Special to the Journal. Menominee, Mich., Nov. 19.—The Kirby-Carpenter company saved its last log last night after operating thirty years in Menominee. It has cut over 4,000,000 feet, and was the largest lumber company in the United States a few years ago.

STRONG FOOD.

Having the Longest Staying Powers.

It is a good thing to know how to select food that will so thoroughly feed and nourish the body that there is no indication of hunger or faintness from one meal to another.

Grape-Nuts Food will attend the user longer, probably, than any other food known. A young lady attending business college writes from Atlanta, Ga., saying: "Before I began using Grape-Nuts I got so hungry before dinner time that I was faint and almost sick, but since I have Grape-Nuts Food for breakfast I study harder, and wait longer for my dinner without experiencing any of the former trouble."

"One great advantage is that it requires no cooking or preparation. I wish everyone knew of the value of Grape-Nuts Food for children in school."—Mrs. Parkhurst.

MANY JAPS KILLED OUTRIGHT

Cars Catch Fire and Bodies Are Partly Consumed—Great Northern Wreck.

Great Falls, Mont., Nov. 19.—The wreck which occurred on the Great Northern near Blair, 57 1/2 miles east of this city, resulted in the death of ten men and the serious wounding of twenty-eight others.

The wreck occurred between a work train and an extra freight. The work train had on board forty-one Japanese and was proceeding west. It expected to meet the freight at Culbertson. There is a sharp curve where the trains met and the trains were running about twenty-five miles an hour. The blame is supposed to rest with the freight, which had orders to protect the work train.

At the time of the accident the Japs were at breakfast on an instant car which was smashed to kindling wood and the dead and dying men were buried in a heap of wreckage. Of the entire number on the car, but three escaped death or injury.

After an hour's work all were accounted for and there were ten dead bodies alongside the track and several other men so badly injured that it is likely they will die. It was impossible to check the work of the flames and soon seven of the work cars and three freight cars were in ashes.

H. Mastoni, foreman of the Japanese, who was one of the three who escaped injury, said he had no idea who was to blame. "We were all seated at breakfast when the crash came. I could see several parts of men sticking out from beneath the pile and we at once began the work of helping them out. I think that most of the men were killed outright. Most of them were cut up horribly. Some were torn apart. Arms and legs were lying about in all directions. There was one head which was crushed and it did not look like a head at all. Some of the men who were not killed were burned badly."

ONE WHITE INJURED

Great Northern Collision Due to "Balled" Train Orders.

Special to the Journal. Helena, Mont., Nov. 19.—Later accounts of the collision on the Great Northern railroad near Culbertson between a work train going backwards and a special freight, while the reducing number of Japanese laborers killed do not lessen the horror of the accident, which was one of the most appalling in the history of the road.

The trains came together with terrible impact, crushing the cars and human freight into a shapeless mass. Fire added to the horror and mangled bodies were cremated. Frank Knouse, conductor of the work train, was the only white man injured. He broke his arm in jumping from the engine. The accident is said to have been the result of a blunder as to train orders. The coroner of Valley county is investigating.

PRINCESS AS STUDENT

REPRESENTS ROYALTY OF INDIA

Romantic Antecedents of a Young Woman Studying Medicine in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The Princess Sophia Bamba Dhuleep Singh, daughter of the late Maharajah Dhuleep Singh of India, entered the woman's medical college of Northwestern university in Chicago yesterday and attended her first classes as a freshman "medic."

She recently reached New York from London and was there supposed to be en route to India, going in more or less secrecy because of the British government's reported opposition to her visiting the land of her forefathers. The princess, however, says she had no such intention. She came to Chicago to carry out a long-cherished project to become a physician.

According to her present plans she will remain here four years—the length of the prescribed course. She is about 28 years old. Her complexion is a clear olive. Her hair and eyes are particularly noticeable; the former, black as midnight, is worn with a large pompadour and coiled high.

"I came to this country to study and be quiet," is all that the princess would say in any inquiry. She will not speak of her country nor say why she chose Chicago to study.

Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, father of Princess Sophia, was only eleven years old when Great Britain took possession of the Punjab and also of the famous Kohinoor diamond, the most highly prized possession of Runjeet Singh. The princess was born in the rear of a reclining Her mother was a half caste, Miss Bamba Muller, daughter of a German missionary at Cairo, whose mother was a Coptic girl. Queen Victoria took a fancy to Bamba and when the marriage with the Maharajah took place became the godmother to their first born, now Prince Victor Dhuleep Singh, husband of Lady Han Ching and the first of the Indian princes to marry into the British nobility.

AS TO IRRIGATION

Protest Against the States Having Charge of the Work.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—The executive committee of the Southern California section of the National Irrigation association has formulated a telegram of protest which has been sent to President Roosevelt. The telegram calls the president's attention to a report sent out from Washington that he would recommend to congress a plan of action for the reclamation of the arid lands which will have the effect of entrusting to the states, instead of the agents of the federal government, the systematic development of the plans for irrigation works. The committee represents that such a policy would be a serious error and a death blow to the national irrigation movement and to an era of home-building on the public domain.

ENLIST OR STARVE

Indiana Man Makes Charge Against Great Britain.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Frank Porter of Logansport, Ind., makes a very serious complaint against the British government. He says his son took employment in a St. Louis agency and went to South Africa. On the ship he was told that he could enlist only as a British subject and must sign certain papers.

Afterwards he was asked to enlist in the British army.

When the son of Stowe was consul to Cape Town he reported that it was the practice of British recruiting officers to bring over mulattoes and other American employes and then give them the privilege of becoming destitute or enlisting.
