New Creations in Millinery.

We announce for Thursday, Nov. 7th, a special exhibit of winter millinery, including many reproductions of the horse show models and the first showing of fur effects, which are going to be worn so much. Some have no more than a single twist of fur about them, others are built almost entirely of skins in such clever combinations with lace, velvet or flowers that they still keep their lightness and grace. Most all the principal furs are used direct from our own fur factory and at very reasonable prices. We invite an early inspection.

SUPERB PAQUIN GOWN.

A gown of tobacco brown, with narrow folds of panne velvet in a deeper shade, splendidly illustrates one method of applying odd gudge designs. It is from the Maison Paquin, in Paris, and the rich trimmings, which is in biscuit color and dead white, takes the form of a Russian band, which, beginning on the bodice covers, runs down the front of the skirt in a long stole. An under band of the brown panne brings out the soft gurgure in high relief, and a fold of it between two others of the cloth, is an effective framing device.

The yoke is of thin white lace over ivory satin, an edge of black satin and gurgure buttons adding a becoming touch to the stock. The under cuffs of the sleeves are unlined, and of the same. The hat worn by this figure—a folded turban of white cloth with white pigeons of the low manner in which such headgear is trimmed. The bunchy muff is of brown panne, trimmed with black and white "down" feathers.

Black taffeta silk is the ground material of this exquisite toilette, upon which a wealth of detail is lavished. The skirt proper is of the silk in tucked panels laced together by velvet ribbons over tucked net transparencies; a superb one worked with chenille borders the foot flounce, which is of kilted chiffon edged with chenille. The bodice is entirely of lace, with a touch of chenille at the bottom of the Spanish sleeves, which are short enough to show kilted under puffs of chiffon. A vest of the same airy textile finishes with a straight collar band, left unlined and barred with three rows of velvet.

The cavalier hat is one of the most dashing of the season's styles, and the bow of black and white point d'esprit a novel novelty. Indeed, black and white neck flings are the swagger thing just now, and under fresh young faces they are bewilderingly lovely. Those showing more white than black are preferred to even mixtures, which look gray at a distance.

The Interparochial Missions Class of St. Paul and Minneapolis met yesterday afternoon in Christ church, St. Paul. Bishop Williams of Nebraska gave an interesting talk on "Results of Missionary Work." He gave a history of missions in Nebraska and said that the missionary societies served to draw the women of the church into closer communion. The aim of missionary workers should be education and people should be taught to take care of themselves and to become self-respecting citizens as well as Christians. Bishop Edsall spoke briefly on the mission work in St. Paul and commended what the interparochial society was doing.

The Tourist Club held a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. G. Kenyon on Thirteenth street to complete the arrangements for a lecture that D. C. Bell will give for the club Saturday evening, Nov. 16. Central Baptist church will be used for the lecture and each member of the club will invite a group of guests. The subject, "Malta and Paul's Missionary Journeys," will be illustrated by a fine set of stereoscopic slides collected by Mr. Bell in his journeys in the countries of the Bible. The lecture is a part of the study work of the club, which is spending years on the Mediterranean tour.

Club Notes.

The conference of unions held yesterday afternoon in Plymouth church classroom, Mrs. Kelly of St. Paul, state superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, spoke on the work of the department. Mrs. Warren stated that the rummage sale would open Nov. 12 at 300 Cedar avenue and continue four days. Mrs. B. M. Welch distributed copies of the state president's annual address to the delegates to be circulated. Those who will attend the national convention at Fort Worth are Mrs. H. M. Sovell, president; Mrs. E. P. Hendrix, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. M. Welch, recording secretary; Dr. Mary S. Whetstone. The disbanding of the woman's council was discussed.

In Social Circles

Mrs. Jennie H. Reid and Mrs. George E. Higgins gave a large reception this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Higgins in the Swindler to introduce Miss Louise M. Higgins and Miss Bessie M. Reid. The decorations were charming. The mantel was a tangle of vines and foliage and ferns and palms were placed through the rooms with clusters of long-stemmed American Beauty roses. A Japanese basket of the regal blossoms was in the reception room and the lights were shaded in pink. The dining-room was in red with a great bunch of roses in the center of the polished table and white candles in silver candelabra were on the buffet. Mrs. F. C. Donald of Chicago received with Mrs. Higgins. Mrs. Miss Higgins and Miss Reid, and assisting through the rooms were Messrs. F. A. Dunsmore, Thomas M. MacLean, Hovey C. Clarke, James T. Morris, R. Goodfellow, Theo. Basting, K. Wetherby and A. C. Fairbairn. A group of young women, Misses Ethel Sailer, Kate Burwell, Grace Cappelin, Agnes Kelly, Grace Dunham and the Misses Colby alternated at the frappe table. Miss Bernadette Kelly poured tea and Miss Oswald served coffee. A mandolin orchestra played a delightful musical program to the guests and went. This evening the assisting women will be entertained at a buffet supper.

Miss Annes Harrison will give a small German at her studio on Sixth street this evening.

Mrs. Hugh N. McDonald and Mrs. Edgar J. Couper have issued cards for a reception to be given Tuesday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. McDonald, 901 Fourth street SE.

