A Tax Bill Meeting—President A. C. Paul, on the night of Central line, was questioned by numerous members to call a meeting for the discussion of the tax bill. The date has not been decided but it will probably be next Tuesday or Wednesday. This will be the first public meeting of Minneapolis business men to be held since the passage of the bill discussed the code.

Fell From a Boiler—Adolph Demars, a fireman at the light and power plant at the university, fell from a boiler on which he was at work on Wednesday. He was injured from which he may die. He struck on his head and shoulder on the stone floor of the engine-room, and when picked up was unconscious. He remained unconscious until noon, when he revived slightly. Besides injuries to his head and shoulder, he sustained a fracture of the collar bone. Demars is 25 years old and has a wife living at 1319 Nineteenth avenue N.

Car Runs for the Sidewalk—Car No. 50, on the Central line, was speeding along Eighth avenue this morning, and had just reached Twenty-sixth street when the front truck jumped the track. The truck turned at right angles and the car started for the sidewalk, while women shrieked and the rear end of the car swung against one of the iron poles which support the electric wires and snapped like a rope. The car was thrown to the roof of the car. The motor man applied his brakes and the car stopped. The front truck struck the sidewalk. No one was injured.

The furniture men desire that certain articles they make be placed on the commodity "and" of Minneapolis. The question through the representatives of the north coast lines. The principal competition Minneapolis meets is from the north coast and jobs. The local men are watching the situation closely. They are fairly well satisfied with the present rates, but are endeavoring to hold their own in any readjustment.

A DOUBLE CONNECTION

Rumor That 'Tonka' Phone Company Has Succeeded

To save the Tonka Telephone company the trouble of building a separate line around Lake Minnetonka in position that is projected by the Minnetonka Telephone company it is reported that the suburban company would undertake to compromise matters by seeking urban connections with both the Northwestern and the Twin City lines.

HIGHLY PRIZED MEDAL

That Given a Former Minneapolisian

Out of 7,500 medals issued by congress for bravery during the Spanish war, only two are special medals, signifying unusual fortitude in moments of critical danger. One of these special medals has been conferred upon a former Minneapolisian, Lieutenant Commander C. W. Jungens, a brother of Frank J. Jungens of Minneapolis. Lieutenant Jungens of the tug Wampatuck, received this medal for remarkable coolness in the face of danger in the prominent part which he took in the cable cutting at Santiago, while under heavy fire, and for his bravery at the battles of Manzanilla and Guatuzamo. The other officer upon whom a special medal was conferred is Lieutenant Commander Lucien Young, who also distinguished himself at Manzanilla.

OWNED BY HERSHEL

First Photographic Portrait Posed for by Miss Dorothy Draper.

When Dorothy Catherine Draper, who died at Hastings last week, posed in her first photographic portrait of a person shortly after Daguerro's announcement in 1839 of his discovery of the action of sunlight on silver. The portrait was a fine white powder that the impression might be clearer. This first photographic portrait ever made still in existence. It is owned by Lord Herschel's heirs in England. The photographer was Miss Draper's distinguished brother, John W. Draper, who succeeded Dr. Valentine Mott as president of New York university's medical college. Miss Draper lived to see the experiment in which she took part develop into one of our most important arts. There have been other men who have alleged that they were first in applying Daguerro's discovery to photographic portraits, but she claims are not well founded. Miss Draper's picture and the date on which it was made were long ago accepted as proof that to John William Draper belonged this honor.

B. C. R. & N. Gets Ready to Put Up Its Terminals.

THEY PLAY THE ODD OR EVEN

A Lightning Shift of the Stake Enables Them to Win Every Time.

T. H. Brown Here Working Up Interest on the Part of Shippers.

T. H. Brown of Sioux Falls, S. D., right-of-way man and one of the principal representatives of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern, is in the city to-day making preliminary arrangements for the work on the terminals of his road here this spring. Mr. Brown says that a freight-house about 600 feet long will be built on the Washington avenue property and that the necessary tracks will be laid for the business of the road. The passenger trains will run into the Milwaukee station. The Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern does not expect to run its trains into Minneapolis before May. The terminals will not be completed before that time. Work will begin as soon as the ground is in condition.

The officials are anxious to establish friendly relations with Minneapolis shippers. Mr. Brown says that "Minneapolis will be the chief operating point on the road, and its big traffic is not undervalued by the company. The new terminals will be so arranged as to give Minneapolis shippers the most favorable service. Mr. Brown intends to spend several weeks here meeting business men and looking after the interests of the road in general.

