

The best things to wear, from head to foot, "Knox" and "Youmans" Hats—"Hanan" and "Emperor" Shoes.

The SHOE Question

Is one that we have made a special study. The touch of the expert shows his handiwork in every pair of our shoes. Every section of our great shoe sales-room is presided over by experienced salesmen, men of the 20th century stamp, whose duty it is to think and fit the different feet with shoes adapted to the specific requirements of each individual foot, and with our varied assortment you know what this means. It means perfect fitting shoes and at prices that will surely be a saving to you.

We are now showing many exclusive styles and patterns that are new and very popular in the east. Hanan's new "Diana" last in women's, made in a patent leather button boot for semi-dress, is very smart and has a custom look not found in other shoes. The swellest in men's is the "Admiral," leather lined enamel, hand sewed, yellow rope stitched; in perfect harmony with one of those new "Kitchen" overcoats.

Our misses and children's section is always filled with Dependable Footwear. The styles for school wear are especially strong. Heavy calf shoes, with extension soles, made of the best oak sole leather, that we can guarantee to give service, and the style are the very best. For the little ones we have the light dressy styles as well as the heavy ones. The proof of all this is to be found in the following four groups of shoes.

- A genuine Box Calf Good year welt lace, extension rope stitch sole, for only $2.00.
- A youth's and little gentleman's genuine Satin Calf Good year welt, worth in style and quality $2, only $1.50.
- Misses' Kangaroo calf school shoes, extension yellow edge soles, special, at only $1.75.
- Children's School Shoes that will wear and have style, sizes 8 1/2 to 11, special for only $1.35.
- Child's hand calf school shoes, turned, donopla button shoes, sizes to 8, special 90c.
- Infants' donopla button shoes, sizes to 5, worth 75c, Saturday only 50c.

These two lines of Shoes are winning strictly on their merits, just a little better than any other shoe at the price it is doing the business. They are made in all leathers—in all styles—on the most up-to-date lasts. Come in and let us show you their good points. See the new "Freak" and "Polygonic" lasts. $3.50

Women's kid or calf lace Shoes with heel or spring heels that are good wearing and stylish, $1.98. Women's new 5-strap Slippers and heavy sole calf or kid Shoes, new nobby styles, special price, $3.00. About 100 pairs of women's size 7 slipper soles for Saturday only 5c.

In the Great Shoe Salesroom. Trunks, Traveling Bags, Suit Cases, Telescopes, Etc.

This is a line of goods we do not attempt to describe, and will only say that when you need a Traveling Bag, belt a 50c scope or a $100 trunk, we can figure with you to YOUR advantage. Quality is our first consideration in the selection of this line, and you can judge as to the fairness of our prices. Special for Saturday—All leather Suit Cases, with steel frame and leather lining, regular $5.00, special, $4.00.

THE PRINTING BILL

Taxpayers Hold Up the Bill for Court Calendars.