The members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity will give a dancing party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George Priddy on Cleveland avenue.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Martha Porter, daughter of Mrs. M. W. Porter, and Harold Robert Graham took place at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Porter, 2020 Hennepin avenue, last evening. The decorations were in white and green and large bunches of chrysanthemums were tucked among the palms and ferns. The doorways and windows were hung with southern smilax and a canopy of smilax draped the recess arranged for the bridal party. Russell Patterson played the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus as a procession, "O, Promise Me" during the service and the Mendelssohn march after the vows were spoken. Little Mildred Porter was the only attendant and carried the bride's prayer book. She wore a frock of white mull, according to plan. The bride's gown was of white silk mull. The skirt was finished with graduated bouffants and inset with white lace. The bodice had a yoke outlined with lace and the stock and girdle were of white satin. She carried a bride rose. Rev. S. V. S. Fisher read the service and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Graham left in the evening to spend the winter in Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Graham's traveling gown was of blue broad with a white bodice, hand-embroidered and trimmed with green panne velvet. The fifty guests included Miss Maud Cahoon and Harry Folbeck of Chicago.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Porter gave a dinner for the bridal couple. Covers were laid for nine and the decorations were American Beauty roses and white chrysanthemums.

A reception was given last evening at the home of J. F. Wilson in the Arlington flats by the young people of the church and the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Townsend, nee Doves, who were married Oct. 24 in Rochester, N. Y. When the guests had assembled, Miss Hutchinson played the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus and the bride couple were ushered into the rooms. Rev. Mr. H. H. Fisher read the service and a few words of welcome and prayer were given by Rev. Mr. H. H. Fisher, presented Mr. and Mrs. Townsend with a handsome picture. Mr. Townsend made an appropriate response and a program of readings and music was given by Miss Lois Sprague, Miss Crittenden, Miss Hutchinson and Guy Wilson. Refreshments were served in the dining-room. Miss Margaret Jardine presided at the table and was assisted by Misses Keyes and Mattison. The table was decked with red carnations and ferns and American Beauty roses were in the parlors. The committee which arranged the affair included Rev. and Mrs. Montgomery, Miss Kunmerer, Miss Goodison, Charles Brown and Ferdinand Waddington. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend are at home at 27 Thirteenth street S.

Miss Aida Fry of St. Paul was the guest of honor at a charming luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Theodore Fays. Pink roses with asparagus ferns formed the centerpiece and a cluster of flowers marked the place of the bride-elect. Covers were laid for twelve and the favors were dainty hat ornaments in pink. The guests included Mrs. Fry and Mrs. West, members of the bridegroom. After luncheon Miss Fry was given a hoisery shower.

Mrs. Walter Wilnot of the Shaw flats will give a luncheon for Miss Fry on Tuesday.

Miss Edith Marshall gave a luncheon of seven covers yesterday for Miss Mabel Woods, whose marriage to John Harrington Hall takes place this evening. Pink and white chrysanthemums adorned the table and were used through the rooms. In the afternoon the guests dined on the East Side. The evening was the members of her bridal party.

Miss Sayde Munger gave a luncheon yesterday at her home on the East Side. The guests were the members of her bridal party.

ANTI-POLYGAMY MEETING

AT WESTMINSTER PRES. CHURCH

Rev. N. E. Clemons of Utah Will Speak—Object of the Gathering.

There will be a mass meeting in the interests of the anti-polygamy constitutional amendment, at Westminster Presbyterian church to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. The interest in the question is so great that many of the churches will give up their prayer meetings to attend this meeting. Rev. N. E. Clemons of Logan, Utah, will address the meeting.

Mr. Clemons is on a six months' leave of absence, granted by the Presbyterian board of home missions, in order that he may travel through the east to place the Utah situation before the people in its true light. Mr. Clemons was brought up among the Mormons and has an intimate knowledge of his subject that gives both weight and interest to what he has to say. He is an able and forcible speaker, able to entertain as well as instruct. He presented the question of how to deal with polygamy at the meeting of the synod in Albert Lea in October and deeply impressed the ministers and delegates by his revelations.

Mr. Clemons will speak to-night at the House of Hope church, St. Paul.

A determined effort will be made at the session of congress this winter to push through a resolution submitting to the states an anti-polygamy amendment. Probably the most active force for work to secure this amendment is the interdenominational Council of Women for Christian and Patriotic Service, which was organized for the express purpose of fighting polygamy. Mrs. D. R. James of New York is the head of the organization and Miss Helen Gould has been an active worker in the matter. Vast petitions are now being rolled up for presentation to congress, agitation is being carried on by correspondence, literature and public meetings.

A LAND OF PROMISE

Is That to the West, Says George Bradford.

George Bradford, chief clerk in the railway mail service, returned last evening after a two weeks' vacation on the Pacific coast. Mr. Bradford was especially struck with the business opportunities and activity in Seattle, which he believed is bound to be a great center of commerce. He took occasion to visit the shipyards where the government has work in progress and saw the Oregon in dry dock. A week ago Mr. Bradford made the trip from Vancouver to Seattle by water. For a time between Victoria and Port Townsend the passengers on the steamer gave up hope of reaching land alive.

The Skill of the Cook

Is demonstrated to the family through the medium of the food she serves. Those cooks show the greatest skill in making delicious and wholesome hot-breads, cake and biscuit who use the Royal Baking Powder.

THE ORPHANS' FAIR

Plans to be Discussed at a Conference Sunday.

Sunday afternoon, at Holy Rosary church, a meeting of those interested in the orphans' fair at the Masonic Temple will be held. The fair is announced for the week of Dec. 3 through congress a resolution submitting to the states an anti-polygamy amendment. Probably the most active force for work to secure this amendment is the interdenominational Council of Women for Christian and Patriotic Service, which was organized for the express purpose of fighting polygamy. Mrs. D. R. James of New York is the head of the organization and Miss Helen Gould has been an active worker in the matter. Vast petitions are now being rolled up for presentation to congress, agitation is being carried on by correspondence, literature and public meetings.

The city is being canvassed thoroughly. One of the first donations is a sewing machine by Miss G. Fladd. The auxiliaries of the A. O. H. are taking great interest in the fair preparations.

The sale of seats for the Danz Symphony Orchestra concert will begin at the box office of the Metropolitan theater to-morrow morning and continue throughout the week. The concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.
