In the Great, Busy Shoe Salesroom.

People wonder how we can sell such good Shoes so cheap.

It's simple. The more Shoes you make the less each one costs; the more you sell the less it costs to sell each pair.

The maker scales down his profits per pair; so do we--and the price of the Shoe to you comes down. Nothing is sacrificed. The leather is as good as though you paid more; the making is right, so are the styles.

A FAMOUS HEROINE AFTER AN OFFICE

Kate Shelly, Who as a Girl of Sixteen, Twenty Years Ago Averted a Terrible Railroad Accident at the Risk of Her Life, Now Seeks Legislative Position

KATE SHELLEY, Heroine who saved an office.

Special to The Journal. Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 6.—Kate Shelly, Iowa's heroine, is a candidate for file clerk in the Twenty-ninth General Assembly which convenes in January. So far she has no opposition and it is not likely that any will develop, as there seems to be a tacit consent on the part of the members of the legislature to allow her this last recognition of her services.

She is actively engaged in writing to the senators and representatives asking for support. Miss Shelly first intended applying for the position of paper folder, but that position was abolished by the twenty-sixth general assembly, so that her friends advised her to become a candidate for the more important place. The salary of the file clerk is $3 per day. Each house has a file clerk, but Miss Shelly will probably be given the senate position.

It was twenty years ago the 6th of last July that she performed the deed which made her famous. Her father was a section foreman on the North-Western; their home was on the banks of the Des Moines river west of Boone. On this night the high water carried away a small bridge in front of the Shelly home and Kate, then a girl of 16, made her way across the long trestle over the river to the station at Mingoia, reaching there in time to stop an east-bound passenger train. The night was particularly dark and stormy, and such a gale of wind was sweeping down the stream that several times in her perilous trip she was forced to lie flat against the rails to keep from being blown into the water below. She still lives in the house where she lived then. Her father died a few years ago, but her mother and a younger sister are still living.

SUFFRAGE IN IOWA AFTER THE SINEWS

Mrs. Belden Pays Her Respects to the "Home Alliance."

'Twas Organized by Mrs. Brown

Saloonkeepers and Gamblers Are in League With It, She Declares.

Special to The Journal. Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 6.—Mrs. Evelyn H. Belden, recently president of the Iowa Suffrage association, has her own opinions of the "Home Alliance" organized by Mrs. Bell Brown of Washington, D. C., who came to Iowa to destroy her work for suffrage, and who united the anti-suffragists under the above name at Des Moines last week. "The Home Alliance indeed!" says Mrs. Belden. "Aligned with that 'Home Alliance' is every influence for home corruption and degradation. What are the 'Home Alliance' doing? The saloonkeepers, the gamblers and the libertines. So you have with these home protectors all these classes. That's a nice deal, isn't it?" "Horace Greeley said that not every democrat was a horse thief, but every horse thief was a democrat. Not every anti-suffragist is a gambler or saloonkeeper, but every saloonkeeper and gambler is an anti-suffragist. "I would like to see Mrs. Brown's credentials before I meet her. She claims to be here in interest of the homes. I would like to know whether she has any credentials from the church and good society."

Commercial Club Finance Committee to Begin Campaign

FOR THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS FUND

The Rest of Convention Committee Named—Preparation for Nat'l Educational Convention.

The finance committee of the Commercial Club, headed by F. R. Salsbury, will begin work in a few days on the public affairs committee's working fund for 1902. The public affairs committee has a complete program outlined for the coming year and all now depends upon the contributions of the business men.

Minneapolis will be a candidate for several of the big 1902 and 1904 conventions. Whatever gatherings the business men of the city desire to bring to Minneapolis, the Commercial Club will go after. The convention fund will be kept separate from the regular fund of the public affairs committee.

Chairman Wallace G. Nye has named the remainder of the convention committee as follows: the big 1902 and 1904 conventions. The public affairs committee has a complete program outlined for the coming year and all now depends upon the contributions of the business men.

W. G. Bruce of Milwaukee has returned home after making arrangements for the recommendation of the Wisconsin delegation at the West. He believes that the badge state will furnish the largest delegation of any of the states. He is anxious to have the Milwaukee principals' association take hold and boom the Wisconsin attendance at the gathering.