The taxpayers have again petitioned the county attorney to appeal to the district court on a bill for printing considered excessive. Judge McGee a few days ago rendered an opinion in favor of the taxpayers who had hung up a bill of the coroner, on the ground that the items were illegal. This cut out something like $80 from his bill of that month. Such an average monthly should make quite a difference in the next year. The bill now held up was for printing the calendar for the September term of court. As originally presented the amount demanded was $453.09. The county commissioners cut it down $60 in the claims committee. Even that is considered excessive by the taxpayers. There has been criticism of late concerning the way the bids have been let for county printing, and of course the calendar was included. Those who claim to know, say there has not been fair and open competition; that a certain few who had friends at court have been asked to submit bids, while the other printers have had little show. That at least is the way one of the disappointed printers puts the case. He calls attention to the way the court calendar has gone for the past eight years. During that time there have been twenty-nine editions of the calendar, including the one now in press, and the "big six" have had the job every time. When asked to show who had been favored, he took out a little green notebook and read the lucky names and the number of times they had been lucky in nine years, as follows: Tribune Printing company, fourteen times; Great Western Printing company, 9; Kimball & Storor, 2; Harrison & Smith, 2; G. A. Mitchell Printing company, 1; Price Bros., 1. A compilation of the awards on the court calendar for the past two years shows the following: January, 1900-155 old cases, 229 new cases; total cases, 384; cost, $132.12; cost per case, 65c; printed by Great Western Printing company. April, 1900-126 old cases, 377 new cases; total cases, 503; cost, $356.47; cost per case, 61c; printed by Kimball & Storor. September, 1900-123 old cases, 1,070 new cases; total cases, 1,193; cost, $548.57; cost per case, 46c; printed by Price Brothers. November, 1900-145 old cases, 210 new cases; total cases, 355; cost, $289; cost per case, 76c; printed by the Tribune Printing company. January, 1901-146 old cases, 198 new cases; total cases, 344; cost, $118.91; cost per case, 33 1/2c; printed by Harrison & Smith. April, 1901-155 old cases, 238 new cases; total cases, 393; cost, $118.76; cost per case, 29 1/2c; printed by Great Western Printing company. September, 1901-256 old cases, 1,028 new cases; total cases, 1,284; cost, $393.09; cost per case, 30c; printed by Great Western Printing company. The large number of old cases carried over from one term to another will be noticed. There is where the profit comes in. Look at what the original amounts of some of the bills were. Take the one for September, 1900. It was put in at $612, but the commissioners cut it down to $488.77, and that amount was the price for printing the calendar. Now for $130. That was also cut to $118.91 and accepted in full. Another point is that bids were put in for printing most of those calendars, but you would hardly recognize the bid price, compared with the way they figure out by calendar count, and the bids were based on so much per case, too. "No," said the printer, "we on the outside are not at all pleased with the way they figure out, but if the whole thing were open to all bidders, we would be perfectly willing to take our chances with the others. We have been in the business long enough to know what good printing should cost, and we are willing to charge that much and no more." It is also claimed that under the old methods down there at the courthouse, the bids for printing the calendar were sent to one official. He was very particular always to open them himself and often that preliminary was attended to at his house, and he brought the bids to the office open and indifferently remarked that so-and-so was the lowest for printing the calendar. Now who, it is asked, could compete fairly under such conditions? During the past year, the printing has been let by the county commissioners themselves, or rather by the printing committee, consisting of E. P. Sweet, chairman, Fred E. Barney and Mike W. Nash. Bids have been asked for, but what is wanted is that a public announcement of what printing is to be done, be made, bids solicited on the specifications and then the bids opened in public. That, the printers claim, would be the business way of doing the county work in that particular. For the calendar only three bids were put in, for 24 cents, 25 cents and 26 cents per case respectively. Does anyone suppose that with nearly one hundred printers in this city only three bids would be sent in for such a job if general bidding was solicited and no favors shown. Let us try open bidding once and see.

Why 714 Guaranty Building Is besieged by Milliners.

FRED JAMES BUSY EXPLAINING

Jocular Friends Took a Mean Advantage of His Acquisition of a Millinery Stock.

Occupants of the seventh floor of the Guaranty building have been surprised at the large number of young ladies that have thronged the halls near room 714 since last Saturday morning. The honest railroad man who is constant reader of The Journal phoned for a reporter this morning, remarking that there was "something doing" in the 800 general offices, as no less than ten young women were waiting in front of room 714. The reporter found a charming bevy of girls at the place indicated. They all wore stunning hats white, the latest pattern, and appeared extremely anxious to get an audience with somebody inside. Mistaking them for a party of school ma'ams, the reporter said:

"Yes," chimed in another adorable creature in an all tobacco-brown creation of extremely novel conception—being of an eccentric flaring effect, covered with velvet, and having five strands of glossy fiber ribbon strapped across the left side and held in place by five gun metal cabochons, the whole adorned with three half-inch ostrich feathers rooping gracefully from the other side—

"We want to see the man who inserted this advertisement in The Journal. We are the people and are ready to talk business." Here the A. C. in the all brown tobacco handed over the following clipping:

"My friend Estelle," broke in an elf-like young woman in a startling magpie effect of black and white, "called on Mr. Jaynes yesterday, but after talking to him an hour she—

"At this juncture the door of 714 opened wide and two young women swept out as if they were hurrying about something. A smooth-faced man of apparently 55 summers stood smiling in the doorway. "Are you Mr. Jaynes?" cried the bevy in a bunch. "Yes, er—well, you see, ladies, I'm not exactly, yes, I'm Mr. F. G. James, James, James is the name—

"Well, you're the man we want," exclaimed another in the bonnet of taffeta braid, veiled in green crepe, the underdrum, chou and bands being of green velvet. "We came in answer to your advertisement, you are up on all the French styles, and—

Mr. James backed into his office, followed by the women, the speaker continuing her recital in a high and rapid tone of voice. "We're up to snuff—know all the styles in gay Paris, if that's what you mean by 'newer creations.' You now the flower and show styles are characterized by picturesque shapes, beautiful colorings and rich materials, flowers, ostrich, lace and furs are all used, the tendency in hue being toward sombre tones and the tints of the colorings being being quite the thing, although emeralds and bottle greens are much in vogue at present, although white and ivory, especially in velvets.

