of independence even when certain points to the demands of an improved public opinion. But at the present time the possibilities of splendid progress at the hands of an enlightened and disinterested management are being lost.

Such a policy, if it were followed, would provide, give this campaign an uncounted character of buoyancy and hope. Never has the ballot box in America offered a great community so much of concrete blessing as it now offers the people of the city of New York.

Even with a Tammany government we should make some progress in the right direction, because even Tammany must respond at certain points to the demands of an improved public opinion. But at the present time the possibilities of splendid progress at the hands of an enlightened and disinterested management are being lost.

Such a policy, if it were followed, would provide, give this campaign an uncounted character of buoyancy and hope. Never has the ballot box in America offered a great community so much of concrete blessing as it now offers the people of the city of New York.