TO DISCOURAGE MATRIMONY

Northwestern University Senior Men Vow Not to Marry.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Cupid's days at Northwestern are numbered. Willard Hall has seen its last romance, and "Lover's Lane" is to be abandoned. It is all due to the order of the "Knights of the Marble Heart," a society composed of the young men of the senior class, who are not matrimonially disposed. The society, which was organized last night by thirteen male students, has for its avowed purpose the discouragement of matrimony for at least three years after graduation, and any member who transgresses the rules and breaks his pledge to remain single will be penalized the price of a banquet for the entire society. The organization of the society is regarded as a direct snub by the "co-eds."

SAYS THERE'S A MISTAKE

A young man sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for passing forged checks at Kansas City yesterday, says he is Truman L. Nye of St. Paul, and not M. H. Allen, under which name he is booked in the courts. He insists that it is a case of mistaken identity. There is a Truman L. Nye of St. Paul, who is the son of Mrs. H. L. Nye, a dressmaker, 45 W Fifth street, and is 23 years old. Mrs. Nye says she knows nothing about the arrest of her son.

CARRIED AWAY THE BUCK

Deputy Game Warden Spoils Nice Free Lunch Program.

For three days a handsome antlered buck lay on the pavement in front of a Nicollet avenue market, labeled with an announcement that it would be served at free lunch in five saloons to-morrow. But roast beef will be the menu, not venison, for this morning F. E. Johnson, deputy game warden, took the buck and sent him to a cold storage plant, awaiting orders from the state warden, Sam F. Fullerton.

After midnight last night it became unlawful to have venison in one's possession without a state tag. Even if the saloon man had tagged the animal, it could not have been served to-morrow, for the law prohibits the sale or service of venison in any form, except for the home use of the hunter. No arrest was made. The deputy warden was satisfied with the carcass of the deer, which will be sold at auction.

CAN'T STOP ICEMAN

Residents at Lake Calhoun Believe the Fight Hopeless.

CAN'T PROVE LAKE IS INJURED

The Fund Collected for Making a Legal Fight Will Be Returned to Contributors.

The ice man wins in his contention with the Lake Calhoun Improvement association. A meeting of the association will be called in a few days at which a formal resolution will be presented and, it is said, without a doubt adopted, calling off the fight against the intrusion of the ice companies at the lake and returning the money that was raised last winter to carry the matter into the courts. Members of the association's executive committee, after patient investigation, have come to the conclusion that their case against the ice men is not strong enough to warrant carrying it up to the supreme court and they will advise that the whole matter be dropped and the lake given over to the undisputed possession of the ice companies. The only possible chance to beat the ice men's game, they say, is to make an appeal to the council, and it has been decided that such an appeal is not now timely.

That the facts of the case are against the association, even the members themselves admit. Accurate measurements show that the cutting of ice does not permanently affect the level of the lake; that what is lost in winter is regained the next spring. It is manifestly impossible, therefore, to base their case on the expected grounds that the cutting of ice permanently lowers the lake level.

The association members are satisfied that the council could legally take a hand. But the best it could do, probably, would be to prohibit the cutting of ice on any lake within the city limits, and they are determined to base their case on the fact that the cutting of ice does not permanently affect the level of the lake; that what is lost in winter is regained the next spring. It is manifestly impossible, therefore, to base their case on the expected grounds that the cutting of ice permanently lowers the lake level.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE

The senior class of the oratorical and dramatic department of the Oratorical School gave a recital last night which reflected great credit on the director, Clayton D. Gilbert. The program contained much new and interesting material, arranged effectively. Several of the numbers were distinctly above the ordinary plane of student interpretation. The plays and dramatic readings were handsomely and suitably costumed and staged. The Japanese representation of "Madame Butterfly" by Miss Virginia Jarman was especially commendable. The program included two short plays, "The Tsar's Command," a Russian incident depicted by Miss Lucille Way and Mr. Ayers, and an English farce, "All For Love of Him," played by Miss Della McClaren and F. C. Peterson.

Music was furnished by Miss Lena Elmen, Mrs. Beacock, English wizard, Professor Herward, assisted by C. H. Wilson; music, Pittsburg Plate Glass quartet and Murphy's orchestra.
