

BOLOMEN SCATTERED

They Fail in an Attack Upon Americans.

OTHER AMERICAN VICTORIES WON

Commission in its Report Will Recommend a Silver Coin for the Philippines.

Manila, Nov. 18.—Company E of the Ninth Infantry, Captain F. H. Shoefel, was attacked by fifty bolomen and several insurgents armed with rifles at a point six miles from Tarangan in the island of Samar.

The insurgents tried to rush the Americans, but failing to accomplish their purpose, they quickly broke and scattered. Two men of the Ninth, a corporal and a scout, were killed, and one private wounded.

Sixteen of the bolomen were killed, but the riflemen escaped.

Captain Herman Hall, of the Twenty-first Infantry, has been scouting for several days in Batanga province. He and four separate engagements with the insurgents there. Captain Hall's scout resulted in the capture of one insurgent officer and 10,000 pounds of rice.

General Sumner, commander of the district of southern Luzon, highly praises Captain Hartman and his troop of the First cavalry who last Wednesday morning attacked 400 insurgents entrenched in rifle pits at Buan, Batanga province, and routed them. General Sumner says the blow then administered by Captain Hartman is the most severe since he assumed command of his district.

SILVER COINS

One of the Recommendations of the Philippine Commission.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Charles A. Conant, special commissioner of the war department on coinage and banking in the Philippines, and D. R. Williams, secretary of the Philippine Commission have left for Washington. They are carrying with them the annual report of the Philippine commission.

While its contents will not be made public until after it has been delivered to the president, the commission has renewed the recommendation made a year ago upon the subject of coinage.

"I think," he said, "that the plan which the civil commission recommended a year ago will be recommended again this year. This plan provided for the issue of a silver peso exchangeable for 50 cents in gold and nearly of the size of the Mexican silver dollar.

"If this coin can be kept at a fixed relation to gold by limiting the quantity and by other measures to control its credit, there would be no difficulty in keeping it at the value which may be fixed by law."

"In discussing legislation by congress that is needed to promote the prosperity of the islands, Mr. Conant said:

"There are a number of important measures which would promote American trade and the development of the resources in the islands. These include measures which relate to the form of government.

"There is a strong desire to have congress authorize American banks to establish branches in the islands, to increase and American investment enterprises in the most liberal manner.

"A definite mining law is being awaited with great eagerness by American capitalists. A land law and a forest law are also needed.

"Almost nothing can be done for the development of the islands in any of these respects, unless congress shall provide to modify the provision of the army appropriation bill passed by the last congress forbidding the granting of franchises for a longer term than one year.

"When congress shall authorize the granting of franchises under any reasonable restriction, there will be a great influx of American capital and enterprise."

PLENTY OF GAME

The Turnblad Party Killed Moose, Deer, Bear and Wolves.

Swan J. Turnblad has indubitable evidence that he obtained a moose and one deer on the hunting trip from which he has just returned. F. E. Johnson, game warden, has endorsed the truth of Mr. Turnblad's claim on the back of his hunter's license. The warden, however, told Turnblad's convey and held him up for a glance at his license. The record of the party of nine is as follows: Two moose, fifteen deer, one bear, twenty-one cottontails, fourteen spruce hen, seventeen rabbits and one wolf.

The party left Nov. 9 in a private car which was sidetracked at the station on the Iron Range road. From this vantage point the sallies were made against the game of northern Minnesota. The hunt was given by Consul E. H. Hobe, of St. Paul in honor of Kammerherre Strale, Swedish-Norwegian legation secretary at Washington, D. C. The other members in addition to Swan Turnblad and H. J. Ejersten of Minneapolis were Attorney Boyesen, Dr. Haldor Sveve, Christian Brandt, publisher of Nordvesten, Colonel Olnes, president of the Scandinavian-American bank, and J. H. Halden of Duluth, auditor of St. Louis county.

The latter gentleman has been authorized to purchase forty acres in the end of Bassett lake on which will be erected a hunting lodge. The property will be owned equally by the gentlemen in this party. They will entertain their friends at fishing in the summer and at staking game during the fall. Twice a year outing parties will visit the preserve.

