

WE REFUND The Price of Vinol If It Does Not Give Satisfaction. Our Faith In It is Unbounded.

We know of no remedy that is more universally successful than Vinol. Vinol is not by any means a cure all. We do not wish any of our friends to believe for a moment that we claim it to be. We do wish all to know, however, that we enthusiastically endorse Vinol, because we all have investigated and know everything that it contains, and we know that the elements contained in Vinol have the power to do what we claim.

Annual Address by Patten.

The annual convention address was given by Dean W. S. Patten of the university law school. This was one of the finest ever listened to by a Northfield audience. The central idea was "an age of critical thought." There never was a time, said the speaker, when the fundamental factors of human life were subjected to such cutting and keen criticism as at the present time. We are living in an age when nothing is taken for granted, when all investigation is scientific and thorough. Men of science are seeking the beginnings and causes of all energy and power; men of history and politics are searching for the facts of man's past and his relations to things and people about them; men of philosophy are searching more earnestly for the truth of thought and its ultimate source; and men of theology are searching to know more and more of the source of Christian thought and action. In this age the origin of Christ and Christianity is subjected to history and criticism. To-day everything is under the microscope of the historian and the scientist. In some cases these researchers awaken doubt and fear, but they awaken in all thinking people a keener and growing interest. The questions of the age are natural and all are confronted by the solutions to them. The speaker then spoke of the immense growth of Y. M. C. A. work and of its great importance. The great incentive to the speaker was the spirit of devotion which is unchanging. It was the same spirit of devotion at Bunker Hill, at Gettysburg, and at Santiago. The same is true in all Christian work. To-day we must meet young men with the reasons for faith and love. The young men were told that science is always a help to religion; that Christianity is a life and not a theory. The law of reception is that use brings more. Power is gained by getting into a condition to appropriate power. Continually choose God as the all helpful and you gain spiritual power. Practice is the law of growth.
