MOULTON-BRUNDAGE

Wedding of Young People Prominent in Younger Set.

AT HOME OF BRIDE'S PARENTS

The Appointments Are Charming—A Wealth of Roses Used in the Decorations.

The wedding of Miss Adeline Brundage and Eder H. Moulton, Jr., was celebrated in the midst of the most charming appointments last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wheeler on Park avenue.

A wealth of white roses was used in the decorations and the snowy blossoms nestled among the ferns or rose in stately beauty from among the broad leaves of the palms.

The hall was hung with southern smilax and the glossy tendrils weathered the stairway and formed a network over the doorway and windows.

A leafy screen hung before the nook occupied by the musicians and long-stemmed chrysanthemums lifted their shaggy heads from the tangle of green.

A great basket of the flowers was tied to the nuptial post with broad satin ribbons. The bay window in the drawing-room was hung with smilax and above was a canopy of bride roses.

On the mantel and cabinets were more roses. In contrast to the white and green of the decorations the red roses in the library gleamed resplendent in the tangle of green.

A great basket of bride roses was in the center of the table, which was lighted by tapers in four silver candelabra. Palms and roses on the sideboard were reflected in the mirrors and the bride's attendants prominent in the situation.

The ceiling was a network of smilax. The trape table in the hall was decked with roses and smilax.

The approach of the bride and her maid of honor was announced by the strains of the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus, played by the "Woodruff and Carl Hiedelberger" Miss Elizabeth Brundage and her attendants.

The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de sole made over silk. The skirt was fashioned with three tucked flounces edged with valencienne lace, and the décolleté was trimmed with lace.

Her flowers were bride roses. The bride was met at the foot of the stairs by her father, her groom was white panne crepe trimmed with point d'indian lace.

Two broad panes were in the skirt, which was edged with the lace. The bodice was covered with the lace and the girde was of tucked panne velvet.

The tulle veil was caught in place with a spray of orange blossoms and the bride's bouquet was of white violets. The white satin ribbons to form an aisle had been stretched by Little Katherine and Dorothy Benner in fluffy white frocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Moulton and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Neff of Marselles, Ill., received with the bride couple. Mrs. Wheeler wore white crepe de chine and lavender and fashioned with lavender velvet and Cluny lace.

Her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. Neff's gown was of white panne chiffon trimmed with point applique.

Mr. and Mrs. Moulton left on the evening train for Chicago and they will spend the winter in southern California. The bride's going-away gown was of white mousseline de sole, trimmed with chinchilla with a hat to match.

A pretty affair of the day was the marriage of Miss Jessie Clark Wells and Walter Eldridge Atwater, which was solemnized at high noon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary L. Wells, on E. Nineteenth street.

The parlor was banked with palms and ferns and clusters of white roses nestled among the foliage, carrying out a color scheme of white and green. The dining-room was in pink with roses on the table and sideboard and garlands of smilax falling from the chandeliers.

Miss Louise Bugbee played the wedding march that announced the entrance of the bride party. Miss Nellie Wells was her sister's maid of honor and wore pink mousseline de sole. The bride's gown was of white silk null trimmed with lace.

The lace edged bolero was caught with a knot of white panse velvet. Edward Dawden of Davenport, Iowa, was the best man and the service was read by Rev. G. H. Ten Broeck of Merriam Park. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater left for a short trip and they will be at home after Dec. 1 at the Newluka. Mrs. Atwater's going-away gown was of brown broadcloth with hat to match.

The out-of-town guests were Albert Atwater, the Misses Marjorie and Mary Atwater, Mrs. Charles Schrader of Iowa City; Bert Atwater, John T. Hubble, Chicago; Miss Jessie Risley, Miss Bessie Day and Edward T. Dawden of Davenport.

A number of Minneapolis people went to Northfield to-day to attend the wedding of Miss Annie Harriette Dean, daughter of Mrs. S. Dean, and H. C. Maugham of St. Paul, which took place in the Congregational church at 12:30 o'clock.

The service was read by Rev. F. N. Pies, F. W. Owen, S. F. Patten, W. W. Owens, E. T. Reed, E. H. Hoff, E. H. Lusk and S. F. Porter. The "Lohengrin" bridal chorus was played as the bride party entered the church in two groups and the wedding march sounded as a recessional.

Mrs. McConnell sang "Ich Liebe Du" after the vows were spoken. Miss S. Day Dean was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Manning, Alina Berg, Alina Archibald and Evelyn Carter. The best man was Warren H. Dean and Mrs. Dean gave her daughter in marriage.

The church was handsomely decorated in green and white. The service was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of Mrs. Dean. The out-of-town guests included Wyman Lawrence, Bert Novatadt, G. S. Johnston, F. H. Robertson and other members of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Patten, Mrs. Reus, Mrs. Moreland and daughters, Harvey S. Clapp, St. Paul; Miss Winifred Small, Brainerd.

Last evening the bride's brothers and sisters gave a dinner for the members of the bridal party at the Archer House.

Mrs. M. G. Rodemal gave a large reception this afternoon at her home on Colfax avenue in honor of her guest, Mrs. John Scott of Des Moines. Long chrysanthemums were the only flowers used in the decorations, and the great fluffy blossoms lifted their heads from tangles of southern smilax and ferns.

