Special to the Journal.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Minneapolis will be represented in the American Association, which was formally organized here to-day.

The circuit will be made up as follows: Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Toledo, Columbus, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The new association will be affiliated with the National League. W. H. Watkins and H. D. Quin were appointed a committee on by-laws and constitution.

E. Beall of Minneapolis was given a franchise in that city. He will arrange to secure Walter Wilmont for manager.

Milwaukee wanted him, but waived its claim to Mr. Beall. Milwaukee will probably secure Pitcher Willie Reidy as manager.

HARDWARE INSURANCE

Affairs of the Minnesota Company Are Reviewed.

The regular quarterly meeting of the executive committee of the Retail Hardware Dealers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Minnesota was held this afternoon in the office of Secretary Thomas McCracken.

The members present were: A. C. Hatch, president, Battle Lake; H. S. Cleveland, vice president, Minneapolis; R. Nelson, treasurer, Owatonna; W. H. Tomlinson, Le Sueur; E. H. Loyhed, Fairbault; H. Hauser, Fairfax; Joseph Mason, St. Peter; C. P. Lander, St. Cloud; F. E. Hays, Red Lake Falls; B. W. Low, Sauk Center; Julius Schindler, Wabasha.

The insurance company has been in operation for about two years. It confines its business to the retail hardware trade, having been established to benefit the retail dealers in every state having a hardware association.

H. W. Tomlinson, one of the directors, is president of the Minnesota Hardware association. He said to-day that the insurance company was carrying $800,000 in risks, and that the loss so far this year was less than $100.

GOPHER-BADGER GAME FOR 1902

It Seems Certain—Talk of Opening Cases Against Men on Both Teams.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—The members of the "Big Nine" conference in session this morning were as quiet as Quakers.

There wasn't even the suggestion of a storm or a split such as had been rashly predicted between Wisconsin and Minnesota.

H. J. Barton, of Illinois, was chairman, and F. S. Jones, of Minnesota, secretary. All of the universities were represented.

Professor Waldo, of Purdue, the arbitrator, reported on three colleges. Alhoughy, he declared, was a college under the conference rules; Dixon and Carlisle were not.

The Carlisle case was rendered in connection with Nebraska's protest of Rogers, of Minnesota.

The most important work of the morning was a decision to interpret the four-year rule as applying to baseball, football and track athletics combined.

There is much to do and friction is not impossible. Wisconsin is said here to have a fat yellow envelope full of evidence against Minnesota football players.

It is certain that the Mueller and Schreiber cases will come up. Wisconsin is hoping for Schreiber's reinstatement.

It can hardly be obtained without Mueller's reinstatement. One of the stronger forces against both is Stagg of Chicago.

There is strong sentiment in some quarters against allowing ex-Carlisle men to play except under a rule recognizing Carlisle, in athletics at least, as a college. This is yet to come up.

A Wisconsin-Michigan Game

Wisconsin is trying to arrange a game with Michigan for next year, and will doubtless succeed as Michigan seems willing.

The fight of Michigan against Chicago and Stagg is still on. The hospitable Stagg's criticism of the two institutions for playing in Chicago yesterday, Michigan and Iowa have arranged to meet in Chicago next Thanksgiving day.

C. P. R. MEN THERE

A NORTHERN SECURITIES MOVE?

It is Reported That the Canadians Are to Hear Hill's Policy Outlined.

A conference of traffic officials of the Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, relative to the general rate situation took place to-day in St. Paul.

One report has it that the Canadians were invited to St. Paul in order to hear from the lips of an authorized representative of Mr. Hill a general outline of the policy which will govern the lines under control of the Northern Securities company.

Such an assurance would, of course, be most welcome to Canadian competitors of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, as the Canadians have been fearless of competition organized on more vigorous lines.

The Canadian officials present are: G. M. Bosworth, freight traffic manager at Montreal; W. R. McInnes, assistant freight traffic manager at Winnipeg; Robert Kerr, passenger traffic manager; E. J. Coyle, assistant general passenger agent at Vancouver; Wm. Stitt, who goes to Sidney, N. S. W., to represent the company; O. C. Davidson, assistant general passenger agent, at Winnipeg; J. Godley, of Montreal, all of the Canadian Pacific; and George H. Shaw, traffic manager of the Canadian Northern.

NOT TALKING 'TURK'

Long Meadow Gun Clubbers Shy at the Word.

A "MERE KID" BEAT THEM ALL OUT

He Captured Three Out of Six Turkeys in the Club's Thanksgiving Shoot.

