STOPPED ON THE BRINK

Western Av. Passengers Have Thrilling Experience.

CAR JUMPS THE TRACK

Then Plunged to the Edge of the Viaduct.

AN AWFUL DEATH SEEMED NEAR

When Checked the Car Was Nearly Balancing at the Edge of the Structure.

Car 465 of the Western and Second street line, down-bound, with seventeen passengers, jumped the track at the west end of the Twelfth street viaduct at 12:50 yesterday, slewing obliquely across the rails, crushed through the foot walk, coming to a standstill with its length one-third over the brink.

The fact that the rear trucks sank deep in the crushed planks combined with Motorman John E. Youngman's remarkable presence of mind, prevented an appalling disaster. As it was, the passengers, with one exception, escaped injury.

Among the other passengers in the car besides the motorman and Conductor V. E. Johnson, were: Fireman C. Henry, engine-house No. 16; J. E. Coughlin, 260 Fremont avenue N.; E. J. Clark, 43 Third street; Frank Morton, Rose Gagnon, Thomas Hallen, W. Pattee, J. D. Byrnes, 24 Cedar avenue; Miss Mattie Norton, 68 Lyndale avenue N.; Miss B. McBurnett, 209 Humboldt avenue N.; Miss A. Callon, 121 Cedar avenue.

The only explanation for the accident is that the uneven ballast of the track at the western approach to the bridge caused the rails to spring. The car was going at a fair rate of speed—no faster than usual, according to Conductor Johnson. The track curves slightly as it strikes the bridge and the car was lurching violently in the manner peculiar to small "trolleys" on an uneven track.

A Motor Man's Nerve. The passengers were loud in their praise of Motorman Youngman. His action in the moment when he saw almost certain death staring him in the face was little short of heroic.

PATIENTS MUST PAY Quarantine Patients, With Money, Must Pay for Board. One distinct, material advantage in having a good quarantine hospital is that the city can enforce the charter requirement that patients shall be paid for care and treatment while unable to do so, so that the institution may be made in part self-sustaining. The receipts at the hospital from patients this year are $400. The charter rule is in compliance with a charge of $1 per day for ward patients and $15 per week for private patients, the same rate that is charged at the city hospital. Hereafter the rule will be enforced to the letter.