"Dad" invariably throws down a $50 bill, playing odd or even as the case may be. At the crucial moment, before the wheel completes its revolution, the operator's hand does a quick lightning shift with the bill—just as it is to correspond to the wheel. If the old man, in his short pal could generally be relied upon to move the bill "to the good," if the indicator happens to stop at "odd."

BIDS FOR GENERATORS

OPENED BY STREET BY OFFICIALS

They Call for an Equipment Estimated at From $100,000 to $500,000.

The street railway company officials opened bids at the West Hotel this morning for the entire electrical equipment for its new steam power plants. The plans and specifications call for two 1,500 kilowatt, engine type, generators, two 3,500 kilowatt engine type generators, ten rotary converters and 216 static transformers and impulse wheels.

The General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., was represented by T. P. Bailey and E. C. Noe; the Bullock company of Chicago by George P. Foster and W. Cooper; the Stanley Manufacturing company of Pittsfield, Mass., by W. L. Fairchild, and John H. Finney of Chicago; the Jones-Verfied Stoker company of London, England, by J. H. Harris.

This is one of the largest contracts which the above companies have ever undertaken. It is pointed out that there is little to draw the Great Northern or the Canadian Pacific into the market for Soo shares, which comes a quarter of a cent.

The report that the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Soo are to be united in one system interests the Canadian Pacific. The influence of the Canadian Pacific is paramount in both of these roads. Its attitude on the question of consolidation can be guessed by the fact that the Great Northern will play any part in any such arrangement should one be made.

MAY BE MERGED

The Representatives of "U" Dailies Hold a Conference.

The two daily newspapers at the university may consolidate. Yesterday the boards of the rival sheets met in conference with President Northrup. The result was given out, but the entire matter was discussed. It is understood that the new daily, the News, proposed a merger under an organization similar to its own. The old News, it is believed, is opposed to any scheme of consolidation, but might be willing to consider a proposition looking to the assimilation of new sheets by purchase.

THREE PITTED STUDENTS

State Agricultural School Students Taken to Quarantine.

Three students of the state agricultural school at St. Anthony Park were removed to the quarantine hospital yesterday afternoon and to-day the St. Paul board of health is busily engaged in vaccinating the remaining students and all others exposed. The students are Miss L. M. McCabe of Richfield, F. J. Kasauba of Wayzata and E. O. Skotterud of Dawson. All three showed suspicious signs early in the week. Skotterud was the first to take alarm. He consulted a doctor yesterday, was told the truth and promptly placed himself in the hands of the health department.

BOYS PLEAD GUILTY

To the Charge of Entering Local Doves.

Thomas Jewell, Joseph Keegan and Lewis Dumas, the boys who entered the doves of Messrs Barton and Thompson a few days ago, in the police court to-day entered pleas of guilty to the charge of entering a building by force and were given sentences of 25 or thirty days each. Thomas Jewell was found by the police yesterday afternoon setting the pigeons at 25 cent apiece. He was arrested. Later Keegan and Dumas were arrested and locked up in the central station. The birds were valued at $100.

FOR USE IN HIS ART

Photographs From the Nude in G. F. Kaumeyer's Possession.

George F. Kaumeyer, a local artist, was tried in the municipal police court this morning on the charge of having indecent pictures in his possession. Kaumeyer was held for the grand jury, no bail being required. Kaumeyer stated that he had taken photographs of the nude in his regular art work. He testified that he found it essential to have either photographs or models and that he himself had used the pictures. He affirmed more-over that the charges were entirely petty spite and did not come from any desire to protect the morals of the community. Judge Holt, after profound thought, said: "I think we cannot make distinctions between artists and others. These pictures found in the possession of anyone else would be decidedly compromising. The same rule must hold for all."

LET THE MEMBERS GO

They Had Discussed the Megardden Case 48 Hours.

AN AGREEMENT WAS IMPOSSIBLE

PLAYED ON A DINING TABLE

No agreement was possible among the members of the Megardden jury and after they had discussed the case for 48 hours Judge Pond finally consented to let them go. They were summoned before Judge Pond yesterday afternoon and asked if they had come to an agreement. All shook their heads. The court deplored the fact that in a case of so much importance the county should be held so long. No juror had a right to a private opinion more than the court has a right to a public one. The court held that it should reconsider the evidence and if possible without going counter to the dictates of his conscience should revise his opinion. Mr. Whitcomb declared that the jury was too evenly divided for such a course to be possible. The two sides were too far apart to go together. He thought that each member was honest in his convictions and could not be moved.