The Long Meadow Gun club had a turkey shoot Wednesday afternoon, but club members aren't talking about it.

The reason? Well, a stranger carried off the honors of the day. That itself was bad enough, but worse is to come. The stranger bagged just half of the birds killed, beating such cracks as Will Wolford, Charlie Whittaker, Harry Legg, John Nelson and others.

However, results speak for themselves, and at the close of the afternoon's sport Will Winston, the 15-year-old son of W. O. Winston, not a member of the club, was found to have bagged three out of the six birds killed.

That is the galling part of it. To be beaten by an outsider was disgrace enough, but when that outsider proved to be a boy, only 15 years old, club members naturally took their defeat rather hard.

Winston, per se, was delighted, and he proceeded to "rub it in" whenever he met a man who had participated in the shoot.

"Who's talking?" replied that gentleman, Yankee fashion.

"Oh, 'The Journal'! Well, I don't believe the boys want anything said about that."

"I should think they wouldn't," retorted Mr. Winston. "They tell me you were beaten out of your boots by a boy 15 years old."

Young Winston bagged his first turkey on the third or fourth shot. Charlie Whittaker, who was standing near him, looked somewhat surprised for a moment, but remarked to T. E. Penney, who was next in line: "That was only an accident."

When Winston got another. "How about it now, Charlie?" asked Mr. Penney. Whittaker wasn't sure, and said nothing.

The distance was 200 yards; and the gentlemen who are now trying to explain that something was wrong with their rifles are W. L. Wolford, John Nelson, C. S. Whittaker, A. M. Crittenden, H. E. Legg, S. J. Hewson, H. E. Bacon, C. E. Lyman, C. E. Blackwell, T. E. Penney, E. W. Sumner and H. Thum.

The Turkeys got were served upon the Winston table yesterday, and W. O. said, this morning, that if the club could only agree to hold shoots enough this winter, he would have to spend any money for birds.

THE YEAR'S LUMBER CUT

Next to the Record Year. The Total is 559,914,055 Feet—A Heavy Increase Over Last Year's Cut.

All of the Minneapolis mills have closed down for the season, the ice forming in the river rendering it impossible for them to continue operations.

The stock could be levied on in Minneapolis by filing an execution against the corporation; it could then be sold for my debt, and purchased by another, and thereupon the officers of the corporation would be required by the court to issue to the purchaser a new certificate of stock.

A CASE IN POINT

W. S. Dwinell Notes Recent Ruling of Judge Simpson.

STATE HAS CONTROL OF STOCK

Under Police Powers It May Prohibit Voting of Stock in a Minnesota Corporation.

Judge Simpson's recent decision in an action brought by the trustee in bankruptcy of George W. Jenks against Jenks and other stockholders of the American Iron and Nickel company, a Minnesota corporation, has a special bearing upon the controversy as a possible way to prevent the proposed consolidation of the Great Northern Pacific companies by the transfer of a majority of their stock to the newly organized Northern Securities company.

The case came before Judge Simpson again last week on a motion for a new trial. The arguments have been taken under advisement.

The stockholders of the American Iron and Nickel company had attempted to exchange all of their stock for stock in the Northern American Iron company.

The action attempted to determine the ownership of those particular shares of stock, notwithstanding the fact that they had been surrendered, as well as others upon another company issue.

The defendants raised the point that the court had acquired no jurisdiction; that the orders were equivalent to shares of stock, and that they were outside of the jurisdiction of the court.

The court, in deciding that it had jurisdiction, adopted the well-established rule that the situs of the capital stock is the domicile of the corporation.

The conclusions of attorneys familiar with the case are that the situs of the stock of the Great Northern company, the same being Minnesota, is as much within the state of Minnesota for the purpose of preventing or restraining the use of the stock for unlawful purposes, as it is for the purpose of determining the ownership thereof.

W. S. Dwinell, a former member of the legislature, one of the attorneys for the prosecution in the case cited, is of that opinion. Mr. Dwinell said:

A misconception exists as to the property character of capital stock. It is not a mere piece of paper, but a right of ownership which can be exercised in any control over capital stock after it is issued; that one may dispose of his stock as he sees fit, and that there can be a change of stock, but that the right of disposal is in the stockholder.

It is argued that after capital stock is once issued it becomes possessed of all the characteristics peculiar to property and that the most valuable and sacred of rights is the right of disposal.

It is argued that the legislature could regulate the conduct and affairs of the corporation as to the regulation of railroad rates.

It is possible that the legislature could so far alter and abridge the principal of vested rights as to regulate the rate of interest on stock held in another state.