Pink blossoms were used with palms and ferns in the reception-room, and the library was in yellow. In the dining-room white blossoms were on the table, and a pretty effect was obtained with the red shaded candles, which cast a rosy glow over the snowy flowers.

Mrs. Rodemal and Mrs. Scott were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Harry Waldron, an assisting through the rooms were Misses C. B. Smith, Charles Davies, John Hornbrook and T. L. Danrel. Miss Myrtle Rodemal and Miss Henriette Martin served frappe from a table placed in the oriental tent.

The full dress rehearsal of the Dramatic Club, which was held last evening in Century hall, was a most satisfactory affair, and the anticipations in regard to the entertainment this evening will be more than realized. It will be the first large affair of the winter, and with the exception of the hostesses' ball, is the only brilliant event until the Assembly ball during the holidays.

After the program the floor will be cleared and there will be dancing. The secrecy that has been maintained in regard to the program has been added to the interest which has been roused.

The wedding of Miss Sayde Munger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Munger, and O. C. Smith will take place Thursday, Nov. 7, this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. D. VACATION SCHOOLS
Improvement League Hears Interesting and Encouraging Reports.
Vacation schools and summer playgrounds proved an attractive topic of discussion at the meeting of the Improvement League yesterday at the West Hotel and the attendance was large. Reports were given of the two schools, one of which was held at the Franklin school on Fifteenth avenue N and the other at the Clay school on Twentieth avenue S. The schools were in session for six weeks, beginning July 1. The report of the management and results of the playgrounds was given by Mrs. M. D. Shutter. The success of the manual training taught at the Franklin school by John C. Billings was so marked that this will become a permanent part of the work.

The finance committee, composed of Dr. M. D. Shutter, W. L. Harris and F. A. Simmons, reported that $238.85 had been raised by subscription. Of this amount $50 was the gift of the Mothers' Club of Unity House. The disbursements were $288.65, leaving a balance of $49.20. As most of the subscribers are willing to make their contributions annually the prospects for the work are encouraging.

The report of the work at the Clay school written by Miss Grace Ellis was read by Mrs. C. W. Keyes. Her report showed that the total number of children enrolled was 155, and of these 135 were Scandinavians, 12 Irish and 8 German. The average attendance was 40 and the maximum 75. Basketry, patchwork and general sewing were taught. There was no manual training at the Clay, and the boys were much disappointed. Mrs. Keyes emphasized a point made by Miss Ellis about the value of the play instinct in developing the very essential character traits of truthfulness, loyalty and courage.

Resolutions were passed thanking the board of education for the use of buildings, grounds and equipment; the Daughters of the American Revolution for the flag and flagstaff, and the First Congregational church for books and charts, and others who had contributed to the success of the work.

The principal address of the afternoon was made by Dr. Shutter, who said in part: "The thing that we need to remember, above all others, is that here in the west and especially in this city, of which we are so justly proud, our great problem is that of prevention. We have no slums and we ought to pledge ourselves before high heaven that we never will have them. Let us work to-day for the future. Let us begin with the children, in such wise and effective movements as these vacation schools. The next generation will take care of itself if we can keep busy the hand and brain of this generation. We shall be false to the trust committed to us as citizens if we allow ourselves to repeat the mistakes of older communities. This is not a question of class or locality. It concerns all the children of the city—those of the rich as well as of the poor. There is no class exempt from final degeneracy if we allowed to grow up untrained or idle. Let us solve these questions squarely in the fact. The more we solve the problems of prevention the less shall we have to puzzle over the problems of cure."

St. Paul Chapter's Annual Meeting.
The annual meeting of the St. Paul chapter, D. A. R., was held yesterday afternoon in the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church, St. Paul. The day also celebrated the tenth anniversary of the organization of the chapter. The guest of honor was Mrs. A. A. Stevenson, who spoke on "How Club Life Comes a Benefit to the American Women." Mrs. Stevenson believes that every young woman should belong to at least two clubs. Club life broadens a woman, mentally and morally, widens her sympathies and improves her self-control. A woman, however, should remember that her club life is not everything and that her kingdom is her home. There she should continue to exert her greatest influence, ruling through love as wife and mother.

Mrs. D. A. Montfort sketched the history of the club since the first meeting in 1881. The St. Paul chapter suggested that the national flag be floated over all the public schools and the suggestion has been adopted throughout the United States. The chapter has furnished two vice presidents general, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Jewett, and two state regents, Mrs. Newport and Mrs. Montfort.

Mrs. A. Hunt read a memorial of Mrs. Alice Gilbert Jackson, whose death occurred since the last meeting. Mrs. J. B. Baird told of the chapter's personal property, the gavel made from the first flag staff raised at Fort Snelling in 1815, which was presented by the late General E. C. Mason, U. S. A. Mrs. E. R. Sanford was re-elected regent and the other officers chosen were Mrs. William Wood, vice regent; Mrs. George H. Hanson, recording secretary; Mrs. F. L. Krayenbuhl, registrar; Mrs. J. M. Welch, treasurer; Mrs. C. R. McKenny, historian, and Mrs. M. D. Edwards, chaplain.

Minneapolis Chapter's Outing.
The Minneapolis chapter, D. A. R., will hold its next meeting at the Jones-Harrison home Saturday. The members are requested to take a box lunch and, if possible, to meet at the Lotus Park and reach leave at twenty-ninth street and Hennepin avenue at 11:25