The court called for a show of hands of all those who were certain that an agreement was possible. All hands went up, although several were willing to stay out longer. After County Attorney George W. Armstrong had read the verdict of the jury, the twelve men were dismissed. It was learned from various sources that the ballots ranged from a tie vote for conviction to a vote of nine for acquittal and three for conviction. There were also some ballots there were five for conviction, but on some ballots there were five for conviction.

County Attorney Boardman has not announced his purpose but will re-try Megardden on the same indictment or proceed on one of the other ten returned against him.

THOSE "SOO" PURCHASES

C. P. AND G. N. RUMORS DOUBTED

The C. P. R. Already Holds Control and Other Stock Is in Large Blocks.

Officials of the Soo are skeptical regarding the report that Canadian Pacific and Great Northern interests are buying Soo stock. President Lowry said to-day that he did not believe that the Canadian Pacific or the Great Northern was interested in any of the purchases of Soo stock. Private advices, received in Minneapolis, say that much of the purchasing has been done by outsiders who regard Soo stock as an investment. It is pointed out that there is little to draw the Great Northern or the Canadian Pacific into the market for Soo shares, which comes a quarter of a cent.

LI WROTE TO BOTH MEN

But They Compared Notes and Spoiled His Effect.

Many tales are told of the dealings of Li Hung Chang with his diplomatic subordinates, but there is a characteristic story which relates to his relations with the present minister to England Sir Chih-chen Lo Feng Luh. The time was that of the siege of the legations in Peking, when all the civilized world was in fear as to the beleaguered, and when China, with her emissaries and all pertaining to her, was looking for a very friendly eye. Li Hung Chang was the virtual ruler of China, and it was from him that the various ministers and ambassadors received their instructions. There had, apparently, been some former manifestation of European displeasure, when one day, the minister in England re-quested to see the Chinese minister, which was as follows: "We are not satisfied with your efforts in London. The British are hostile, and you are not energetic enough. You are neglecting to influence the government. The man who is doing all the work is your colleague in Washington, Wu Ting-fang. He is the man you should imitate. Unfortunately for Li's little game, Sir Chih-chen and Wu Ting-fang happened to be in London together, and Sir Chih-chen confided what had happened to his friend in Washington. Wu Ting-fang was so pleased at the result, he was to be expected. Frank A. BISHOP POTTER EXPLAINS

Unique Position of J. Pierpont Morgan on the General Board.

Bishop Potter recently threw light on the unique position of J. Pierpont Morgan in the conventions and general boards of the Episcopal church. The bishop was speaking to an assemblage of women at St. James church, Madison avenue and Seventy-first street in behalf of the work of the Episcopal church. He said that he was making the point that much church literature was thrown away that the society could circulate to advantage. Kaumeyer stated that he had taken photographs of the nude in his regular art work. He testified that he found it essential to have either photographs or models and that he himself had used the pictures. He affirmed more-over that the charges were entirely petty spite and did not come from any desire to protect the morals of the community. A LITERARY COURTSHIP

An Interchange of Books Tells the Romance.

Detroit Free Press. "There is more in this literary business than it is thought possible," declared the author of "The Girl Who Came to Stay," when he was asked to give his opinion on the subject. "When a girl, owing to circumstances over which she has no control, left for the west, I decided that I would follow as soon as I could get enough to pay my fare there. 'Sometime ago I was in a bookstore and chanced to see a book entitled 'The Girl Who Came to Stay.' I bought it and sent it to her. By return mail I received from her 'The Right of Way.' Say, that made me feel good all over!"

BEARS DOWN ON McDONNELL

Toward the Close of the Afternoon Mr. Cochrane Turned His Attention to the Evidence in the Case, and, remarking that he proposed to pay his respects to P. McDonnell, he said that he had been very glad to give that gentleman a severe and caustic arraignment. He declared that Mr. McDonnell had been actuated by great unfairness in giving his evidence, to say the least; one peculiar significance noted in his testimony being the fact that he had not seen or heard one single thing which was favorable to the defense, but, on the other hand, saw and heard all that was unfavorable.

TRANSFERRED

Merger Case of Henning vs. The Northern Pacific.

The case of George H. Henning of Nebraska against the Northern Pacific railroad, one of the railroad merger cases, has been transferred from the Hennepin county district court to the United States district court by order of Judge McGoey. The transfer was made on the ground that Henning, being a resident of Nebraska, and the Northern Pacific being a Wisconsin corporation, the Hennepin county court had no jurisdiction.

FLOOR OVERLOADED

The crowd in the court house was too much for the old structure. Men and women were wedged in like herrings in a box and scores stood all day at a distance to which only an occasional word would reach. The trial was too great for the supports, and the floor sagged. Cover two inches, and the plaster in some of the lower rooms is badly cracked.