Suddenly the door of Tony Levering's office, which adjoins that of Mr. James, opened and Mr. Levering said: "Mr. Lowry says for you to buy the ladies' hat, Jaynes. 'What makes you so mean?'" This interruption saved Mr. James' life, as it gave him an opportunity to explain things. He informed the ladies that "somebody" heard he had got a stock of millinery goods in a trade and had inserted the pernicious advertisement "quite unbeknownst" to him and for a joke.

F. H. PEAVER'S PICTURES An Attractive Feature of the Fine Arts Annual. In addition to the usual pleasant features of the annual meeting of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts which will be held this evening at the Hotel de Ville, Mrs. F. H. Peavey, the members and the friends whom they invite to accompany them will have an unusual treat in the opportunity of examining the large number of beautiful paintings which Mr. Peavey's home is hung. Among the artists represented in the collection are several whose works are very well known abroad and in New York, but are rarely seen in this city.

In Labor's Field ON A PEACE FOOTING

Peace Due to Reign Again in Plumbers' Circles.

PLUMBERS' UNION STILL TO AGIT

However, It Is Expected to Accept the Decision of the Arbitrators.

Barring possible opposition by the plumbers' union to the program mapped out by the board of arbitration for a settlement of the difficulties of the past few months in plumbing circles, the controversy appears to be at last happily settled. The action of the board was necessarily in effect a compromise, but both sides express themselves as being pleased with the results, and if the plumbers' union will but fall into the plan of the arbitrators, peace will finally reign again. The important lessons of the trouble are these: That it will invariably turn out to be a clear case of inviting trouble and perpetrating a blunder to enter into a combination with employers designed to work in the interests of a monopoly for both parties, and that once involved in a controversy where there is no clean-cut distinction as to the merits of the respective claims the only proper course is for both sides to submit to arbitration. The controversy just settled has operated to the loss in some way or other of all the parties concerned. The Master Plumbers' association has certainly lost in reputation through the publicity of the case, and the competition. The members of the plumbers' union have lost both in reputation and in a financial way. Two succeeding members of the master plumbers have been put to great trouble and lost considerable money, while the reputation of the building trades council for conservative and level-headed management has certainly suffered to a considerable degree. It has been an unfortunate mix-up for all hands concerned. Fortunately the general public has not been involved, and while some building operations have been delayed a bit, the loss on this score will be but slight. The recognition of the principle of arbitration in the long run it will be found that the results are well worth the price paid. The full report of the board of arbitration is as follows: Report of arbitration committee to A. G. Bainbridge, F. D. Furlong, P. H. Redmond (Building Trades Council) and H. Kelly & Co., Charles Wilkins & Co., Gentlemen: The undersigned arbitrators, to whom was submitted for arbitration and report the differences now existing between the Building Trades Council, Minneapolis, and Messrs. Kelly and Wilkins, above named, do hereby report as follows: After due notice to the parties interested,

We met on Oct. 30 for the consideration of the matter submitted to us, and find: First—That the present controversy does not involve the principle of the employment of union labor, inasmuch as both Messrs. Kelly and Wilkins profess themselves willing to employ union labor exclusively in the future, as they have in the past, except during the present controversy.

Second—Such being the case, the only question requiring solution at our hands is to adjust the existing differences on lines fairly consistent with the equities of the respective parties to the controversy, and the contract rights, if any, of the non-union workmen now in the employ of Messrs. Kelly and Wilkins.

Of the journeymen plumbers in the employ of H. Kelly & Co. and Charles Wilkins & Co., those who were not employed upon assurances as to the length of time that they should be given work, shall be discharged as soon as Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 15, can and does furnish men to take the places of those discharged.

That of the journeymen plumbers now in the employ of the above named firms, and who entered upon such employment under assurances that they should be given work for a definite time, it is our judgment that six of these shall be retained in the employ of these firms until the first day of January, 1902, when their term of employment expires, and that the remainder, possessing no licenses under the state law of Minnesota, shall be discharged as soon as the Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Local Union, No. 15, shall and does supply men to take their places.

We furthermore respectfully recommend, in the interests of harmony, that the legal proceedings against James Monahan be discontinued, and that, if possible, friendly relations be restored between William Rose and the journeymen plumbers. (Signed) —Wm. C. Edgar, —Louis Hansén, —John Lind.
