

"His head will never fill his father's bonnet."—Scottish Proverb.

Speaking literally we should hope not for his father's hat is a back number now. The newest tendency is towards the broader "Panama Brims," some more, some less.

The "high-flyers at fashion" may continue paying from $1.50 to $3.00 extra for a swagger name in a hat; but large and increasing numbers of both sensible and fashionable people prefer our fine fur felts $2, $2.50, $3 in derbies and soft hats at...

They're a hat ahead thereby—and what's the matter with our name in a hat? Qualities all there, style is there, wearability is there—and thousands of good heads, are there too, to attest the wisdom of these facts.

For perfection in Spring Overcoats and Suits we refer you to our new assortments just received.

A SCOUT FOR CUSTER

Fate of "Lonesome Charley" Reynolds Still in Controversy.

DENVER POST SAYS HE IS LIVING

Dr. Porter of Bismarck, Who Was With Reno, Maintains the Scout Died With "Longhair."

Special to The Journal. Bismarck, N. D., April 11.—What was the fate of the famous "Lonesome Charley" Reynolds, the scout who was killed in the battle of the Little Big Horn, in 1876, when General Custer and his command were slain? Did he die with Custer or with Reno, or did he die at all? These are the questions that are brought to the attention of those interested in that battle by the recent publication of an article in the Denver Post, stating that Reynolds was about to write a book, giving the inside history of the Custer campaign.

The Post published an interview with Reynolds, regarding the battle, in which he outlined his view of the matter and declared his intention of writing a book to clear away the misapprehensions and confusions that had arisen with regard to the Custer campaign.

Dr. Porter is one of the best posted men regarding the Custer campaign in the west, and shortly after the publication of the Post article an interview with him was published in which it was stated that Reynolds had been with Reno's forces, and that Dr. Porter had been with him a short time before he was killed. This dismissed the matter of "Lonesome Charley" for a time, but now comes a letter from Captain Fred D. Garretty, chief of the Seventh Infantry, who says that Reynolds was killed with Custer, in that memorable battle. Captain Garretty says: "I left Fort Lincoln with my command on May 17, 1876, and rode many a day on the march with Charley Reynolds. In the evening in my tent he made up to show me some sketches he had made on the march and which he intended to send to Harper's Weekly. When Custer divided his forces on the 25th of June, he took Charley Reynolds with him and poor Charley's body was found with the rest of the slain on the Custer battle ground."

Reynolds was a scout well known in the west prior to the Custer massacre. He was a quiet, unassuming man, and was the subject of a story in Harper's Weekly, and the sobriquet of "Lonesome Charley" was bestowed upon him because of his retiring nature.

MOY HEE, MASON OF HIGH DEGREE

Consular Agent of the Chinese Government in Minneapolis.

If Moy Hee had been decorated with the badge of the Legion of Honor he could not possibly be prouder of it than of the plain button he wears conspicuously upon the lapel of his coat. Moy Hee, subject of the accompanying photograph, is proprietor of the Shang Hai Lo Chop Sui restaurant, on First avenue S., and is the only member of his race in Minneapolis who belongs to the Masonic order.

Aside from being identified with an association of men who are continually stretching "hands across the sea" to brothers who "speak in different tongues, and have in common each of the other's language," Moy Hee enjoys the unique distinction of being a thirty-second degree Mason, capable of handling any white man who enters his place high signs which mean much to some and are absolutely as unintelligible as "Chinese" to others.

Moy Hee is now the consular agent of the Chinese government in Minneapolis, having recently received his commission from a Chinaman high in Chinese diplomatic circles, who came into Minneapolis quite unobserved and left a few days ago after having arranged to have his government properly represented in this city.

Moy Hee is a very bright and intelligent representative of his race. He speaks English fluently and is well posted on all the important questions of the day. He received a liberal education before coming to this country, and has since neglected no opportunity to improve his mind. He was born in Canton, in 42 years old and came to this country fourteen years ago.

Heider plans for a new opera-house, was held yesterday afternoon. It was decided to put up a building costing not less than $30,000. A stock company will be organized immediately with a capital of $25,000 and 1,000 tickets will be sold at $10 each for the opening performance. It is expected that all the stock will be subscribed for by Saturday, as a large amount of it has already been taken.

Two men arrived at Marinette on the train from Oconto this morning who had stolen a valise from the station in that town. The officers were waiting for them at Marinette. One was captured, but the other escaped and ran across the bridge to the Michigan side. He was chased and several shots were fired at him, but without effect.

departed to-day for his home in Carrollton, Ill. The serious illness of his father required Mr. Stone's presence at the old home. Rev. George H. Starring has resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church at Worthing, and returned to his home in this city. His health is not good and he will give attention to gardening during the summer. James river at this point has been rising rapidly the past few days, and is higher now than on the same date since the big freshet in the spring of 1897. The water is about even with the dam, and at Ward's crossing it is up to the bridge planks.

ROAD TO BE TORN UP. Special to The Journal. Mora, Minn., April 11.—O'Neal Brothers' logging road, north of this place, is to be torn up, hauled out and shipped during the coming summer. A dozen or fifteen teams will be employed for several months in doing this work, and these rigs are now being provided. The O'Neals built this road about seven years ago, and have yearly put on the market millions of feet of pine.

ELECTED TO TWO OFFICES. Douthit Was So Popular He Might Have Had More. Special to The Journal. Fankton, S. D., April 11.—A peculiar condition has been brought about in the town of Volin, this county, by the recent town election. Two tickets were in the field, and the name of T. J. Douthit appeared on both, but not, however, for the same office. Douthit was not only popular enough to be nominated on both tickets, but he was elected as well, and is now a legally chosen member of the town council, and is also the justice of the peace. He and his friends are not anxious as to how they are going to get the judge unraveled and just which office they can keep for him, if any.

CAVALRY RECRUITS

More Men Needed for the Thirteenth—Brevels for Hawkins. Special to The Journal. Fort Meade, S. D., April 11.—Sergeant Edward Strang of the Thirteenth Cavalry has been sent out on recruiting duty, with orders to visit the various Black Hills towns. He is posting bills and notices, and officers will follow him shortly to enlist men who can be for the territory.

Captain H. S. Hawkins, junior captain of the Thirteenth Cavalry, has received two brevets for gallantry in action, one being a brevet for captain for the part he took in the battle of Porca, P. I., Nov. 2, 1899, and another for major, for his action at Bamban, P. I., Nov. 9, 1899. He is a son of General Hawkins, who was killed at San Juan hill.

DESERTED THE ARMY

Officers at Menominee Are Looking for Three Recruits. Special to The Journal. Menominee, Mich., April 11.—Henry Burns, Charles L. Collins and J. White deserted the United States army here this morning. They had been enlisted and sworn in yesterday morning, but during the night changed their minds, and this morning when it came time for them to accompany Captain Woodward to Milwaukee they were not to be found. Telegraphic descriptions were sent out to all the surrounding country and every effort is being made to secure them. It is thought they will enter the city before Mr. Grabhorn—He doesn't say he's found before I get well I won't pay him a cent.

HARD ON THE DOCTOR.

Mrs. Grabhorn—Der doctor says he don't know his der meter no good before I get well I won't pay him a cent.
