UNIVERSITY GIRLS' MAY PARTY

GYMNASIUM CLASSES ENTERTAINED THEIR FRIENDS WITH PICTURE-SQUE DANCES AND DRILLS IN THE ARMOY.

The coming of May was delightfully celebrated last evening in the university gymnasium, and the May party proved even more charming than had been anticipated. It was the first time that the women of the University classes have given and the guests came as much to see the dances and marches as to take part in the dancing, which was a feature of the latter part of the evening. The young people entered into the affair with the joy and spirit of spring and the floor presented an ever-changing series of pretty pictures, as the girls, in their attractive costumes, marched and counter-marched, or mingled with groups in the more conventional evening clothes.

The gymnasium presented an effective background and the decorations were something out of the ordinary. The stage was hung with red and yellow bunting, with fans for decoration, Japanese lanterns and umbrellas were pretty accessories and the air was heavy with incense. The girls were in Japanese costumes.

Rich tapestries and rugs covered the Alpha Phi room and the girls were in Japanese costumes. The university band furnished the music and interspersed the dances with spirited numbers. The program opened with a May-pole dance. The ribbons were wound and unwound by Misses Corinne McMillan, Bertha Kinard, Helen Patterson, Kathleen Guntard, Reta Kendall, Bernice Works, Lucy Perry, Etta McCabe, Evelyn Perkins, Clarissa Miller, Isabelle Brown and Maybelle Rodbum in white gowns garlanded with flowers and large picture hats trimmed with roses.

A group of girls, Misses Gertrude Colby, Ruby Brooks, Emma Galloway, Emma Jappene, Clara Wheeler, Grace Sprout, Sadie Merrill, Bessie Scribner, Jeannette Bader, Bessie Harden, Florence Moore, Katherine Stough, Ethel Wells, Helen Ozier and Ruth Knatvold, in Dutch peasant costumes, short skirts, white blouses, black velvet bodices and white caps and aprons, danced the gavotte.

The minuet, with its dignified steps and stately grace, was danced by Misses Helen Kennedy, Irene Radcliffe, Bessie Healy, Kate Buchanan, Florence Bluff, Eleanor von Bodenstedt, Marguerite Barbour and Laura Robb; Misses Edna Howard Purdy, Robert Putnam, Ernest Woodward, George Gillette, Harry Aldrich, LeRoy Arnold and Harry French, in colonial costumes and with powdered wigs.

The military drill was the feature of the evening and Miss Butler led the marching. The girls were charming in their uniforms, their short strapped tunics, white stock skirts, red-cocked hats with white plumes, white gloves and patent leather boots and leggings.

Many encores were called for and the calculation added to the pretty effect as the dances and marches were repeated. The program closed with a grand march led by Miss Butler and Professor Jones, which changed to a two-step. A program of twelve numbers was danced and the cards were in numerous sizes and gold ribbons.

Ping-pong tables were arranged in the girls' room for those who did not care for dancing, and the singing of the little blues was heard above the sound of the band. Frappe was served in flower-decked nooks.

Another book hung with draperies and furnished with cushions, was interspersed among the dances. The girls were seated on the seashore and ballroom which were displayed.

The fraternities decorated other corners and card covers last evening at the Minneapolis Club. Mrs. Craven of New Jersey was the guest of honor. The table was decorated with flowers in pretty baskets. Mrs. Craven's table was the most attractive.

The marriage of Mrs. Marie Dewey Gramme of Fargo, N. D., and Peter B. Smith will take place this month in Fargo. To-morrow afternoon Mrs. Donald McLean, Mr. Smith's mother, will give a luncheon for Mrs. Gramme.

Mrs. George W. Porter gave a dinner of fifteen covers last evening at the Minneapolis Club. Mrs. Craven of New Jersey was the guest of honor. The table was decorated with flowers in pretty baskets. Mrs. Craven's table was the most attractive.

The annual party of Omega Psi was held Wednesday evening in Mrs. Noble's hall. The members of the sophomore class who have just been elected to this junior society are Margaret Van Bergen, Mary Korton, Lolla Tennant, Mabel Stevenson and Polly Lullard.

A recital was given last evening in the conservatory hall by the members of the Conservatory. The Misses Ulland, Porter and Tondro, pupils of Miss Morehouse, of the department of public school music, contributed vocal numbers. The pianists were the Misses Skoog, Conklin and Kilbourne, pupils of Mr. Ober-Hoffer and Miss Chesney.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE

The Roland lodge and E. M. Maennerchor will give "Lumpac, Vagabundus," in St. Anthony Turner hall, Sixth avenue and Marshall street NE, Sunday evening. The costumes have been imported and the play has been cast with care. Among the special features will be the magic lights and the fairies. The entertainment will be followed by dancing.

Miss Adele McClaran appeared last evening at the Johnson school in the series of graduating recitals being given by the pupils of Clayton D. Gilbert of the oratory and dramatic department. She had chosen for her evening's work the revolutionary drama, "Nathan Hale." It was a venture in a new field, as hitherto Miss McClaran's work has been wholly in comedy, and her handling of the strong scenes was altogether creditable. She sustained the interest well and her recital for comedy brightened the rendition agreeably. She differentiated the numerous characters very well and her reading showed intelligent and careful work.

The appreciation was well received by a large audience. Miss McClaran is very young, a little more than a child, and her appearance in a girlish short frock was very appropriate. She was assisted by two other young girls, Miss Anneliese Kemper and Irene Brown, who gave musical numbers.

A recital was given last evening in the conservatory hall by the members of the Conservatory. The Misses Ulland, Porter and Tondro, pupils of Miss Morehouse, of the department of public school music, contributed vocal numbers. The pianists were the Misses Skoog, Conklin and Kilbourne, pupils of Mr. Ober-Hoffer and Miss Chesney.

Rev. James S. Montgomery, D. D., will lecture in Forest Heights church Tuesday evening on "Home." Tickets will be on sale at the church, 3020 James avenue N.