ALL CASES IMPORTED

The Health Department Gets Busy With Smallpox Again.

It is the belief of the health department that the third annual visitation of smallpox is now about due in Minneapolis. Three more cases were discovered Saturday, and the officials were kept on a merry chase all day Sunday rounding up and vaccinating those exposed. One case was reported from a doctor's office, one from a lodging house and the third from an institute. No less than 500 persons were vaccinated in the course of the round-up begun Friday with the discovery of the lodging house case on Hennepin avenue. At 107 the six cases now in the city originated outside of the city.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Frank, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Welter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Don't put off treatment. Buy a bottle of Hood's today.

STILL N. S. WAKOTA

Mrs. Harrison-Eastman Travels Under Another Name.

DIVORCE SECURED AT DEADWOOD

She Registers as 'Mrs. Carter' While Returning East by Slow Stages.

Special to The Journal. Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 18.—Registering as "Mrs. Carter," Mrs. Sophie Harrison-Eastman, sister of Mayor Harrison of Chicago, whose divorce from Barron Eastman has been a social sensation of the year, passed through here incognito, with her brother, William Preston Harrison. They were their way from Deadwood, where the divorce was secured, to Sioux Falls.

She is still as handsome as when a few years ago she burst upon Chicago society and ended her triumphant social success by her marriage to the equally handsome but somewhat erratic genius, Barron Eastman.

Eastman, handsome and prepossessing, while a writer for the trenchant dramatic criticism in the Chicago Journal, was the namesake of the young women of the first set in Chicago, but was looked at askance by the masses, for he had no money. Miss Harrison, dashing and charming, met him at the zenith of her success. She had money enough for both, she thought, and they were married.

Then followed a period of extravagance, splendor and high living which made the names of Mrs. Harrison-Eastman prominent in society columns. They traveled much and finally ended in California. Then the money gave out, and quarrels and recriminations followed. Chicago society was suddenly surprised to find Mrs. Eastman had left her husband. Eastman resumed his work on the Chicago Journal and his wife took up her residence in South Dakota, ending in the divorce.

PEACE AT ANY PRICE

PRESSING BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Men Interested in the South African Mines Try to Have the War Ended Speedily.

New York Sun Special Service

London, Nov. 18.—There are increasing signs that heavy pressure is being brought to bear on the government by a powerful section of those interested in South African finance to come to a settlement with the Boers.

J. R. Robinson, the well known gold magnate, is taking a leading part in this movement, the primary object of which is to protect the vested interests of Rand capitalists. The chancellor of the exchequer has promised that the Rand shall be made to contribute its share of the war expenses and it is evident that the longer the war lasts the heavier will be the call on those who have most at stake in the South African gold mines. No decision has as yet been arrived at as to the exact proportion of the cost of the war which the Rand will have to discharge. The doubt on this point is being used as a lever by Robinson and other Rand millionaires to bring about the pacification of the Boer territories at well nigh any cost.

ONE OF J. J. HILL'S WAYS

'NEVER WANTED TO CONTROL N. P.'

Wall Street Comment on Gov. Van Sant's Opposition to the Consolidation.

New York, Nov. 18.—"I have nothing to say," was the only comment James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, on a railroad, would make when a reporter informed him the governor of Minnesota intended to attack the combination of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern systems.

The incorporation of the Northern Securities company of New Jersey, Mr. Hill's associates in Wall street believe, offered the only solution of the problem, which would stand a test of its legality.

This company is capitalized for $400,000,000, or just enough to represent a control of the share capital of the five railroads involved, which is $391,992,248.

"The attitude of the governor of Minnesota presents a legal question which the courts must determine," said a representative of one of the largest interests concerned.

It is intimated that in all cases where the consolidation might be alleged, as in Minnesota, the contention will be set up that there has been no consolidation, but merely a transfer of stock by individuals, whose right to make such transfers could not be abridged by states.

