Miss Mary Eleanor Lees, a bride of next week, was the guest of honor at a handkerchief shower this afternoon, given by Mrs. Thomas H. Reeves at the Waverly Hotel. Sixteen young ladies were present.

The members of the university faculty and their wives were entertained last evening by President Cyrus Northrop at his home on Tenth avenue SE. Mrs. Northrop and Miss Northrop were in the company.

The Christmas entertainment of the German kindergarten was held Thursday afternoon in the Minneapolis Classical school. The room was hung with holly and the Christmas tree was an object of interest to the small guests. After the program of German songs and recitations was given under the direction of Fraulein Nellie Koch and Mr. Schieferlemer furnished a piano accompaniment for the songs. After the program the gifts were distributed by a Santa Claus.

AN IRISH HARPIS

Miss Josephine Sullivan Will Give a Recital Friday Evening.

The harp recital to be given by Miss Josephine Sullivan in the Lyceum theater Friday evening for the benefit of the Catholic Orphan asylum in this city, will be the leading musical event of the week. The previous evening Miss Sullivan will appear at Radenbush hall, St. Paul. Miss Sullivan will be assisted by Miss Frances Vincent, contralto, and Miss Louise Taylor of St. Paul, violinist. Since Miss Sullivan's first appearance in this country as the representative Irish harpist at the world's fair, she has become well known in Chicago and in the principal cities of the east. She has played also in the leading Canadian cities and has received an enthusiastic welcome from the lovers of the harp, and the highest encomiums on her artistic talents from the musical critics.

Some weeks ago she was the guest of the sisters of Holy Angela's academy in this city, and the few who were privileged to hear the private recital given at the academy are enthusiastic. Besides a group of familiar Irish melodies Miss Sullivan's program as announced includes such classical pieces as "Largo," Handel; "Reverie," Thomas; "Spiriting Song," Hasselmann; "Greek Pirates' March," Alvary; "I'll Sing The Songs of Araby," Clay; "Dance Gracietta," Rubyns. Tickets may be obtained in advance at the Irish Standard office.

IN CABINET SOCIETY

Mrs. Payne Well Qualified for Gracious Leadership.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Henry C. Payne, who will succeed Mrs. Charles Emory Smith as a social leader in Washington, is a woman of exquisite tact. To describe her by comparison, she is more nearly like Mrs. Alger than any other lady in public life. Her friends say she has a genius for pleasant intercourse with the world.

She was born of one of the oldest and most aristocratic Knickerbocker families, and was Miss Lydia Wood Van Dyke. Her marriage to Mr. Payne took place at Mount Holly, N. J. At present her home is on Astor street, Milwaukee, and is the scene of frequent entertainments. Heretofore President and Mrs. Roosevelt have been their guests when traveling in Wisconsin, and one of the first informal dinners given at the White House during the present administration was to Mr. and Mrs. Payne.

The new postmaster general and his wife have no children, but two young nieces, Miss Margaret Louise Jones and Miss Margaret Van Dyke, make their home with the Paynes, and will be welcome recruits to the young women of the official set. Mrs. Payne is rather short in stature, her hair and eyes are dark, and she is of affable manner and takes a deep interest in charitable and philanthropic work. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of the Colonial Dames, of the Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Governors and of the Huguenot Society.

Four years ago she was a delegate to the seventh continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution from Milwaukee. Between the Paynes and the family of Senator Spooner a warm friendship exists and they have so frequently visited Washington that Mrs. Payne is fully conversant with the social conventions of the capital. Mrs. Payne will make the fourth western woman in the cabinet set, the others being Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Hitchcock and Miss Wilson. The east will hereafter be represented by Mrs. Root and Mrs. Long, but as the latter is in mourning the burden of this honor will fall upon the shoulders of Mrs. Root.

MORE BANK CONSOLIDATION.

New York, Dec. 21.—The Corn Exchange Bank of Manhattan is preparing to absorb the Mechanics and Traders' bank, Brooklyn.

Miss Ethel Winkler entertained the Alpha Delta Pi girls of the South high school with a spread at her home in Elliot avenue yesterday afternoon. The guests included in the holiday colors. Master Clyde Winkler gave "The Great White Throne" in a delightful manner, and responded to several on the program. Miss Lena Gjersten gave a Chinese solo and the whistling quartet favored the company with several selections. Covers were laid for fourteen. In the evening the Alpha Delta Pi members attended the basketball game at the Y. M. C. A.