The work of J. J. Hill's statement that he may convene the legislature of Minnesota at an extra session to consider the case of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, which was made recently by Russell Sage, who said:

"These gentlemen who are consolidating railroad lines all over the country have to move cautiously. They will find before long that they must reckon with the legislatures of the states through which railroads pass."

Wall street has not been reassured by Governor Van Sant's declaration of a possibility of legislative interference with the plans of railroad managers. Laws similar to Minnesota's have been enacted by other states in the northwest through the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads pass. These statutes were cited by Mr. Hill during the "Northern Pacific panic" of last May and as a reason why the Great Northern and Northern Pacific consolidation, then mooted, was impossible.

"We have never had control of the Northern Pacific," Mr. Hill said at that time. "We don't want to get control of it. We are not trying to get control of it, and under the law we could not have or retain control of it."

HILL AND 13

Glaid November 13 Did Not Fall on Friday.

Special to The Journal.

New York, Nov. 18.—James J. Hill was going into 49 Wall street last Wednesday to attend a meeting of the men who arranged the settlement of the Northern Pacific trouble. A porter was coming out of the building with some office furniture and a huge calendar, on which the date, Nov. 13, was printed in big red letters. When Mr. Hill's eye fell on the calendar he looked at it with more than casual attention. Then stepped aside to get out of the way. As he resumed his way he looked at his companion and remarked: "I'm glad to-day isn't Friday, else."

MILLERVILLE THIEVES

Second Man is Roused Up and the Plunder Secured.

Special to The Journal.

Alexandria, Minn., Nov. 18.—A horse was stolen from a farmer named Schecher in Leaf Valley, Saturday night. The thief was caught near Brandon, Sunday, and proved to be the second man implicated in the Miller robbery. The authorities have both men now and about all the plunder.

Arms Mangled by Thresher.

Special to The Journal.

Pergo, Pa., Minn., Nov. 18.—While threshing near O. L. Young's place in the town of Amos, James Eckert had his arm drawn into the cylinder and terribly mangled. The wrist was dislocated and the bones of the arm broken in three places.

WELDING?

Belief That Eastern Protectionists Will Stop Fighting Reciprocity.

DEMOCRATS SEEK ISSUES

Continued From First Page.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Now, however, there is a tendency to believe that the ultra protectionists of New England, fearing that there is danger of tariff revision unless some of the reciprocity treaties are ratified, are preparing to withdraw their opposition to the treaties, hoping thereby to so satisfy the people as to prevent the demand for tariff revision from making further headway. According to this view of the case, Senator Lodge spoke advisedly, first consulting with his colleagues from New England. Should this prove to be the proper explanation of the speech, there will be reciprocity treaty ratifications of all kinds during the winter. In short, New England is more ready to give up the threat of tariff revision, if the country half a loaf in the hope that that will be better than no bread at all.

—W. W. Jermans.

WELDING?

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Senator Lodge's speech a week ago last Saturday night, indorsing the pending reciprocity treaties, has excited no little comment in Washington. At first it was believed that the speech would have no especial significance in the way of showing how the New England senators intend to vote when the time shall come for the treaties to be taken up. These senators, it was remembered, have always indorsed the principle of reciprocity, but have always opposed any measure which sought to make a practical application of it. The Lodge speech was at first believed to be only another one of these general and meaningless indorsements.

Woolens Consigned

To us and we are now sacrificing them at 52 1/2 cents on the dollar to turn them into cash for the New York jobber who sent them to us. Our customers get the benefit.

Suits or Overcoats to Your Measure.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks, Worsted Mixtures, Silk Mixture Cassimeres, Birds' Eyes, Twill Worsteds and Fancy Weave Worsteds; and in overcoats are the latest Oxfords and Grays, Vicunas, Kerseys, Beavers, Chinchillas, Friezes, Shettlands and Tweeds.

Best values ever brought to the Northwest. Come and see for yourself.

The stock comprises Tweeds, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Cheviots, Serges, Black and Blue Thibets, Scotches, Clay Worsteds, Worsteds Checks