Miss King of Spruce place entertained a group of friends very informally last evening.

Mrs. A. L. Hausman gave a small tea for Miss De Mott, who is her guest, Thursday afternoon. Miss De Mott is the daughter of Mrs. Henry V. de Mott of New Brunswick, a former resident of this city.

Thursday evening the Fortnightly club gave a dancing party in the Holmes Hotel. About forty couples were present.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nelson of Fridley were pleasantly surprised Thursday evening by a group of friends who gathered in the celebration of Mr. Nelson's fortieth birthday and Mrs. Nelson's thirty-fifth birthday. A banquet was served and a program of speeches added to the pleasure of the affair. Mr. Nelson was presented with an easy chair and Mrs. Nelson was given a carved table. Mr. Nelson is president of the Minneapolis Dairy-men's Union and is also county commissioner of Anoka county.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Barker, 249 Cedar avenue, was the scene of a double wedding Thursday night. Miss Lucy Barker and Everett Maybee and Miss Cella Barker and Frank Thompson were married. The service was read by Rev. Charles F. Davis in the presence of relatives and friends from Minneapolis and St. Paul. Miss Merriette Barker played the wedding march and Paul Dunbar sang several numbers. A wedding supper was served.

The wedding of Miss Mattie Young and Edward Cannon took place Thursday night at the residence of the bride's father, John Young, 1501 Dupont avenue N. The service was read by Rev. Mr. Peck in the presence of a group of relatives and friends. The rooms were decorated in the holiday colors. Smiles and holly were hung in the parlors and red roses and garlands of mistle were in the dining-room. The bridegroom is a traveling salesman for the Arcadia Maple company in Kansas City. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon will for the south and their return will be at home at 1501 Dupont avenue N.

Miss Annie Weiss and Arnold Funke were married Wednesday. Rev. Father Harrington read the service.

OUR DAILY BREAD
Valuable Suggestions for the Kitchen and Dining-Room.
By KATHERINE KURTZ

THE STORY OF CHRISTMAS
In the olden times the yule-log, or yule-clog, as it was called, blazed on the fire while the yule candle burned brightly on the hospitable board which was amply replenished with the abundance of yule cake cut in slices, toasted and soaked in spicy ale. Mince pies were decorated with strips of pastry laid crosswise over the upper surface to represent the rack of the stable in which the Christ-child was born. The evening was usually concluded with some innocent but inspiring game.

Another Plum Pudding.
Beat a dozen eggs light and whip into them half a pound of seeded raisins, one cup of sugar; four ounces of bread crumbs, one cup of butter with two heaping tablespoonsful of orange peel and same of lemon cut very fine. Grate in one netmeg. Add third of a cup of brandy and same of orange juice. Boil the pudding in a bag or in a closely covered mold from nine to ten hours.

Frozen Chestnut Pudding.
Boil half a pound of large chestnuts for ten minutes; drain shell and skin and boil in milk until they are soft. Then rub them through a sieve. Add the beaten yolks of six eggs and one pint of cream, one cup sugar, and stir over the fire until ready to boil. Then add two spoonfuls of vanilla and strain through a sieve. Cover two ounces of cleaned currants, same of seeded raisins, chopped citron and orange peel with boiling water and let stand over the fire a moment; then drain and soak in a little Madeira wine for two hours.

Christmas Dishes.
From the time of the old Roman feasts the proper Christmas meat has been a large bird, peacock, swan or goose. The English, varying from other nations, gave preference to the boar's head and roast beef. The boar's head to signal a victory over a natural enemy to man, as the wild boar was a deadly enemy to the ancient Briton, and the Druidical rites sacrificed a white bull at their celebrations. In our land and time we still follow, in a modified form, these old customs, giving turkey the universal preference, although roast goose and baked ham are considered proper Christmas meats.

Turban of Fish.
Take the fillets of flounder, halibut, bass or white fish; they should be three-quarters of an inch thick. Season with salt, pepper, lemon and onion juice and roll each one up, beginning at the wide end. Put each turban or fillet into a small southe dish well buttered. Put the bones and trimmings of the fish in a little cold water with a few pieces of celery, a bit of bay leaf and small onion. Simmer twenty-five minutes, then strain and use this liquor with same quantity of cream for a white sauce. Season with salt and paprika. Pour a little over each turban and bake them in a slow oven for fifteen minutes. Serve from the dishes in which they are baked. All rights reserved by Banning & Co.
